World Peace Or War Issue Says Kennedy

Demo Candidate Slashes At Nixon In Chicago Rally

CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy said Friday night that the real issue in next Tuesday's election is "world peace or world war" and it cannot be met by goodwill tours or kitchen debates.

The Democratic presidential nominee, after slashing away all day at Vice President Richard M. Nixon, his rival for the White House, spoke at a giant rally in Chicago Stadium:

"The real issue is world freedom or world slavery, world peace or world war, stopping the Communist advance which in eight years has penetrated deep into Asia, Africa, the Middle East and Latin America — taking over Cuba itself — without firing a single shot or losing a single soldier," his text said.

In the campaign now drawing to a close, Kennedy said, his greatest objective is peace "because I know something of war."

"And that issue will not be met by more words, more committees, more goodwill tours, or more debates with Khrushchev or any other Soviet leader in a Moscow kitchen."

Climaxes Fight

The Chicago rally, climaxing his fight for the big and important 27 Illinois electoral votes, followed earlier Kennedy appearances before big and enthusiastic Virginia crowds at Norfolk and Roanoke and another Friday afternoon at Toledo, Ohio.

Kennedy gave every evidence of outward confidence in the voting next Tuesday, asserting the "Democratic tide is rising across the country."

At his Virginia stops, Kennedy said Nixon had no right to claim Democratic votes of Thomas Jefferson in the South. He said Nixon fitted in with Dewey, Landon and Harding.

And he repeated at Toledo what he had said at Roanoke, that Nixon is like an elephant, "who has had to be led around by an escort," a reference to Nixon's campaigning with President Eisenhower and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in New York.

In an address for Friday night, Kennedy declared: "I like to campaign, and I think all Democrats like to campaign because we like hard work and we like people."

Kennedy said he has told the "truth" during the campaign by refusing to say "we were sure to remain first in the world militarily.

Age Of Missile

"We are now entering the age of the missile gap when Russian striking power, backing up a larger, more modern and more mobile conventional force, may no longer be convinced of our capacity to survive a surprise attack and still destroy their willingness to fight."

He said he is trying to get the American people "to face up" to its military and economic needs.

"Whoever carries Ohio will carry the United States," Kennedy told a Toledo crowd in explana-

Ike Criticizes Kennedy Gospel As Inflationary

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — President Eisenhower criticized Sen. John F. Kennedy Friday for preaching "the gospel of big government" — a course, he said, which "leads to deficit spending and runaway inflation."

Eisenhower carried his personal campaign for the election of Vice President Richard M. Nixon into two mighty industrial centers — Cleveland and Pittsburgh—where Kennedy is believed to have made important gains.

Speaking solemnly to an enthusiastic but hardly uproarious crowd in Cleveland's Public Square, Eisenhower braved a chill wind without hat or overcoat.

"In no more sure way can the economic strength of the Republic be destroyed than by inflation," he said.

"There is no profit whatsoever in a pay increase of $5 a week when living costs go up $6 a week.

"That was happening to us when you stopped it by electing the present administration in 1952.

"It will stay stopped if you vote for Dick Nixon and Cabot Lodge on Tuesday. They will sustain fiscal sanity in the operation of the federal government."

The mention of Nixon gave Eisenhower the biggest of numerous bursts of applause, but there were matching cheers—and laughter—when the 70-year-old President spoke derisively of the Democrat-

Arthur Godfrey To Have Shoulder Cyst Removed

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur Godfrey will undergo minor surgery here next week for removal of a cyst from his right side near the shoulder.

There is no implication of any relationship with the lobectomy Godfrey underwent nearly 2 years ago, the Columbia Broadcasting System said.

Part of Godfrey's left lung was removed in a cancer operation in April 1959.

Godfrey will remain at the hospital a few days but will not miss any of his regularly scheduled CBS radio and television programs, CBS said.

Associates said removal of the cyst, described as a fatty tumor, was entirely optional on Godfrey's part—that the operation had not been ordered by doctors.

U.S. Supports Belgium's Role

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Friday supported Belgium's recent role in the Congo and suggested a fresh start with a new premier taking over in the tottering African nation.

The State Department implied that Joseph Ileo, president of the Congolese Senate, should be the man to work with the United Nations in leading the troubled young republic out of the chaos which threatens to destroy it.

The State Department's affirmation of belief in "the good faith of Belgium and its desire to be of assistance in the Congo" came as a rebuke to Rajeshwar Dayal of India who has been acting in the Congo as special representative of U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

Hammarskjold released a report Thursday in which Dayal accused the Belgians of promoting chaos instead of trying to end the feuding and bloodshed which are threatening the national life of the former Belgian colony. Dayal's report also severely criticized Col. Joseph Mobutu, army strongman, charging him with hamstringing U.N. efforts to preserve peace.

The State Department rejected various parts of the U.N. report which were critical of Belgian motives. It did not, however, defend Mobutu, who has been running the Leopoldville government since left-inclined Premier Patrice Lumumba was forced out in a struggle with President Joseph Kasavubu.

Unruly Crowd Jeers, Jostles Sen. Johnson

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — An unruly crowd of Republican supporters chanting "We want Nixon" screamed at and jostled Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson and his wife Friday as he sought to reach a campaign rally.

Two women carrying Kennedy-Johnson placards were struck on the nose as the demonstrators sought to grab their signs. Their injuries were not serious.

Mrs. Johnson was tense and unsmiling as they made their way slowly through the pushing and shoving crowd that filled the lobby of the Baker Hotel in the heart of the downtown business district and the lobby of the Adolphus Hotel where Johnson spoke.

Johnson beamed smiles right and left and ignored the cries hurled at him. He showed impatience only when he neared the ballroom where the luncheon rally was held.

The Democratic vice-presidential candidate later told the rally, "I hope none of our people will return in kind any time."

He said at one point, "I told the police to stand aside. Because if the time ever came when I couldn't walk through the corridors of hotels in Dallas, I wanted to know it."

Again Johnson said of the Republican crowd, "I thank God I live in a country where people are free to do that if their conscience dictates it."

Once he tried to speak to the crowd in the street, and a man yelled "Louder and funnier, Lyndon." Another shouted, "He never said anything in his life."

At another point the Democratic vice-presidential candidate stopped a policeman trying to clear a path and said: "I am Sen. Johnson. I don't want to go through here like this was another Cuba or Berlin. If I can't come to Dallas as an individual—"

The rest of his comment was lost in the sudden shift of the crowd.

Johnson was campaigning in the second largest city of his home state. It went Republican in the 1952 and 1956 presidential elections and has the only Republican from Texas in Congress, Rep. Bruce Alger.

Rep. Alger, arriving holding a large homemade sign with a picture of Johnson carrying a carpetbag and the words, "He sold out to the Yankees." He urged the women to give Johnson a real welcome.

Johnson's speech to the 2,000 at the luncheon largely stressed issues he had discussed before.

Gov. Davis Moves To Take Over Louisiana Schools

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Gov. Jimmie H. Davis moved Friday to have the legislature take over New Orleans schools and give himself new power to close all state schools in case of violence.

The administration dropped 29 proposals into the legislature's lap as a special 12-day session opened. Scores of women from two dozen organizations demonstrated in the Capitol asking lawmakers to keep the schools open.

Davis called the session although under a federal injunction to keep hands off New Orleans schools. He failed earlier in an attempt to seize the schools.

Federal Judge J. Skelly Wright has ordered desegregation of New Orleans schools at the first-grade level Nov. 14, and the local school board plans to put five Negro children into two previously all-white schools on that date.

The school seizure move, coupled with a legislative interposition plan, apparently means Davis may be risking going to jail.

The administration and segregation leaders kept secret their exact proposals during weeks of preparation, apparently to guard against any countermove by Negroes seeking integration or by the federal courts.

Rep. John Garrett, chairman of the joint legislative committee on segregation, said a proposal for a state militia was withdrawn for further study.

Garrett and other legislative leaders called the move against the federal government interposition, or placing the sovereignty of the state between the people and the federal government.

Rep. Risley Triche, a Davis floor leader, said one bill would make it "a crime for anybody in Louisiana to try to enforce the Supreme Court integration decision." He said he believed interposition would work and keep the schools open and segregated, a pledge of Davis.

Ballot Mistake 'One Of Those Things'

"Just one of those crazy things," said Republican Marvin, who is in charge of supervising the printing of ballots.

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Istanbul University's senate Friday re-elected Siddik Sami Onar its president. Fikret Narter was re-elected rector of the University technical faculty. Both resigned last week in protest against dismissal of 147 university professors by Turkey's ruling National Unity Committee. Onar and Narter said they would resume their posts.

Nixon Says Demo Issues 'Cruel Hoax'

Kennedy Economy Will Destroy U.S. System's Stability

EN ROUTE WITH NIXON (AP) —Vice President Richard M. Nixon Friday accused Sen. John F. Kennedy of making economic promises which Nixon said "represent the cruelest hoax any politician has ever tried to foist on the American people."

Stepping up his attack on his Democratic rival, the Republican vice president said in a statement at Spokane, Wash.: "What would his programs do to America? They would destroy the stability of our economic system."

He said Kennedy's economic policies are not "a giveaway program" but a "take-away-from-the-poor program."

Kennedy promises, Nixon said, that "your wages will be higher and that prices you pay for food, rent and clothing will not be."

Add To Budget

The vice president said the Kennedy economic proposals would add $15 billion a year to the federal budget and that:

1. Take-home pay would be cut —"by more taxes, by inflation — or both."

2. Prices for food and clothing would go up.

3. Americans would have to pay more taxes, "especially the middle and lower-income families."

Nixon flew to Spokane after earlier appearances Friday at Fort Worth, Tex., and Casper, Wyo. At the Wyoming city he was greeted by a storm that dropped seven inches of snow and forced the pilot of his plane to circle for nearly 30 minutes awaiting assurance from the control tower there was enough visibility for a safe landing.

He told a Casper audience that overflowed the 1,780-seat high school auditorium Kennedy's farm program would "mean police-state-type controls" and require 50,000 additional federal inspectors to enforce them.

Nixon, contending his rival keeps shifting position on issues, said: "If he hasn't made up his mind at this point, he won't as president."

Making a similar charge at Fort Worth that Kennedy changes positions, Nixon declared: "We can't have a jumping jack as president of the United States of America."

Switches Position

He said Kennedy often makes a statement on an issue, then "switches his position as soon as he reads the polls."

Speaking to a police-estimated crowd of 10,000 in Fort Worth's Burnett Park, Nixon drew thunderous cheers with each barb he flung at Kennedy.

He listed a series of issues on which, he claimed, Kennedy has changed his position during the campaign: Quemoy and Matsu, Cuba and the U2 plane incident.

Nixon, grinning broadly, noted that Kennedy and his running mate, Sen. Lyndon B Johnson of Texas, also had been campaigning in the Lone Star state.

"You know they got here too little and too late. And, boy, are they frantic!" Nixon said.

Crowd Warms Up

As the singing, shouting crowd warmed up, Nixon said he saw a newspaper advertisement saying "All these Democrats are for Kennedy and Johnson — and they're even voting dead people. They used to do that, but they're

Police Seize Armed Man

CHICAGO (UPI) — A man identified by police as "a Cuban" was seized by police Friday night as he neared the rear of Sen. John F. Kennedy's automobile, carrying a loaded pistol in his pocket.

Policeman Vince Moretti saw the man walking toward the rear of the car in which Kennedy was riding, just as it came to a halt in front of gate 2 of the Chicago Stadium.

Moretti said he saw a bulge which he thought looked like a gun.

He threw the man to the pavement and another patrolman helped him subdue the suspect.

No shot was fired.

Taken immediately to a telephone company trailer for questioning, the man said he was Jaime Cruz Alejaudro. He gave a Chicago address and said he was a Cuban.

Officers said the pistol was a 25-caliber automatic.

Anti-Khrush Coup Is Denied

Vienna Stirred By Rumors Red Premier Ousted

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Vienna was stirred for hours Friday by a newspaper's banner headlined story and related rumors that a coup had unhorsed Soviet Premier Khrushchev. The Russians finally denied it all as nonsense.

"Utter nonsense," said the Soviet Embassy in Vienna.

"Stupid nonsense," said the Soviet Embassy in Bonn.

"Complete nonsense," said the New York office of the Soviet news agency Tass.

That summarized their reaction to talk rounded up by the independent newspaper Abend-Presse under the banner: "Struggle for power in Moscow. Khrushchev ousted, Malenkov successor."

Informed Sources

Its story, attributed to "usually well-informed international circles," was that former Premier Georgi M. Malenkov had taken over the government in a coup engineered by the antiparty group. Red China was described as having a hand in the upheaval.

The antiparty group is a handful of old Communists, including Malenkov, purged by Khrushchev from high government and party posts three years ago.

The Moscow Bureau of the Associated Press reported the Soviet capital gave every appearance of normality as its people prepared, in festive mood, for celebration Monday of the 43rd anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

As expected, Khrushchev's portrait led all the others except Lenin's in the array of pictures hoisted on shiny new red banners throughout the city. Tass said the premier Thursday night attended the showing of a film on his official visit to Austria last summer.

Fast With Rumor

The rumors of a Soviet government upset had sped through Austrian government offices even before the Abend-Presse, Vienna's only evening newspaper, came out.

The newspaper said a Moscow news blackout had prevented confirmation of its report. Actually, the AP had no trouble in reaching its Moscow Bureau by telephone. Both Tass and Radio Moscow kept in full operation.

Cardinals Deny Rivalry Exists

BROCKTON, Mass (AP) — Two Roman Catholic Cardinals, leaders of the church hierarchy in New York and Boston, strongly protested Friday published reports that rivalry over the presidential election exists between Catholic leadership in the two cities.

Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York and Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston jointly denied "any such rivalry on any level."

The church's chancery office in New York said their statement referred chiefly to a column by John Crosby in Friday's Herald Tribune, and also to a story by Wayne Phillips in Wednesday's New York Times, both speaking of rivalry between the two archdioceses.

Crosby wrote that Cardinal Spellman is for vice president Richard M. Nixon, the Republican presidential candidate, while Cardinal Cushing is for Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic candidate. The Times story quoted a Catholic source as saying there was a coolness toward Kennedy among Catholics in New York, not found elsewhere.

Kennedy is a Catholic, Nixon a Quaker.

FINCH JUDGE—Judge Leroy Lawson yesterday startled the courtroom in the Finch murder trial in Los Angeles by telling the jury that he thinks the evidence shows "a willful and deliberate taking of a human life." Finch Judge Tells Jury He Believes Cody

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The judge in the second Finch murder trial called in the jury Friday and told it that he considers the testimony of a prosecution witness more believable than the stories of the defendants.

Superior Court Judge LeRoy Dawson told the 11 women and one man, who have deliberated more than 60 hours without reaching a verdict: "I believe the story of John Patrick Cody as to his reason for being hired by the defendants was more believable than the testimony of either defendant."

Cody, a Minneapolis hoodlum, was a key state witness at the 17-week trial of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his mistress, Carole Tregoff. They are charged with the 1959 slaying of his socialite wife. They claim it was accidental.

Cody, who admitted on the witness stand that he had lied for pay, testified that the defendants hired him to kill Mrs. Finch. But he said he did not. The prosecution claims that when he failed, the defendants did it themselves.

Upon hearing the judge's statement, Grant Cooper, attorney for Dr. Finch, jumped to his feet and began to object. The jurist, obviously angered, stormed at Cooper and refused to let him protest.

The judge said he was holding Cooper in contempt of court.

The judge said he was making the statement to the jurors because he had sent a bailiff up at 10:30 a.m. Friday to see if they had reached a verdict. The jury has been out 16 days, a local record for a criminal case.

The jury in the first trial was unable to agree. It deliberated eight days before being dis-

Protest Hits Interference In Affairs

Kasavubu also accused Ghana and Guinea of trying to stir up anarchy in the young African republic by supporting Lumumba.

The charges were contained in hitherto secret communications from Kasavubu addressed to Ambassador Frederick H. Boland of Ireland, president of the U.N. General Assembly.

They were published here a day after Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold issued a Congo report assailing the army regime of Col. Joseph Mobutu and charging Belgian nationals with trying to influence that regime against the United Nations.

U.S. Takes Issue

The United States took issue Friday with the report, based mainly on the findings of Hammarskjold's special representative in the Congo, Indian Ambassador Rajeshwar Dayal.

The State Department said the United States has "every confidence in the good faith of Belgium and its desire to be of assistance in the Congo."

The communications from Kasavubu were released in advance of a General Assembly session on the Congo set for Monday, at which eight Asian-African nations will push for a resolution to win an assembly seat for representatives of Lumumba.

The charges by Kasavubu and the Hammarskjold report were sure to add more heat to the debate. India, Ghana and Guinea are among the nations sponsoring the resolution seeking representation for the Lumumba delegation.

Kasavubu informed Boland in a cable dated Oct. 14 that Lumumba holds only the rank of a deputy in Parliament, "and it would be contrary to all principle for the General Assembly to allow agents of a mere deputy to take a seat on behalf of the Republic of the Congo."

He said that he wanted to protest "vigorously against the obstinate attitude of Ghana and Guinea in bringing anarchy to the Congo through Lumumba.

Accessories To Murder

"They are accessories to murders and massacres of civil population in the Congo, followed by epidemics which are decimating it."

He said the resolution to admit the Lumumba delegation only proved the desire of the sponsors to see "the sufferings, tortures and murders of our people continue."

Boland assured Kasavubu that his views would be brought to the attention of the assembly when the resolution comes up.

The communications released by Boland contained also a long cable from Kasavubu dated Oct. 13 upholding the legal action of the army in intervening and appointing the present Congo governing council made up of young university technicians.

Whirlwind Global Mail Delivery Is Forecast

By JOHN BARBOUR

NEW YORK (AP)—An important letter is dropped into a San Francisco mailbox. In minutes it is being opened by a businessman in Bonn, Germany.

That, kind of whirlwind global delivery of mail was forecast Friday by International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., as a coming step in its experimental speed mail developed for the U.S. Post Office Department.

It's possible by combining the speed mail system, and currently available space satellite systems, spokesmen said.

It would work like this:

A San Francisco businessman, facing a last-minute deadline, has to get a detailed letter with diagrams and figures to Bonn, Germany, in a hurry. He inscribes the data on a speed mail form and drops it into an electronic mailbox.

Then he deposits coins for postage, and dials the number for Bonn, Germany, on an ordinary telephone dial. The machine unseals the letter and scans it, converting its image to electric signals which are flashed to a transmitting station.

Automatically the station telecasts the signals to one of a series of communications satellites in space—like the experimental Courier satellite now circling the earth.

Tape recorders in the satellite take in the message and rebroadcast the signal to a ground station at Bonn. There the signals—much like television signals—are converted into the image again, producing a duplicate of the letter. The machine seals it and it is delivered, unseen by human eyes, minutes after it was posted half way around the world.

ITT officials demonstrated a domestic version of the speed mail system Nov. 1 at Washington—a system using coaxial cables and microwave relays for transmission just as television networks use. Regular government mail is now sent over a speed mail system between Washington, Chicago and Battle Creek, Mich.

Stepping up his attack on his Democratic rival, the Republican vice president said in a statement at Spokane, Wash.: "What would his programs do to America? They would destroy the stability of our economic system."

He said Kennedy's economic policies are not "a giveaway program" but a "take-away-from-the-poor program."

Kennedy promises, Nixon said, that "your wages will be higher and that prices you pay for food, rent and clothing will not be."

Add To Budget

The vice president said the Kennedy economic proposals would add $15 billion a year to the federal budget and that:

1. Take-home pay would be cut —"by more taxes, by inflation — or both."

2. Prices for food and clothing would go up.

3. Americans would have to pay more taxes, "especially the middle and lower-income families."

Nixon flew to Spokane after earlier appearances Friday at Fort Worth, Tex., and Casper, Wyo. At the Wyoming city he was greeted by a storm that dropped seven inches of snow and forced the pilot of his plane to circle for nearly 30 minutes awaiting assurance from the control tower there was enough visibility for a safe landing.

He told a Casper audience that overflowed the 1,780-seat high school auditorium Kennedy's farm program would "mean police-state-type controls" and require 50,000 additional federal inspectors to enforce them.

Nixon, contending his rival keeps shifting position on issues, said: "If he hasn't made up his mind at this point, he won't as president."

Making a similar charge at Fort Worth that Kennedy changes positions, Nixon declared: "We can't have a jumping jack as president of the United States of America."

Switches Position

He said Kennedy often makes a statement on an issue, then "switches his position as soon as he reads the polls."

Speaking to a police-estimated crowd of 10,000 in Fort Worth's Burnett Park, Nixon drew thunderous cheers with each barb he flung at Kennedy.

He listed a series of issues on which, he claimed, Kennedy has changed his position during the campaign: Quemoy and Matsu, Cuba and the U2 plane incident.

Nixon, grinning broadly, noted that Kennedy and his running mate, Sen. Lyndon B Johnson of Texas, also had been campaigning in the Lone Star state.

"You know they got here too little and too late. And, boy, are they frantic!" Nixon said.

Crowd Warms Up

As the singing, shouting crowd warmed up, Nixon said he saw a newspaper advertisement saying "All these Democrats are for Kennedy and Johnson — and they're even voting dead people. They used to do that, but they're

Police Seize Armed Man

CHICAGO (UPI) — A man identified by police as "a Cuban" was seized by police Friday night as he neared the rear of Sen. John F. Kennedy's automobile, carrying a loaded pistol in his pocket.

Policeman Vince Moretti saw the man walking toward the rear of the car in which Kennedy was riding, just as it came to a halt in front of gate 2 of the Chicago Stadium.

Moretti said he saw a bulge which he thought looked like a gun.

He threw the man to the pavement and another patrolman helped him subdue the suspect.

No shot was fired.

Taken immediately to a telephone company trailer for questioning, the man said he was Jaime Cruz Alejaudro. He gave a Chicago address and said he was a Cuban.

Officers said the pistol was a 25-caliber automatic.

Vienna Stirred By Rumors Red Premier Ousted

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Vienna was stirred for hours Friday by a newspaper's banner headlined story and related rumors that a coup had unhorsed Soviet Premier Khrushchev. The Russians finally denied it all as nonsense.

"Utter nonsense," said the Soviet Embassy in Vienna.

"Stupid nonsense," said the Soviet Embassy in Bonn.

"Complete nonsense," said the New York office of the Soviet news agency Tass.

That summarized their reaction to talk rounded up by the independent newspaper Abend-Presse under the banner: "Struggle for power in Moscow. Khrushchev ousted, Malenkov successor."

Informed Sources

Its story, attributed to "usually well-informed international circles," was that former Premier Georgi M. Malenkov had taken over the government in a coup engineered by the antiparty group. Red China was described as having a hand in the upheaval.

The antiparty group is a handful of old Communists, including Malenkov, purged by Khrushchev from high government and party posts three years ago.

The Moscow Bureau of the Associated Press reported the Soviet capital gave every appearance of normality as its people prepared, in festive mood, for celebration Monday of the 43rd anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

As expected, Khrushchev's portrait led all the others except Lenin's in the array of pictures hoisted on shiny new red banners throughout the city. Tass said the premier Thursday night attended the showing of a film on his official visit to Austria last summer.

Fast With Rumor

The rumors of a Soviet government upset had sped through Austrian government offices even before the Abend-Presse, Vienna's only evening newspaper, came out.

The newspaper said a Moscow news blackout had prevented confirmation of its report. Actually, the AP had no trouble in reaching its Moscow Bureau by telephone. Both Tass and Radio Moscow kept in full operation.

Cardinals Deny Rivalry Exists

BROCKTON, Mass (AP) — Two Roman Catholic Cardinals, leaders of the church hierarchy in New York and Boston, strongly protested Friday published reports that rivalry over the presidential election exists between Catholic leadership in the two cities.

Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York and Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston jointly denied "any such rivalry on any level."

The church's chancery office in New York said their statement referred chiefly to a column by John Crosby in Friday's Herald Tribune, and also to a story by Wayne Phillips in Wednesday's New York Times, both speaking of rivalry between the two archdioceses.

Crosby wrote that Cardinal Spellman is for vice president Richard M. Nixon, the Republican presidential candidate, while Cardinal Cushing is for Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic candidate. The Times story quoted a Catholic source as saying there was a coolness toward Kennedy among Catholics in New York, not found elsewhere.

Kennedy is a Catholic, Nixon a Quaker.

FINCH JUDGE—Judge Leroy Lawson yesterday startled the courtroom in the Finch murder trial in Los Angeles by telling the jury that he thinks the evidence shows "a willful and deliberate taking of a human life." The jury has been deliberating more than 60 hours in the re-trial of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff, accused of killing the doctor's wife. (AP Photofax).

Finch Judge Tells Jury He Believes Cody

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The judge in the second Finch murder trial called in the jury Friday and told it that he considers the testimony of a prosecution witness more believable than the stories of the defendants.

Superior Court Judge LeRoy Dawson told the 11 women and one man, who have deliberated more than 60 hours without reaching a verdict: "I believe the story of John Patrick Cody as to his reason for being hired by the defendants was more believable than the testimony of either defendant."

Cody, a Minneapolis hoodlum, was a key state witness at the 17-week trial of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and his mistress, Carole Tregoff. They are charged with the 1959 slaying of his socialite wife. They claim it was accidental.

Cody, who admitted on the witness stand that he had lied for pay, testified that the defendants hired him to kill Mrs. Finch. But he said he did not. The prosecution claims that when he failed, the defendants did it themselves.

Upon hearing the judge's statement, Grant Cooper, attorney for Dr. Finch, jumped to his feet and began to object. The jurist, obviously angered, stormed at Cooper and refused to let him protest.

The judge said he was holding Cooper in contempt of court.

The judge said he was making the statement to the jurors because he had sent a bailiff up at 10:30 a.m. Friday to see if they had reached a verdict. The jury has been out 16 days, a local record for a criminal case.

The jury in the first trial was unable to agree. It deliberated eight days before being dis-

Kasavubu also accused Ghana and Guinea of trying to stir up anarchy in the young African republic by supporting Lumumba.

The charges were contained in hitherto secret communications from Kasavubu addressed to Ambassador Frederick H. Boland of Ireland, president of the U.N. General Assembly.

They were published here a day after Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold issued a Congo report assailing the army regime of Col. Joseph Mobutu and charging Belgian nationals with trying to influence that regime against the United Nations.

U.S. Takes Issue

The United States took issue Friday with the report, based mainly on the findings of Hammarskjold's special representative in the Congo, Indian Ambassador Rajeshwar Dayal.

The State Department said the United States has "every confidence in the good faith of Belgium and its desire to be of assistance in the Congo."

The communications from Kasavubu were released in advance of a General Assembly session on the Congo set for Monday, at which eight Asian-African nations will push for a resolution to win an assembly seat for representatives of Lumumba.

The charges by Kasavubu and the Hammarskjold report were sure to add more heat to the debate. India, Ghana and Guinea are among the nations sponsoring the resolution seeking representation for the Lumumba delegation.

Kasavubu informed Boland in a cable dated Oct. 14 that Lumumba holds only the rank of a deputy in Parliament, "and it would be contrary to all principle for the General Assembly to allow agents of a mere deputy to take a seat on behalf of the Republic of the Congo."

He said that he wanted to protest "vigorously against the obstinate attitude of Ghana and Guinea in bringing anarchy to the Congo through Lumumba.

Accessories To Murder

"They are accessories to murders and massacres of civil population in the Congo, followed by epidemics which are decimating it."

He said the resolution to admit the Lumumba delegation only proved the desire of the sponsors to see "the sufferings, tortures and murders of our people continue."

Boland assured Kasavubu that his views would be brought to the attention of the assembly when the resolution comes up.

The communications released by Boland contained also a long cable from Kasavubu dated Oct. 13 upholding the legal action of the army in intervening and appointing the present Congo governing council made up of young university technicians.

Whirlwind Global Mail Delivery Is Forecast

By JOHN BARBOUR

NEW YORK (AP)—An important letter is dropped into a San Francisco mailbox. In minutes it is being opened by a businessman in Bonn, Germany.

That, kind of whirlwind global delivery of mail was forecast Friday by International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., as a coming step in its experimental speed mail developed for the U.S. Post Office Department.

It's possible by combining the speed mail system, and currently available space satellite systems, spokesmen said.

It would work like this:

A San Francisco businessman, facing a last-minute deadline, has to get a detailed letter with diagrams and figures to Bonn, Germany, in a hurry. He inscribes the data on a speed mail form and drops it into an electronic mailbox.

Then he deposits coins for postage, and dials the number for Bonn, Germany, on an ordinary telephone dial. The machine unseals the letter and scans it, converting its image to electric signals which are flashed to a transmitting station.

Automatically the station telecasts the signals to one of a series of communications satellites in space—like the experimental Courier satellite now circling the earth.

Tape recorders in the satellite take in the message and rebroadcast the signal to a ground station at Bonn. There the signals—much like television signals—are converted into the image again, producing a duplicate of the letter. The machine seals it and it is delivered, unseen by human eyes, minutes after it was posted half way around the world.

ITT officials demonstrated a domestic version of the speed mail system Nov. 1 at Washington—a system using coaxial cables and microwave relays for transmission just as television networks use. Regular government mail is now sent over a speed mail system between Washington, Chicago and Battle Creek, Mich.

Gov. Davis Moves To Take Over Louisiana Schools

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Gov. Jimmie H. Davis moved Friday to have the legislature take over New Orleans schools and give himself new power to close all state schools in case of violence.

The administration dropped 29 proposals into the legislature's lap as a special 12-day session opened. Scores of women from two dozen organizations demonstrated in the Capitol asking lawmakers to keep the schools open.

Davis called the session although under a federal injunction to keep hands off New Orleans schools. He failed earlier in an attempt to seize the schools.

Federal Judge J. Skelly Wright has ordered desegregation of New Orleans schools at the first-grade level Nov. 14, and the local school board plans to put five Negro children into two previously all-white schools on that date.

The school seizure move, coupled with a legislative interposition plan, apparently means Davis may be risking going to jail.

The administration and segregation leaders kept secret their exact proposals during weeks of preparation, apparently to guard against any countermove by Negroes seeking integration or by the federal courts.

Rep. John Garrett, chairman of the joint legislative committee on segregation, said a proposal for a state militia was withdrawn for further study.

Garrett and other legislative leaders called the move against the federal government interposition, or placing the sovereignty of the state between the people and the federal government.

Rep. Risley Triche, a Davis floor leader, said one bill would make it "a crime for anybody in Louisiana to try to enforce the Supreme Court integration decision." He said he believed interposition would work and keep the schools open and segregated, a pledge of Davis.

Mobutu Aides Broadcast 'Plot' To Invade Cuba

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Renewed tension spread through this capital Friday after one of Col. Joseph Mobutu's young commissioners broadcast a statement that there is a "sinister plot to invade the Congo" and place it under a U.N. trusteeship.

Pascal Kappella, commissioner for information, said in a radio speech an invasion by Ghanaian, Guinean and Moroccan troops is imminent. He called on all Congolese to "assume their responsibilities, to defend our republic to the death."

U.N. spokesman Paul Jankowski said the U.N. Command is "taking military precautions against possible disorders" resulting from Kappella's speech.

Armored cars of the newly arrived U.N. Malayan contingent paraded through the streets of the capital shortly after Kappella's broadcast.

Kappella and the commissioners apparently were angered by the report U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold submitted to the U.N. General Assembly Thursday, which referred to them as "inexperienced young students."

Kappella sarcastically referred to the report as the work of "experienced doctors of law who have no notion of what law means."

He said all Congolese who collaborate with the United Nations should be regarded as "enemies of the republic," arrested and charged with treason. With more than half the capital's working population unemployed, the threat is unlikely to cause many Congolese to resign from U.N. service.

Mobutu's army today resumed searching Congolese homes for concealed arms of supporters of deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Nixon shouted at the laughing crowd: "They can try to vote every tombstone in Texas, but we're going to lick 'em in Texas. We're glad we got a lot of Democrats here, but ours are all live Democrats. We are not trying to vote any dead ones."

Nixon apparently referred to a full page Kennedy - Johnson ad in a Dalls newspaper. Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press secretary, said the county Republican organization in Dallas found the list contained the names of "at least" two dead persons.

Inmates Favor Sen. Kennedy

FORT MADISON, Iowa (UPI)—One of the nation's most unfettered presidential polls came Friday from a group of men who can't vote.

The non-voters are inmates of the Iowa State Penitentiary and their presidential preferences were reported by "The Presidio," the prison magazine.

Sen. John F. Kennedy can take comfort in the thought that Iowa convicts prefer him by a landslide, 136-55.

But the penitentiary poll had literary as well as political significance. Unlike most polls, which deal generally with dry percentages, the prisoners explained their preferences in soaring poetry and biting prose.

Foremost among the political poets was the convict who wrote:

"Classified as non-resident
My choice is hard to make;
Voting for a president,
Is more than I can take.

"For I am not a congressman
With knowledge of world affairs
But I am a naughty American
Who sits by bars and stares.

"The object of this poem I wrote
I say with laughter and glee!
'The man who gets my vote,
Is the man who sets me free!'"

Reports Polio Cases

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Public Health Service said Friday 119 new cases of polio, 79 of them paralytic, were reported last week.

This was a decline from the total of 140 cases for the previous week and was less than half the number reported for the same week of 1959.

Americans Bent On Revenge Fly Toward Havana

MIAMI (UPI)—Two American adventurers bent on avenging the Cuban firing squad death of a buddy stole an airplane on Halloween, loaded it with homemade bombs and flew off toward Havana, the Miami News reported Friday.

Neither the stolen plane nor the two soldiers of fortune have been seen or heard from since, despite an intensive search of the southeastern United States by the U.S. border patrol.

In a copyright story, the news gave the background of preparations for the daring raid and speculated the plane may have blown up in flight or crashed into the sea. A violent rain and lightning storm hovered over southern Florida last Monday night.

Local and federal authorities reported Thursday that a four-place Beechcraft Bonanza was stolen from an open hangar at Fort Pierce Monday night and that they suspected it had been taken by persons involved in the Cuban political situation.

United Press International learned that the two men suspected of stealing the plane met at the Miami home of William Fuller over the weekend. Fuller is the father of Robert Otis (Bobby) Fuller, one of three young Americans executed by Cuban firing squads recently for landing an "invasion" force of 27 into Cuba to fight against the regime of Fidel Castro.

The principals in the alleged plot were Paul Hughes, 31, former Navy pilot of Atlanta and soldier of fortune who lost his U. S. citizenship for fighting in the Castro revolution; and Jay Hunter, 28, from somewhere in California, a former Marine Corps demolition expert and service buddy of Bobby Fuller. Hunter called the Miami office of UPI from California after Fuller's execution to obtain the Miami address of the Fuller family. Hughes, who brought the invasion boat back from the ill-fated Cuban expedition, was a frequent visitor at the Fuller home here.

"I ask you to join me in building this country of ours, in moving forward," he said.

In Toledo Kennedy addressed upwards of 20,000 persons in Courthouse Square.

In his Illinois windup Friday night, Kennedy called for new moves ahead in education, minimum wages, health and other domestic fields, saying, "It is high time we got on with the job."

He said defenses must be strengthened and the U.S. must identify itself with the struggles of others "against poverty and hunger and disease."

The Democratic presidential nominee exuded outward confidence as he carried his long, last weekend drive into Ohio and Illinois after major pitches — at Norfolk and Roanoke, Va. — aimed at wresting Virginia's 12 electoral voters from Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

"Virginia," he told an airport crowd at Roanoke, which police estimated at between 15,000 and 20,000, "cannot possibly give its votes to a man of the strip of Richard M. Nixon."

Previously, to an equally large crowd at Norfolk High school's Athletic Field, Kennedy asserted: "I can't believe Virginia is going to put its confidence in the Republican party."

There, he recalled that Nixon has contended that the Kennedy-Johnson ticket is not in the tradition of Thomas Jefferson.

What In Common

That reminded Kennedy that a contemporary once described Jefferson — at age 32 — as "a man who could plot an eclipse, survey a field, plan an edifice, break a horse, and dance a minuet."

"What has he got in common with Richard Milhous Nixon?" Kennedy asked.

Kennedy told his Norfolk audience, which nearly mobbed him in its enthusiasm, that Nixon, unlike President Eisenhower, who carried Virginia in 1952 and 1956, "is wholly identified with the Republican party and is a part of it."

In what might have been a reference to the refusal of Virginia's Democratic Sen. Harry F. Byrd to support his candidacy, Kennedy asserted: "The people of this state have a right to make their own decisions."

ic nominee as the "young genius." As usual, he did not mention Kennedy's name.

Calling anew on the Democrats to state plainly where the "additional billions" of money for their proposed federal programs would come from, the President scoffed at Democratic claims the revenue would result from a growing economy and a streamlining of the government.

"More money, they say, will be saved by military reorganization," Eisenhower said scornfully.

"Where did this young genius acquire the knowledge, experience and wisdom through which he will make such vast improvements over the work of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the dedicated civilian and service men who have given their lives to this work?"

Fire Attracts Spectators, Ties Up Traffic

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spectacular fire in an unoccupied apartment building tied up traffic on Connecticut Avenue Friday and attracted a throng of spectators.

The blaze destroyed the roof and top floor of the 4-story building, at Connecticut Avenue and Leroy Place NW, which is being renovated. The fire was believed to have been started accidentally when a workman's acetylene torch ignited wooden joists.

Automobile, streetcar and bus traffic was tied up for blocks. The flames, shooting 20 feet into the air, attracted spectators from a wide area. Three alarms were sounded.

Cooper again was cited for contempt as the jurors were leaving the room after Dawson had completed his statement.

Cooper jumped to his feet as the jurors were walking out and declared: "Your honor has invaded the province of the jury."

"I hold you in contempt again," Dawson snapped.

The judge told Cooper he had no right to interrupt him while he was speaking to the jury.

The judge said he would not sentence Cooper on the two counts of contempt until the trial is concluded.

Cooper moved for a mistrial, and Miss Tregoff's attorney, Donald Bringgold, joined him. Judge Dawson denied the motion.

The jury went back to its deliberations.

Marines Stage Mock Attack At Guantanamo

GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba (UPI)—U. S. Marines stormed this big American naval base Friday in a mock attack designed to tighten defenses should Premier Fidel Castro try to capture it with his troops and civilian militiamen.

Officially it was a defense exercise but it also was a show of strength in the face of Cuban threats against Guantanamo.

A three-minute blast of the base sirens signaled arrival of the attacking force. The entire staff of the base—3,000 men and 307 officers—raced to defense positions.

The entire exercise was confined to the 45-square-mile base which is surrounded by 23 miles of iron mesh, barbed wire and plainly marked minefields. In the first hours "enemy" patrols broke through the fence and seized sentry posts.

Defending Marines led by Col. Merritt Adelman, commander of the base's ground defense, sped to repel the attackers who came ashore from landing craft. Helicopters flew supplies to the scene.

The defenders were supported by tanks and jet warplanes and sailors who rushed into action from machineshops, galleys, dock areas, airfields and bakeries.

Because it was only a practice exercise and officially not connected with any flareup in Cuban-U. S. relations, many activities at the base were not affected. The 4,000 Cuban nationals who work on the base continued their normal duties and schools for U. S. dependents did not close.

But for everyone else it was real. The base hospital sent out aid teams and set up wards for the wounded. F8U jet fighters and A4D jet bombers roared off from the base's two airfields to provide tactical support for the defenders.

Mass. Refuses To Give Up Brinks Informer To Pa.

BOSTON (UPI) — Massachusetts authorities Friday refused to surrender Brink's informer Joseph (Specs) O'Keefe, a man marked by the underworld, to "certain death" in a Pennsylvania prison term.

Gov. Foster Furcolo announced the state's refusal to honor rendition papers issued by Pennsylvania Gov. David Lawrence for O'Keefe, the man whose testimony imprisoned eight men for life in 1956.

O'Keefe, who lives in hiding in "continued fear for his life" according to friends, faced a 3-to-12 year Pennsylvania term for the 1950 theft of five revolvers from a Kane, Pa., store.

In declining the rendition request, Gov. Furcolo said it was the opinion of Massachusetts authorities that O'Keefe faced "certain death" at the hands of a fellow inmate if he was imprisoned.

The special prosecutor from McKean County, Pa., in the burglary case said he believed Furcolo had disregarded the Constitution by refusing to send O'Keefe to Pennsylvania.

E. G. Potter said he had not seen Furcolo's opinion and had no comment other than to say the Constitution provides for such requests.

"As far as the governor's statement about 'certain death' in Pennsylvania, the same danger is present for O'Keefe in Boston," Potter said.

Gov. Furcolo said he also was considering O'Keefe's cooperation in refusing the rendition request.

"If O'Keefe was returned to jail law enforcement officers would never again get any cooperation from anyone. Who would testify for the state if the state abandoned that person after his testimony" the governor asked.

O'Keefe's testimony was key to the state's case in solving the $1,219,000 holdup of the Brink's counting house here which, at the time, was the nation's biggest single cash robbery. The convictions were obtained in 1956 and O'Keefe was imprisoned for protective custody until last June 22.

Mobutu Aides Broadcast 'Plot' To Invade Cuba

Kappella and the commissioners apparently were angered by the report U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold submitted to the U.N. General Assembly Thursday, which referred to them as "inexperienced young students."

Kappella sarcastically referred to the report as the work of "experienced doctors of law who have no notion of what law means."

He said all Congolese who collaborate with the United Nations should be regarded as "enemies of the republic," arrested and charged with treason. With more than half the capital's working population unemployed, the threat is unlikely to cause many Congolese to resign from U.N. service.

Nixon shouted at the laughing crowd: "They can try to vote every tombstone in Texas, but we're going to lick 'em in Texas. We're glad we got a lot of Democrats here, but ours are all live Democrats. We are not trying to vote any dead ones."

Nixon apparently referred to a full page Kennedy - Johnson ad in a Dalls newspaper. Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press secretary, said the county Republican organization in Dallas found the list contained the names of "at least" two dead persons.

Inmates Favor Sen. Kennedy

FORT MADISON, Iowa (UPI)—One of the nation's most unfettered presidential polls came Friday from a group of men who can't vote.

The non-voters are inmates of the Iowa State Penitentiary and their presidential preferences were reported by "The Presidio," the prison magazine.

Sen. John F. Kennedy can take comfort in the thought that Iowa convicts prefer him by a landslide, 136-55.

But the penitentiary poll had literary as well as political significance. Unlike most polls, which deal generally with dry percentages, the prisoners explained their preferences in soaring poetry and biting prose.

Foremost among the political poets was the convict who wrote:

"Classified as non-resident
My choice is hard to make;
Voting for a president,
Is more than I can take.

"For I am not a congressman
With knowledge of world affairs
But I am a naughty American
Who sits by bars and stares.

"The object of this poem I wrote
I say with laughter and glee!
The man who gets my vote,
Is the man who sets me free!"

Reports Polio Cases

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. Public Health Service said Friday 119 new cases of polio, 79 of them paralytic, were reported last week.

This was a decline from the total of 140 cases for the previous week and was less than half the number reported for the same week of 1959.

Americans Bent On Revenge Fly Toward Havana

MIAMI (UPI)—Two American adventurers bent on avenging the Cuban firing squad death of a buddy stole an airplane on Halloween, loaded it with homemade bombs and flew off toward Havana, the Miami News reported Friday.

Neither the stolen plane nor the two soldiers of fortune have been seen or heard from since, despite an intensive search of the southeastern United States by the U.S. border patrol.

In a copyright story, the news gave the background of preparations for the daring raid and speculated the plane may have blown up in flight or crashed into the sea. A violent rain and lightning storm hovered over southern Florida last Monday night.

Local and federal authorities reported Thursday that a four-place Beechcraft Bonanza was stolen from an open hangar at Fort Pierce Monday night and that they suspected it had been taken by persons involved in the Cuban political situation.

United Press International learned that the two men suspected of stealing the plane met at the Miami home of William Fuller over the weekend. Fuller is the father of Robert Otis (Bobby) Fuller, one of three young Americans executed by Cuban firing squads recently for landing an "invasion" force of 27 into Cuba to fight against the regime of Fidel Castro.

The principals in the alleged plot were Paul Hughes, 31, former Navy pilot of Atlanta and soldier of fortune who lost his U. S. citizenship for fighting in the Castro revolution; and Jay Hunter, 28, from somewhere in California, a former Marine Corps demolition expert and service buddy of Bobby Fuller. Hunter called the Miami office of UPI from California after Fuller's execution to obtain the Miami address of the Fuller family. Hughes, who brought the invasion boat back from the ill-fated Cuban expedition, was a frequent visitor at the Fuller home here.

"I ask you to join me in building this country of ours, in moving forward," he said.

In Toledo Kennedy addressed upwards of 20,000 persons in Courthouse Square.

In his Illinois windup Friday night, Kennedy called for new moves ahead in education, minimum wages, health and other domestic fields, saying, "It is high time we got on with the job."

He said defenses must be strengthened and the U.S. must identify itself with the struggles of others "against poverty and hunger and disease."

The Democratic presidential nominee exuded outward confidence as he carried his long, last weekend drive into Ohio and Illinois after major pitches — at Norfolk and Roanoke, Va. — aimed at wresting Virginia's 12 electoral voters from Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

"Virginia," he told an airport crowd at Roanoke, which police estimated at between 15,000 and 20,000, "cannot possibly give its votes to a man of the strip of Richard M. Nixon."

Previously, to an equally large crowd at Norfolk High school's Athletic Field, Kennedy asserted: "I can't believe Virginia is going to put its confidence in the Republican party."

There, he recalled that Nixon has contended that the Kennedy-Johnson ticket is not in the tradition of Thomas Jefferson.

What In Common

That reminded Kennedy that a contemporary once described Jefferson — at age 32 — as "a man who could plot an eclipse, survey a field, plan an edifice, break a horse, and dance a minuet."

"What has he got in common with Richard Milhous Nixon?" Kennedy asked.

Kennedy told his Norfolk audience, which nearly mobbed him in its enthusiasm, that Nixon, unlike President Eisenhower, who carried Virginia in 1952 and 1956, "is wholly identified with the Republican party and is a part of it."

In what might have been a reference to the refusal of Virginia's Democratic Sen. Harry F. Byrd to support his candidacy, Kennedy asserted: "The people of this state have a right to make their own decisions."

ic nominee as the "young genius." As usual, he did not mention Kennedy's name.

Calling anew on the Democrats to state plainly where the "additional billions" of money for their proposed federal programs would come from, the President scoffed at Democratic claims the revenue would result from a growing economy and a streamlining of the government.

"More money, they say, will be saved by military reorganization," Eisenhower said scornfully.

"Where did this young genius acquire the knowledge, experience and wisdom through which he will make such vast improvements over the work of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the dedicated civilian and service men who have given their lives to this work?"

Fire Attracts Spectators, Ties Up Traffic

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spectacular fire in an unoccupied apartment building tied up traffic on Connecticut Avenue Friday and attracted a throng of spectators.

The blaze destroyed the roof and top floor of the 4-story building, at Connecticut Avenue and Leroy Place NW, which is being renovated. The fire was believed to have been started accidentally when a workman's acetylene torch ignited wooden joists.

Automobile, streetcar and bus traffic was tied up for blocks. The flames, shooting 20 feet into the air, attracted spectators from a wide area. Three alarms were sounded.

Cooper again was cited for contempt as the jurors were leaving the room after Dawson had completed his statement.

Cooper jumped to his feet as the jurors were walking out and declared: "Your honor has invaded the province of the jury."

"I hold you in contempt again," Dawson snapped.

The judge told Cooper he had no right to interrupt him while he was speaking to the jury.

The judge said he would not sentence Cooper on the two counts of contempt until the trial is concluded.

Cooper moved for a mistrial, and Miss Tregoff's attorney, Donald Bringgold, joined him. Judge Dawson denied the motion.

The jury went back to its deliberations.

Marines Stage Mock Attack At Guantanamo

Officially it was a defense exercise but it also was a show of strength in the face of Cuban threats against Guantanamo.

A three-minute blast of the base sirens signaled arrival of the attacking force. The entire staff of the base—3,000 men and 307 officers—raced to defense positions.

The entire exercise was confined to the 45-square-mile base which is surrounded by 23 miles of iron mesh, barbed wire and plainly marked minefields. In the first hours "enemy" patrols broke through the fence and seized sentry posts.

Defending Marines led by Col. Merritt Adelman, commander of the base's ground defense, sped to repel the attackers who came ashore from landing craft. Helicopters flew supplies to the scene.

The defenders were supported by tanks and jet warplanes and sailors who rushed into action from machineshops, galleys, dock areas, airfields and bakeries.

Because it was only a practice exercise and officially not connected with any flareup in Cuban-U. S. relations, many activities at the base were not affected. The 4,000 Cuban nationals who work on the base continued their normal duties and schools for U. S. dependents did not close.

But for everyone else it was real. The base hospital sent out aid teams and set up wards for the wounded. F8U jet fighters and A4D jet bombers roared off from the base's two airfields to provide tactical support for the defenders.

Mass. Refuses To Give Up Brinks Informer To Pa.

BOSTON (UPI) — Massachusetts authorities Friday refused to surrender Brink's informer Joseph (Specs) O'Keefe, a man marked by the underworld, to "certain death" in a Pennsylvania prison term.

Gov. Foster Furcolo announced the state's refusal to honor rendition papers issued by Pennsylvania Gov. David Lawrence for O'Keefe, the man whose testimony imprisoned eight men for life in 1956.

O'Keefe, who lives in hiding in "continued fear for his life" according to friends, faced a 3-to-12 year Pennsylvania term for the 1950 theft of five revolvers from a Kane, Pa., store.

In declining the rendition request, Gov. Furcolo said it was the opinion of Massachusetts authorities that O'Keefe faced "certain death" at the hands of a fellow inmate if he was imprisoned.

The special prosecutor from McKean County, Pa., in the burglary case said he believed Furcolo had disregarded the Constitution by refusing to send O'Keefe to Pennsylvania.

E. G. Potter said he had not seen Furcolo's opinion and had no comment other than to say the Constitution provides for such requests.

"As far as the governor's statement about 'certain death' in Pennsylvania, the same danger is present for O'Keefe in Boston," Potter said.

Gov. Furcolo said he also was considering O'Keefe's cooperation in refusing the rendition request.

"If O'Keefe was returned to jail law enforcement officers would never again get any cooperation from anyone. Who would testify for the state if the state abandoned that person after his testimony" the governor asked.

O'Keefe's testimony was key to the state's case in solving the $1,219,000 holdup of the Brink's counting house here which, at the time, was the nation's biggest single cash robbery. The convictions were obtained in 1956 and O'Keefe was imprisoned for protective custody until last June 22.

Control Fight Step Nearer

this week.

Murchison filed a petition in New York Supreme Court for the stockholder list of Alleghany. He sought the list for the "Committee for Better Management of the Alleghany Corp."

The list would be essential to Murchison if he went through with his threat to wage a proxy fight for control of Alleghany.

Murchison already has filed a form required by the Securities Exchange Commission as a prelude to such a fight.

Alleghany Corp. is an investment company which controls the New York Central Railroad. It also controls Investors Diversified Services, Inc., big Minneapolis based firm which owns or manages companies with three billion dollars in assets.

NEW YORK (AP) — A bitter fight between two rich men for control of an investment company with vast assets has moved a step closer.

The step was taken Thursday after secret negotiations between the two men—John Murchison and Allan Kirby—broke down earlier

Byrd Defends New Potomac River Compact

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Dr. H. C. Byrd Friday denounced criticism that Maryland's new Potomac River Compact with Virginia is a "give away" and urged the state's watermen to look at its advantages.

The Tidewater Fisheries Commission chairman sent off letters to 6,000 licensed watermen, stating the case for the compact which will come before Maryland voters for ratification or rejection next Tuesday.

The pact, negotiated two years ago to replace a 1785 compact abrogated by Maryland, would set up a new Maryland-Virginia agency to supervise the Potomac's fishing resources.

Waterman groups in Charles and St. Marys counties are leading the fight for its rejection. They have the support of Republican candidates for Congress in Southern Maryland and on the Eastern Shore, the state's two Republican U.S. senators, and others who feel that it will prevent the state from gaining concessions from Virginia in Chesapeake Bay.

Byrd said there has been so much campaign talk of the compact as a "give away" that he felt it his duty, as head of the State's fishery agency, to "write each waterman of the state the facts so that he will know what the proposed compact really provides."

"It would be unfortunate indeed if the compact were defeated because of attempts to mislead the watermen by a 'give away' slogan," his letter said.

The TFC chairman said he challenges any congressional candidate or other opponent of the compact "to name one thing that Maryland would be giving away to Virginia."

"The only matter covered in the compact is fishing rights, which outstanding legal opinion says Virginia already has, and will continue to have if the compact is defeated," he said.

Maryland Briefs

ELKTON, Md. (AP) — Cecil County Sheriff Edgar Startt said Friday Pennsylvania authorities are holding three men wanted in connection with two 1959 burglaries here in which $13,000 worth of wire and equipment was stolen from two firms.

The sheriff said he had asked for removal of the three to Elkton to face theft charges. He identified the trio as Richard Leroy Ritter, 38; Robert Leroy Joseph, 35, and Richard Dickel, 28, all of Lancaster County and all now under arrest and being held in the Lancaster jail.

The thefts were at the Bayshore Corp. and Dwyer Co. plants here.

FREDERICK, Md. (AP) — A New York truck driver swerved his tractor-trailer rig to avoid striking a deer on U.S. 15 Friday, and was critically injured when the vehicle went out of control and rammed a tree.

The victim, David Henderson, 30, of Jamesville, was taken to Washington County Hospital at Hagerstown, suffering a fractured back and head lacerations. The mishap happened about five miles south of Frederick.

WASHINGTON GROVE, Md. (AP) — Forty valuable Siamese cats died in a fire early Friday. They were in a wooden building which caught fire while their owners, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Van Riper, slept in their home nearby.

Mrs. Van Riper said the cats were worth $75 to $300 each. Some, she said, had won grand championship awards in their classes in cat shows.

The fire might have been started, Mrs. Van Riper said, by an electric heater.

Atheist Student Has Mumps Delays Fight Over Religion

BALTIMORE (AP)—William J. Murray III, a 14-year-old junior high school student who objects to compulsory daily religious exercises in public schools, will have to temporarily delay his fight for abolishment of the practice.

He left Woodbourne Junior High School Thursday with the mumps, and his mother, Mrs. Madalyn Murray, said the family doctor has advised her son to remain in bed for another week.

At the same time, the Baltimore Board of Education delayed making any change in its requirement for a five-minute daily religious exercise in city schools.

Young Murray and his mother, both of whom claim to be atheists, had objected to the compulsory reading of the Bible and recitation of the Lord's Prayer.

Library Group Seeks State Aid

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — The Maryland Library Association Friday called for increased State aid to local public libraries.

Legislative proposals presented to a conference of Western Shore librarians and trustees meeting in Hagerstown included a formula which would increase the State's share of library cost to 30 per cent.

The proposals were presented to the conference by P.B. Brown of La Plata, chairman of the association's Legislative Committee.

Brown said growth of Maryland's libraries over the last 15 years indicates a desire of the public for better service.

Police Seek Poison Beans

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — Police said Friday they had recovered about 500 pounds of poisonous lima beans but were still looking for the rest of the 2,400 or 2,500 pounds stolen from a seed warehouse.

The amount of stolen beans was estimated by officials of the Coastal Foods Co. warehouse here. They said the beans were carried off in 24 or 25 bags.

Police received reports of three persons who may have eaten the beans. Two of them, both Negro men, said they felt no adverse effects. The third, a Negro woman, said she felt a little ill while eating them yesterday but had no ill effects after she stopped eating them.

The theft of the beans was discovered Thursday night, but police said they had no idea when the theft occurred.

Police Chief Brice G. Kinnamon said his men were combing homes in a Negro section of Cambridge where, he said, most of the beans may have been sold.

He said three men have been arrested for questioning in connection with the theft.

The beans had been sprayed with a chemical designed to kill insects and weeds after planting, he said. "There's no question about it," he said. "If you eat them, they could kill you."

Marquess To Marry

LONDON (UPI)—The Marquess of Milford Haven, 41, best man at the wedding of Queen Elizabeth, announced Thursday he will marry a 23-year-old Bermuda girl.

The marquess said he and Janet Bryce would be married Nov. 17.

The marquess, a cousin of the Duke of Edinburgh, was divorced in 1954 by Mrs. Romaine Simpson, now a resident of New York.

State Teachers Congress Elects

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mrs. William F. Robie of Forest Heights, Prince Georges County, was elected Friday to a three-year term as president of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Mrs. Robie succeeds Mrs. Cecil E. Ewing of Elkton.

Also elected were Joseph Showalter, Port Deposit, first vice president; Mrs. Paul L. Brown, Baltimore, secretary, and Mrs. Claude E. Hildebrand, Elkridge, treasurer. All will serve three-year terms.

Dr. Margaret Conant of Glen Dale, Prince Georges County, has one year left of her three-year term as second vice president.

The election took place on the final day of the two-day annual convention of the congress, which represents some 200,000 parent-teacher organizations in Maryland.

Also on the agenda was a panel discussion on quality education, which developed into another debate over the controversial Warfield Commission report on higher education.

Members of the panel included Edwin Warfield III of Howard County, head of the special commission which recommended combining Frostburg, Towson and Salisbury State teachers colleges with the University of Maryland.

On the same panel was Dr. Earle Hawkins, president of Towson State, who has joined many other top Maryland school officials in lambasting the Warfield proposals.

Newspaper, Police, Law Group Caught In Politics

By The Associated Press

Weekly newspapers, State Police, county bar associations and the Tidewater Fisheries Commission were some of the elements caught in the whirlwind of Maryland politics Friday — with the election only four days away.

Thomas P. Headen, editor of the weekly Leaf at La Plata, Charles County, said he put 500 more copies of the paper on the stands.

Headen said the original 700 copies distributed earlier in the week were bought up "as a matter of panic" by interests that oppose a change in the county's slot machine laws.

He said the 700 copies amounted to only one-sixth of the paper's weekly circulation of 4,100 and he said the quick purchase was "too stupid."

The Leaf this week carried an editorial favoring a referendum in Tuesday's election calling for a law to limit the number of slot machines in any Charles County establishment to 35 and to raise the license fees.

State Police cars and drivers became an issue in the congressional campaign in the Eastern Shore's First District.

Edward T. Miller, the Republican candidate, sent a telegram to Gov. Tawes requesting an investigation of a charge that Rep. Thomas F. Johnson, the Democratic incumbent, had used State Police transportation for campaign purposes.

Miller told the governor that "taxpayers on the Eastern Shore deserve an immediate explanation of this apparent injustice."

He said he based his request on a letter to the Salisbury Times of Oct. 27, signed by L.J. Smith of Salisbury, and claiming that between Aug. 5 and Oct. 21 Johnson had been granted a dozen requests for use of State Police cars and chauffeurs.

Capt. Paul J. Randall, commander of the Eastern Shore State Police, said all requests for transportation from Rep. Johnson had been referred for approval to Maj. G.E. Davidson, commander of the field force at Pikesville.

Davidson said State Police have a policy granting such transportation in cases of emergency or for official State business.

"The only matter covered in the compact is fishing rights, which outstanding legal opinion says Virginia already has, and will continue to have if the compact is defeated," he said.

Maryland Briefs

ELKTON, Md. (AP) — Cecil County Sheriff Edgar Startt said Friday Pennsylvania authorities are holding three men wanted in connection with two 1959 burglaries here in which $13,000 worth of wire and equipment was stolen from two firms.

The sheriff said he had asked for removal of the three to Elkton to face theft charges. He identified the trio as Richard Leroy Ritter, 38; Robert Leroy Joseph, 35, and Richard Dickel, 28, all of Lancaster County and all now under arrest and being held in the Lancaster jail.

The thefts were at the Bayshore Corp. and Dwyer Co. plants here.

FREDERICK, Md. (AP) — A New York truck driver swerved his tractor-trailer rig to avoid striking a deer on U.S. 15 Friday, and was critically injured when the vehicle went out of control and rammed a tree.

The victim, David Henderson, 30, of Jamesville, was taken to Washington County Hospital at Hagerstown, suffering a fractured back and head lacerations. The mishap happened about five miles south of Frederick.

WASHINGTON GROVE, Md. (AP) — Forty valuable Siamese cats died in a fire early Friday. They were in a wooden building which caught fire while their owners, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Van Riper, slept in their home nearby.

Mrs. Van Riper said the cats were worth $75 to $300 each. Some, she said, had won grand championship awards in their classes in cat shows.

The fire might have been started, Mrs. Van Riper said, by an electric heater.

Atheist Student Has Mumps Delays Fight Over Religion

BALTIMORE (AP)—William J. Murray III, a 14-year-old junior high school student who objects to compulsory daily religious exercises in public schools, will have to temporarily delay his fight for abolishment of the practice.

He left Woodbourne Junior High School Thursday with the mumps, and his mother, Mrs. Madalyn Murray, said the family doctor has advised her son to remain in bed for another week.

At the same time, the Baltimore Board of Education delayed making any change in its requirement for a five-minute daily religious exercise in city schools.

Young Murray and his mother, both of whom claim to be atheists, had objected to the compulsory reading of the Bible and recitation of the Lord's Prayer.

Library Group Seeks State Aid

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — The Maryland Library Association Friday called for increased State aid to local public libraries.

Legislative proposals presented to a conference of Western Shore librarians and trustees meeting in Hagerstown included a formula which would increase the State's share of library cost to 30 per cent.

The proposals were presented to the conference by P.B. Brown of La Plata, chairman of the association's Legislative Committee.

Brown said growth of Maryland's libraries over the last 15 years indicates a desire of the public for better service.

Police Seek Poison Beans

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — Police said Friday they had recovered about 500 pounds of poisonous lima beans but were still looking for the rest of the 2,400 or 2,500 pounds stolen from a seed warehouse.

The amount of stolen beans was estimated by officials of the Coastal Foods Co. warehouse here. They said the beans were carried off in 24 or 25 bags.

Police received reports of three persons who may have eaten the beans. Two of them, both Negro men, said they felt no adverse effects. The third, a Negro woman, said she felt a little ill while eating them yesterday but had no ill effects after she stopped eating them.

The theft of the beans was discovered Thursday night, but police said they had no idea when the theft occurred.

Police Chief Brice G. Kinnamon said his men were combing homes in a Negro section of Cambridge where, he said, most of the beans may have been sold.

He said three men have been arrested for questioning in connection with the theft.

The beans had been sprayed with a chemical designed to kill insects and weeds after planting, he said. "There's no question about it," he said. "If you eat them, they could kill you."

Marquess To Marry

LONDON (UPI)—The Marquess of Milford Haven, 41, best man at the wedding of Queen Elizabeth, announced Thursday he will marry a 23-year-old Bermuda girl.

The marquess said he and Janet Bryce would be married Nov. 17.

The marquess, a cousin of the Duke of Edinburgh, was divorced in 1954 by Mrs. Romaine Simpson, now a resident of New York.

State Teachers Congress Elects

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mrs. William F. Robie of Forest Heights, Prince Georges County, was elected Friday to a three-year term as president of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Mrs. Robie succeeds Mrs. Cecil E. Ewing of Elkton.

Also elected were Joseph Showalter, Port Deposit, first vice president; Mrs. Paul L. Brown, Baltimore, secretary, and Mrs. Claude E. Hildebrand, Elkridge, treasurer. All will serve three-year terms.

Dr. Margaret Conant of Glen Dale, Prince Georges County, has one year left of her three-year term as second vice president.

The election took place on the final day of the two-day annual convention of the congress, which represents some 200,000 parent-teacher organizations in Maryland.

Also on the agenda was a panel discussion on quality education, which developed into another debate over the controversial Warfield Commission report on higher education.

Members of the panel included Edwin Warfield III of Howard County, head of the special commission which recommended combining Frostburg, Towson and Salisbury State teachers colleges with the University of Maryland.

On the same panel was Dr. Earle Hawkins, president of Towson State, who has joined many other top Maryland school officials in lambasting the Warfield proposals.

Wash Hands Of Name

BRIDGE, England (UPI)—Residents of Laundry Lane Thursday petitioned the rural council to change the name to Conyngham Lane. They said they were tired of "the laundry tag."

Newspaper, Police, Law Group Caught In Politics

By The Associated Press

Weekly newspapers, State Police, county bar associations and the Tidewater Fisheries Commission were some of the elements caught in the whirlwind of Maryland politics Friday — with the election only four days away.

Thomas P. Headen, editor of the weekly Leaf at La Plata, Charles County, said he put 500 more copies of the paper on the stands.

Headen said the original 700 copies distributed earlier in the week were bought up "as a matter of panic" by interests that oppose a change in the county's slot machine laws.

He said the 700 copies amounted to only one-sixth of the paper's weekly circulation of 4,100 and he said the quick purchase was "too stupid."

The Leaf this week carried an editorial favoring a referendum in Tuesday's election calling for a law to limit the number of slot machines in any Charles County establishment to 35 and to raise the license fees.

State Police cars and drivers became an issue in the congressional campaign in the Eastern Shore's First District.

Edward T. Miller, the Republican candidate, sent a telegram to Gov. Tawes requesting an investigation of a charge that Rep. Thomas F. Johnson, the Democratic incumbent, had used State Police transportation for campaign purposes.

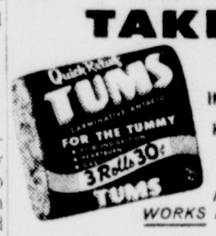

Miller told the governor that "taxpayers on the Eastern Shore deserve an immediate explanation of this apparent injustice."

He said he based his request on a letter to the Salisbury Times of Oct. 27, signed by L.J. Smith of Salisbury, and claiming that between Aug. 5 and Oct. 21 Johnson had been granted a dozen requests for use of State Police cars and chauffeurs.

Capt. Paul J. Randall, commander of the Eastern Shore State Police, said all requests for transportation from Rep. Johnson had been referred for approval to Maj. G.E. Davidson, commander of the field force at Pikesville.

Davidson said State Police have a policy granting such transportation in cases of emergency or for official State business.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

When Your Daughter Turns Critic . . .

. . . what should you do? When your sprouting teenager suddenly turns the tables on you and begins to find fault with your style-sense, your hairdo, your makeup technique, your manners, should you take offense? Or should you take her advice?

First, keep your temper and your balance. If your sense of humor is in good repair, you should discover a certain amount of comic relief in hearing ten years' worth of your own advice coming back at you. (Evidently she DID hear some of it . . . and some of it DID stick!)

Everybody's teenager begins to criticize her parents sooner or later. It's part of growing up, a sign that she is learning to think for herself, to set certain standards, to distinguish between bad and good, better and best. It shows she's beginning to see you as a PERSON as well as a parent. Even if she seems to see only your faults, not your virtues, immediately.

So, as long as her manner of criticizing you is reasonably polite and as long as her suggestions are practically constructive, why don't you listen to her? It won't hurt to listen . . . and you just might learn something. About her. And about yourself.

Is it possible that she might have something? Why not? Who else is more conscious of clothes, cosmetics and curls? Who else holds more serious conversations on these major topics with her girlfriends? Who else devours so rabidly all the beauty advice in magazines and newspapers? And doesn't most of her pin money disappear at the dime store cosmetic counter?—and most of her time in front of a mirror?

Your big little girl knows a lot more about beauty and fashion than you realize. She has more time than you to spend studying and experimenting.

When she tries to share her discoveries with you, don't be upset . . . be glad. What better inspiration could you find for yourself than your daughter's interest in you, her anxiety to be proud of you? Don't tell me (and don't tell her) that you couldn't be improved upon!

At a precious time like this, forget your own pride to concentrate on hers. Work together with her on self-improvement . . . on diet and exercise, on clothes selection, on complexion care. As a team reading my "Personality Through Diet," both of you will begin to bloom. Send now for a copy from this newspaper. Enclose 25c and your name and address with your request and allow 2 weeks for delivery.

Use this mutual beauty interest to grow closer together. Remember, you have a great deal in common with your daughter. Love . . . and the promise of an abiding lifelong friendship.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A widow who considers herself a dear friend comes to my home several evenings a week. She gets into long-winded conversations with my husband about current events. He thinks she is brilliant. This woman must memorize what she reads in the papers. When the Congo trouble was at its peak she knew how to pronounce all those dizzy names. He was very impressed.

My problem is, she directs all her remarks to him and doesn't even look at me the whole evening. I sit there like a big dummy, listening and burning up.

I think my husband is partly to blame because he never makes an effort to get me into the conversation. This has been going on for eight years. Please tell me what to do.—MRS. IGNORED

DEAR MRS. IGNORED: You are holding the solution to your problem right in your hands at this very moment.

This newspaper offers excellent news coverage and if you will spend half an hour every day reading, you'll be on an equal footing with the widow and your husband. There's no excuse for being uninformed in this day and age. Briefing yourself should be a daily habit. Your life will be more interesting and meaningful when you pay attention to what is happening around you. Try it and see.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would like to comment on the letter from the reader who complained because he never won a thing in his life. He seemed bitter because "the rich people always win the raffles, door-prizes, bridge prizes and whatever there is to be won."

If the rich people win everything it's because they are expected to buy chances and tickets by the fistful—and they usually do. Their chances of winning are about ten times as great as the average Joe because they are tapped for everything and they usually hold a great many tickets. I just thought I'd like to add a sane note to the hysterical ravings. So often people criticize and gripe without thinking things through.—SYRACUSE.

DEAR SYRACUSE: Thanks for your "sane note." It may interest you to know that hundreds of clear-thinkers from all over the U.S.A. sounded the same "clear note." Frankly, I'd never thought of it before. Thanks to all who wrote.

DEAR ANN: When I married my husband five years ago he knew I was 11 years older than he was. I never lied or tried to hide my age. He said it didn't make any difference any I believed him.

Now he's after me constantly to dye my hair, lose a little weight, wear "younger dresses" and he finally even had the nerve to suggest that I have my face lifted. I've no intention of doing any of these things.

Women often write and ask you whether or not to marry a man who is several years younger. This letter is just to let some of the gals know first hand how one of these marriages turned out. You can't beat the old calendar, Ann. I didn't know it then, but I know it now.—OLD BAG

CONFIDENTIAL TO BETTING TEN: You win. In the Yiddish language there is no word for toe. It is translated "finger on the foot."

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Secrets Of Charm

When Your Daughter Turns Critic . . .

. . . what should you do? When your sprouting teenager suddenly turns the tables on you and begins to find fault with your style-sense, your hairdo, your makeup technique, your manners, should you take offense? Or should you take her advice?

First, keep your temper and your balance. If your sense of humor is in good repair, you should discover a certain amount of comic relief in hearing ten years' worth of your own advice coming back at you. (Evidently she DID hear some of it . . . and some of it DID stick!)

Everybody's teenager begins to criticize her parents sooner or later. It's part of growing up, a sign that she is learning to think for herself, to set certain standards, to distinguish between bad and good, better and best. It shows she's beginning to see you as a PERSON as well as a parent. Even if she seems to see only your faults, not your virtues, immediately.

So, as long as her manner of criticizing you is reasonably polite and as long as her suggestions are practically constructive, why don't you listen to her? It won't hurt to listen . . . and you just might learn something. About her. And about yourself.

Is it possible that she might have something? Why not? Who else is more conscious of clothes, cosmetics and curls? Who else holds more serious conversations on these major topics with her girlfriends? Who else devours so rabidly all the beauty advice in magazines and newspapers? And doesn't most of her pin money disappear at the dime store cosmetic counter?—and most of her time in front of a mirror?

Your big little girl knows a lot more about beauty and fashion than you realize. She has more time than you to spend studying and experimenting.

When she tries to share her discoveries with you, don't be upset . . . be glad. What better inspiration could you find for yourself than your daughter's interest in you, her anxiety to be proud of you? Don't tell me (and don't tell her) that you couldn't be improved upon!

At a precious time like this, forget your own pride to concentrate on hers. Work together with her on self-improvement . . . on diet and exercise, on clothes selection, on complexion care. As a team reading my "Personality Through Diet," both of you will begin to bloom. Send now for a copy from this newspaper. Enclose 25c and your name and address with your request and allow 2 weeks for delivery.

Use this mutual beauty interest to grow closer together. Remember, you have a great deal in common with your daughter. Love . . . and the promise of an abiding lifelong friendship.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A widow who considers herself a dear friend comes to my home several evenings a week. She gets into long-winded conversations with my husband about current events. He thinks she is brilliant. This woman must memorize what she reads in the papers. When the Congo trouble was at its peak she knew how to pronounce all those dizzy names. He was very impressed.

My problem is, she directs all her remarks to him and doesn't even look at me the whole evening. I sit there like a big dummy, listening and burning up.

I think my husband is partly to blame because he never makes an effort to get me into the conversation. This has been going on for eight years. Please tell me what to do.—MRS. IGNORED

DEAR MRS. IGNORED: You are holding the solution to your problem right in your hands at this very moment.

This newspaper offers excellent news coverage and if you will spend half an hour every day reading, you'll be on an equal footing with the widow and your husband. There's no excuse for being uninformed in this day and age. Briefing yourself should be a daily habit. Your life will be more interesting and meaningful when you pay attention to what is happening around you. Try it and see.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would like to comment on the letter from the reader who complained because he never won a thing in his life. He seemed bitter because "the rich people always win the raffles, doorprizes, bridge prizes and whatever there is to be won."

If the rich people win everything it's because they are expected to buy chances and tickets by the fistful—and they usually do. Their chances of winning are about ten times as great as the average Joe because they are tapped for everything and they usually hold a great many tickets.

I just thought I'd like to add a sane note to the hysterical ravings. So often people criticize and gripe without thinking things through.—SYRACUSE.

DEAR SYRACUSE: Thanks for your "sane note." It may interest you to know that hundreds of clear-thinkers from all over the U.S.A. sounded the same "clear note." Frankly, I'd never thought of it before. Thanks to all who wrote.

DEAR ANN: When I married my husband five years ago he knew I was 11 years older than he was. I never lied or tried to hide my age. He said it didn't make any difference any I believed him.

Now he's after me constantly to dye my hair, lose a little weight, wear "younger dresses" and he finally even had the nerve to suggest that I have my face lifted. I've no intention of doing any of these things.

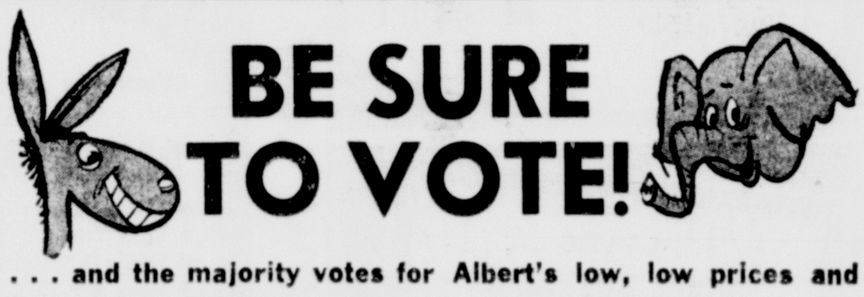

Women often write and ask you whether or not to marry a man who is several years younger. This letter is just to let some of the gals know first hand how one of these marriages turned out. You can't beat the old calendar, Ann. I didn't know it then, but I know it now.—OLD BAG

CONFIDENTIAL TO BETTING TEN: You win. In the Yiddish language there is no word for toe. It is translated "finger on the foot."

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Churchmen Disagree Whether Broad, General Religion Best For Presidency

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

Some offbeat ideas are abroad today about the much-mauled religion issue in the presidential campaign.

For a change, the candidates are being twitted by some people, not for having faith, but on the ground that they don't have enough of it.

In a still different twist, some church scholars say that a bland, even-handed approach to religion is a good thing for the presidency, and that both candidates reflect it.

Other churchmen, however, bridle strongly at such a view.

Writing in the nondenominational Christian Century the Rev. Dr. Winthrop S. Hudson of Colgate Rochester Divinity School says:

"Both candidates seem to reflect the general cultural conviction that religion is a good thing but nonetheless a purely private affair which has few implications for the political order."

Such compartmentalized religion, he adds, "is indeed irrelevant to the issues of our common life."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, a Quaker, and Sen. John F. Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, would doubtless would disagree with that. But both have taken nonpartisan stands about religion in relation to politics and government.

Both men, says the Rev. Dr. Warren B. Martin, chairman of the Religion Department of Cornell College, Mount Vernon, Iowa, manifest a sort of "faith in faith."

This broad, general religion, he suggests, is best for the presidency.

Genuine, militant Christianity would "be too much for us" in the political sphere, he writes in the Methodist Christian Advocate.

"American governmental organization and the American mentality are simply not structured to accept more than nominal Christianity," he says.

He says past chief executives have "not been notably strong Christians" and it may be desirable that "the present aspirants are not."

Noting that ardent faith can produce intolerance, while vague faith makes for tolerance, he adds: "Because our heterodox society requires that the president be a tolerant man, it follows that a determined Christian would be a weak president, and that a strong president must be, and historically has been, a weak Christian."

Many churchmen dispute such a view. The best man for the job, says the Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, Episcopal bishop of New York, is the one "who shows most clearly his intention of seeking and accepting God's guidance."

One unusual aspect of the subject is that while some Protestants have objected that a Catholic might put his faith above the state, it also has been mostly Protestants who have stressed that this is the way it should be.

Both Protestants and Catholics "owe an allegiance to the Lord, which is over and above and beyond the allegiance that we owe to the state," says the Rev. Francis B. Sayre, dean of the Protestant Episcopal Cathedral, Washington, D.C.

It's hard for grownups to grasp what it means to be a child today!

We grew up yesterday. The planes and radios which had startled our parents were commonplace to us. Television and jets we could take in stride. But Space! Who among us expected to live in a Buck Rogers era?

Yet to our youngsters nothing seems more natural than man's invasion of the universe. Everything that went before was preparation. We are ready to blast off. And the man who will establish our first colony on Mars is probably training for his mission in a sixth grade classroom . . .

Was there ever a time when religious, moral and spiritual development were more essential to our youth? The Truth man will cherish on Earth, and carry with him among the stars, is being taught every Sunday in our churches. Is your child . . . and the home in which he is growing up . . . FIT FOR THE AGE?

YOUR CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Churchmen Disagree Whether Broad, General Religion Best For Presidency

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

Some offbeat ideas are abroad today about the much-mauled religion issue in the presidential campaign.

For a change, the candidates are being twitted by some people, not for having faith, but on the ground that they don't have enough of it.

In a still different twist, some church scholars say that a bland, even-handed approach to religion is a good thing for the presidency, and that both candidates reflect it.

Other churchmen, however, bridle strongly at such a view.

Writing in the nondenominational Christian Century the Rev. Dr. Winthrop S. Hudson of Colgate Rochester Divinity School says:

"Both candidates seem to reflect the general cultural conviction that religion is a good thing but nonetheless a purely private affair which has few implications for the political order."

Such compartmentalized religion, he adds, "is indeed irrelevant to the issues of our common life."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, a Quaker, and Sen. John F. Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, doubtless would disagree with that. But both have taken nonpartisan stands about religion in relation to politics and government.

Both men, says the Rev. Dr. Warren B. Martin, chairman of the Religion Department of Cornell College, Mount Vernon, Iowa, manifest a sort of "faith in faith."

This broad, general religion, he suggests, is best for the presidency.

Genuine, militant Christianity would "be too much for us" in the political sphere, he writes in the Methodist Christian Advocate.

"American governmental organization and the American mentality are simply not structured to accept more than nominal Christianity," he says.

He says past chief executives have "not been notably strong Christians" and it may be desirable that "the present aspirants are not."

Noting that ardent faith can produce intolerance, while vague faith makes for tolerance, he adds: "Because our heterodox society requires that the president be a tolerant man, it follows that a determined Christian would be a weak president, and that a strong president must be, and historically has been, a weak Christian."

Many churchmen dispute such a view. The best man for the job, says the Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, Episcopal bishop of New York, is the one "who shows most clearly his intention of seeking and accepting God's guidance."

One unusual aspect of the subject is that while some Protestants have objected that a Catholic might put his faith above the state, it also has been mostly Protestants who have stressed that this is the way it should be.

Both Protestants and Catholics "owe an allegiance to the Lord, which is over and above and beyond the allegiance that we owe to the state," says the Rev. Francis B. Sayre, dean of the Protestant Episcopal Cathedral, Washington, D.C.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Luke	16	8
Monday	Psalms	63	1
Tuesday	Ecclesiastes	3	11-15
Wednesday	Ecclesiastes	9	1-2
Thursday	Revelation	22	13-14
Friday	Hebrews	5	12-14
Saturday	Luke	9	62

It's hard for grownups to grasp what it means to be a child today!

We grew up yesterday. The planes and radios which had startled our parents were commonplace to us. Television and jets we could take in stride. But Space! Who among us expected to live in a Buck Rogers era?

Yet to our youngsters nothing seems more natural than man's invasion of the universe. Everything that went before was preparation. We are ready to blast off. And the man who will establish our first colony on Mars is probably training for his mission in a sixth grade classroom . . .

Was there ever a time when religious, moral and spiritual development were more essential to our youth? The Truth man will cherish on Earth, and carry with him among the stars, is being taught every Sunday in our churches. Is your child . . . and the home in which he is growing up . . . FIT FOR THE AGE?

Sales Music

I happen to think — an opinion that might get me lynched—that some of the best popular music is being written for commercials. You can whistle commercials now and they're getting increasingly more tuneful and the other day I sat down with a composer of commercial music, Mitch Leigh, to hear him defend his art which he does eloquently:

"The problem has been that for a long time commercials were a drag," said Mr. Leigh, a cool customer of thirty-two years dressed in various shades of green and sporting a Yale ring. He studied music under Hindemith at Yale and today all this learning is being devoted toward writing commercial background music for Alpine cigarets, Chemstrand, Betty Crocker, Ford, Prudential, Schaefer beer, and others.

"All those people who treated commercials as though they were aimed at the twelve-year-old mind didn't sell any products," he said languidly. "If you don't have the kind of creativity that appeals to the adult minds which spend the bread (i. e., money) you won't sell anything. Advertising writers and the other creative people, too, are no longer ashamed of the business they're in. They're not full of that shrewd cunning which jammed the product down people's throats. That sort of malarkey makes life a drag and all you get out of it is money.

"Advertising gives composers a chance to create and it is incumbent upon the artist to make the kind of impact he wants to make. The sponsors want good things. The assumption that everything that is done in commercials is musical junk is an affront to me. Sponsors want things that are clean and direct—and I mean clean in a creative sense.

"You know I write every day and I get a terrific charge out of what I do. If I do something I've done before, the agency doesn't want it. Everything I do has to be different. I feel I've innovated quality into commercials musically. The music of the future will come out of guys like me.

"Hindemith taught me music is for use. Music should be used to communicate to people. I'm a whole musician—at home in any style. I get sick when I heard of the subdivision of musicians—arranger, vocal arranger, all that jazz. I think it's a drawback. Who the hell was Beethoven's arranger? He arranged his own music. Arrangements are for hacks.

"If I should write a smash Broadway musical, I won't give up commercials. About the only thing that would happen — my price would go up. I don't give a damn for posterity. Write what you want and don't worry. The concert hall today is stodgy. It isn't alive. Jazz is alive and jazz has grown.

"Music is obscure and consequently you can do more with it, because people don't know anything about it. Because clients for the most part are limited in their experience, they're ideal. Once in a while you find someone with an extensive knowledge of music. I'm using music for utilitarian purposes which is the best way to use it. What good is music as memorabilia. Until it's performed it isn't music.

"Everything I write is used! You know what kind of thrill that is! Doing good things will always be easy. It's turning out junk that's hard. I've been turning out good things like gangbusters.

"What good is the man who's sitting in a garrett, thinking one day he'll write a great piece of music. I don't knock the garrett as long as the guy is writing. It's the man who sits up there and talks the game that makes me sick.

"Creativity shows through everything. I'm working in a new concert hall. Sure I'm limited but so was Beethoven. So was Bach. There's no such thing as pure art. Life isn't and music is a reflection of life. Music should not be allowed to keep its white collar. If it's dirty, it's dirty. Did you know that doing music for commercials is the single most important source of income for side musicians in New York? The men who play commercials are of higher caliber than the musicians of the Philharmonic. What they play is new music, different music.

It's Part His, Now

Sewage Situation Aired As Commissioners Meet

The taxpayers of Allegany County will not be saddled with the expense of installing sewage systems in any specific locality, John J. Rowan, president of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, stated yesterday at the meeting in the Court House.

He re-asserted his previous stand when Edward J. Ryan, attorney for Frostburg, and James S. Getty, attorney for Lonaconing, appeared before the board.

Engineering surveys for proposed sewage disposal systems in Allegany County consistently have recommended that they be financed by revenue bonds rather than general obligation bonds. Users of the water system which also has the sewage disposal system will pay an additional charge for the disposal service.

That procedure has been followed in Cumberland.

Under such an arrangement, the citizens getting advantage from the disposal system, and they alone, would pay for the retirement of the revenue bonds. There would be no obligation upon the general taxpayers of the county.

Action as far as the county is concerned will be taken along the lines of establishing an Allegany County Sanitary Commission.

Commissioner John T. Mason, who is on the County Planning Commission, said his group would have appointed a sanitary commission last week, but the full membership was not present.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the board, also pointed out that before this sanitary unit can be set up a ruling must be obtained from the attorney general of Maryland.

He said he asked the attorney general to rule on the point of whether incorporated municipalities can be included under the sanitary commission.

This would decide whether the incorporated towns could be made part of a special taxing district set up to pay for a sewage system, he added.

Ryan pointed out that a sewage treatment plant proposed by Robert T. Regester, Baltimore engineering consultant, for Frostburg would cost $800,000.

The city is not in shape to handle a bond issue of this size, he added.

Ryan added that the only method of handling the problem would be by a sanitary district. But Rowan pointed out that in the end the citizens will be paying for the disposal system.

Frostburg, Rowan added, has been lax in preparing plans for its sewage treatment plant as proposed by the State Health Department.

He referred to a meeting he and Commissioner William A. Wilson attended as representatives of the county commissioners at which were Mayor Joseph James of Frostburg and officials of the State Health Department.

Ryan and Getty observed that once Frostburg stops dumping sewage into George's Creek the overall situation in the Georges Creek Valley will be improved.

Rowan said he feels that Frostburg should pay for its own system. He pointed out that Cumberland has assumed its responsibilities by building a disposal plant, and added that "we in LaVale are going to pay our own way."

Wilson commented that LaVale is a highly assessed section, but the entire Georges Creek Valley assessment, excluding Westernport, is about $15,000,000.

The Green Associates' survey for a sewage disposal system for the valley calls for an estimated expenditure of about $4,000,000.

Mason said steps forward will be taken when the sanitary commission is set up, and that will be in a week or two when the attorney general's opinion is received.

A week or two is not long to wait, he pointed out. Rowan and Ryan blamed the county sewage system on the "neglect of the past 50 years of the county's Republican administration."

New Verdict Is Sought In Crossing Case

Attorneys for the defendants in the $200,000 school bus-train accident damage case yesterday acted to file motions for judgments notwithstanding the verdict of the jury that in Garrett County Circuit Court Thursday returned awards totalling $47,500 to two girls injured in the tragic collision.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the driver of the school bus, Leroy Campbell, Oakland, were ordered to pay equally.

One of the plaintiffs, Sandra Jean Patton, 14, received an award of $25,000 while the other, Mary Jane Lee, 17, got $22,500.

The verdict also gave approximately $700 in medical expenses to the parents.

Walter W. Dawson, one of the attorneys for the railroad, said he was filing in Garrett County Circuit Court a motion for a judgment for a verdict not withstanding the jury. In the alternative the railroad will ask for a new trial.

William B. Somerville, Baltimore attorney who is a native of here, said in Cumberland yesterday the attorneys for the bus driver will file a similar motion in Garrett County Circuit Court today.

Myers Chairman Of Eagles Unit

Herman Myers, of this city, has been appointed chairman of a statewide legislative committee of the Fraternal Order of Eagles which will seek to secure a state law on job security after the age of 40.

Myers has served as state secretary of the Eagles for some time. He was appointed to the committee by George Perry, state president.

The committee was formed in line with the Eagles' national program of eliminating job discrimination based on age alone.

Wilson Sells Barber Establishment Here

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

HOLLYWOOD—The mother of the nymphet in "Lolita" will be Shelley Winters who reports to Stanley Kubrick in London on Nov. 17 to start the much-cussed novel. This means the postponement of her Broadway play, William Inge's "Natural Affection" (which "Lolita" ain't), until after the first of the year.

Another hot potato offered Shelley is "The Chapman Report" but even if the part would hold, she's decided to bypass it in favor of the stage. At least it's in no danger of being banned.

1960 has been a big year for Shelley. She won the supporting Oscar for "Diary of Anne Frank" and she has two pictures coming up. "Let No Man Write My Epitaph" and "Matter of Conviction." The only shadow was a personal one, the end of her marraige to Tony Franciosa.

Five of the prettiest faces and most fashionable forms in the U.S.A. will be on view in "Back Street" thanks to a tie-up between producer Ross Hunter and Harper's Bazaar. In this revamped version of Fanny Hurst's tear-jerker of extra-marital relations, Susan plays a fashion designer. The five most famous Bazaar cover girls and models will appear in the fashion show sequences.

So far, the only girl signed is Beatrice Amadon Miller—but four others will be selected to make the trip to the Universal-International studio. John Gavin is the errant husband, Vera Miles the wife, and David Miller is directing the picture.

Why cameramen go berserk—as "The Devil at Four O'clock" rolls on. Spencer Tracy looks younger and younger in every scene because Spence has lost 20 pounds and is taking off more! This is in preparation for "Judgment at Nuremburg," a role calling for him to look much more youthful than he did in "Inherit the Wind" and at the start of "Devil."

I ran into Spence and asked him what about all this talk that he's retiring. "Did I say that?" he asked stroking his chin. "Well, I'll say it again—unless another very good script comes along."

Herb Shriner called from Kansas City on his one-night concert hop show of folk music and Yankee humor. "I've been doing something I think you might be interested in hearing about," he said. "In every town we have hit — and we've covered 7,000 miles in four weeks — I've been putting on a one-man 'get out and vote' campaign.

"I just get the local telephone directory and call as many names as I can, introducing myself and urging whoever answers to be sure to vote! No, I'm not plugging for any particular candidate —that's not quite fair the way I see it. But the most American of all privileges is voting—and no matter who you are for—vote for him!"

More deals are set at parties over martinis and cheese "dips" than you'd suspect. At the cocktail party hosted by the Josh Logans in New York the other evening, among the guests were Jack Lemmon and also George Axelrod. Playwright Axelrod just happens to be writing the adaptation of Moss Hart's "Act One" which Josh is bringing to the movies.

So what happens? The three, Logan, Axelrod and Jack Lemmon get in a corner and talk about Jack's playing the life story of Moss on the screen. Lemmon's play "Face of a Hero" was dubbed a bit of a lemon by the New York critics which means he might be ripe for a new picture.

Shirley Jones shows up on the set of "Two Rode Together" down in Brackettville, Texas, every morning with so many scripts under her arm — all good offers from Hollywood—she can hardly carry them. Ever since "Elmer Gntry" in which the former simon-pure Shirley played a lady on the skids, and for which she's sure to rate a "supporting actress" Oscar nomination, she's been in hot demand.

One of the scripts forwarded to Shirley is "The Music Man" with Robert Preston (My money says Doris Day has first chance at this); "The Young Doctors" is another and also John O'Hara's "The Rage to Live." John Ford, directing "Two Rode Together" with Jimmy Stewart, Richard Widmark and Shirley, says she'll be even more popular after this picture.

Library Transfer Completed

Legal papers transferring use of the properties and books and materials formerly held by the Cumberland Free Public Library to the newly established Allegany County Library were completed yesterday at the meeting of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

The document grants to the Board of Library Trustees of the county library all pamphlets, reading material, library equipment and personal property of the Cumberland library.

The Mayor and City Council of Cumberland assigned and conveyed to the county library trustees all rights and privileges to use what is termed the Allegany County Academy building, which housed the city library, and the "Old Jail House Property" adjoining it on Washington Street.

On June 13, the Mayor and Council agreed to the inclusion of the local library in the county system, together with the agreement to provide $10,000 for the county library.

Signing the agreement for the city were Mayor J. Edwin Keech and Wallace G. Ullery, City Clerk; for the board of directors of the Cumberland Free Public Library, James A. Avirett, president, and Miss Lillian C. Compton, secretary; for the county commissioners, John J. Rowan, board president, and James G. Stevenson, clerk to the board; for the county library trustees, Dr. Adam Baer, president, and Mrs. Jeannette Johnson, secretary, and finally by the judges of the Fourth Circuit, Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, and Associate Judges Neil C. Fraley and D. Kenneth McLaughlin.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joseph T. Kingsley, a business executive and retired Army major, died Friday of a heart condition in Walter Reed Army Medical Center. He was 74.

Eichner Seeks Top Assessor Job In County

The first application for the post of Allegany County supervisor of assessments was received yesterday by the Board of County Commissioners.

The post became vacant due to the death of Somerville Nicholson on Tuesday. Mr. Nicholson had held the position for the past 32 years.

Seeking the support of the commissioners was W. Edward Eichner, senior assessor in the assessment department who has been an assessor for the past 17 years.

He pointed out that he received a certificate in assessing from the University of Connecticut in 1945 and another certificate from the University of Maryland in his 15th year as an assessor.

He said he passed the national examination and is a Certified Assessment Evaluator in 1957 and added that he had been assigned by his former supervisor the duty of assessing all of the most valuable properties in the county.

This included Baltimore Street and the downtown business district and District 29, LaVale, the highest assessed area in the county, he said.

He asked the support of the commissioners.

Mr. Nicholson's successor will be appointed by the director of the State Department of Assessment and Taxation, Albert W. Ward.

The appointee will be taken from a list of five nominees submitted Ward by the county commissioners, according to the law that set up the Department of Assessment and Taxation.

"Everything I write is used! You know what kind of thrill that is! Doing good things will always be easy. It's turning out junk that's hard. I've been turning out good things like gangbusters.

"What good is the man who's sitting in a garrett, thinking one day he'll write a great piece of music. I don't knock the garrett as long as the guy is writing. It's the man who sits up there and talks the game that makes me sick.

"Creativity shows through everything. I'm working in a new concert hall. Sure I'm limited but so was Beethoven. So was Bach. There's no such thing as pure art. Life isn't and music is a reflection of life. Music should not be allowed to keep its white collar. If it's dirty, it's dirty. Did you know that doing music for commercials is the single most important source of income for side musicians in New York? The men who play commercials are of higher caliber than the musicians of the Philharmonic. What they play is new music, different music.

It's Part His, Now

Sewage Situation Aired As Commissioners Meet

The taxpayers of Allegany County will not be saddled with the expense of installing sewage systems in any specific locality, John J. Rowan, president of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, stated yesterday at the meeting in the Court House.

He re-asserted his previous stand when Edward J. Ryan, attorney for Frostburg, and James S. Getty, attorney for Lonaconing, appeared before the board.

Engineering surveys for proposed sewage disposal systems in Allegany County consistently have recommended that they be financed by revenue bonds rather than general obligation bonds. Users of the water system which also has the sewage disposal system will pay an additional charge for the disposal service.

That procedure has been followed in Cumberland.

Under such an arrangement, the citizens getting advantage from the disposal system, and they alone, would pay for the retirement of the revenue bonds. There would be no obligation upon the general taxpayers of the county.

Action as far as the county is concerned will be taken along the lines of establishing an Allegany County Sanitary Commission.

Commissioner John T. Mason, who is on the County Planning Commission, said his group would have appointed a sanitary commission last week, but the full membership was not present.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the board, also pointed out that before this sanitary unit can be set up a ruling must be obtained from the attorney general of Maryland.

He said he asked the attorney general to rule on the point of whether incorporated municipalities can be included under the sanitary commission.

This would decide whether the incorporated towns could be made part of a special taxing district set up to pay for a sewage system, he added.

Ryan pointed out that a sewage treatment plant proposed by Robert T. Regester, Baltimore engineering consultant, for Frostburg would cost $800,000.

The city is not in shape to handle a bond issue of this size, he added.

Ryan added that the only method of handling the problem would be by a sanitary district. But Rowan pointed out that in the end the citizens will be paying for the disposal system.

Frostburg, Rowan added, has been lax in preparing plans for its sewage treatment plant as proposed by the State Health Department.

He referred to a meeting he and Commissioner William A. Wilson attended as representatives of the county commissioners at which were Mayor Joseph James of Frostburg and officials of the State Health Department.

Ryan and Getty observed that once Frostburg stops dumping sewage into George's Creek the overall situation in the Georges Creek Valley will be improved.

Rowan said he feels that Frostburg should pay for its own system. He pointed out that Cumberland has assumed its responsibilities by building a disposal plant, and added that "we in LaVale are going to pay our own way."

Wilson commented that LaVale is a highly assessed section, but the entire Georges Creek Valley assessment, excluding Westernport, is about $15,000,000.

The Green Associates' survey for a sewage disposal system for the valley calls for an estimated expenditure of about $4,000,000.

Mason said steps forward will be taken when the sanitary commission is set up, and that will be in a week or two when the attorney general's opinion is received.

A week or two is not long to wait, he pointed out. Rowan and Ryan blamed the county sewage system on the "neglect of the past 50 years of the county's Republican administration."

New Verdict Is Sought In Crossing Case

Attorneys for the defendants in the $200,000 school bus-train accident damage case yesterday acted to file motions for judgments notwithstanding the verdict of the jury that in Garrett County Circuit Court Thursday returned awards totalling $47,500 to two girls injured in the tragic collision.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the driver of the school bus, Leroy Campbell, Oakland, were ordered to pay equally.

One of the plaintiffs, Sandra Jean Patton, 14, received an award of $25,000 while the other, Mary Jane Lee, 17, got $22,500.

The verdict also gave approximately $700 in medical expenses to the parents.

Walter W. Dawson, one of the attorneys for the railroad, said he was filing in Garrett County Circuit Court a motion for a judgment for a verdict not withstanding the jury. In the alternative the railroad will ask for a new trial.

William B. Somerville, Baltimore attorney who is a native of here, said in Cumberland yesterday the attorneys for the bus driver will file a similar motion in Garrett County Circuit Court today.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

HOLLYWOOD—The mother of the nymphet in "Lolita" will be Shelley Winters who reports to Stanley Kubrick in London on Nov. 17 to start the much-cussed novel. This means the postponement of her Broadway play, William Inge's "Natural Affection" (which "Lolita" ain't), until after the first of the year.

Another hot potato offered Shelley is "The Chapman Report" but even if the part would hold, she's decided to bypass it in favor of the stage. At least it's in no danger of being banned.

1960 has been a big year for Shelley. She won the supporting Oscar for "Diary of Anne Frank" and she has two pictures coming up, "Let No Man Write My Epitaph" and "Matter of Conviction." The only shadow was a personal one, the end of her marraige to Tony Franciosa.

Five of the prettiest faces and most fashionable forms in the U.S.A. will be on view in "Back Street" thanks to a tie-up between producer Ross Hunter and Harper's Bazaar. In this revamped version of Fanny Hurst's tear-jerker of extra-marital relations, Susan plays a fashion designer. The five most famous Bazaar cover girls and models will appear in the fashion show sequences.

So far, the only girl signed is Beatrice Amadon Miller—but four others will be selected to make the trip to the Universal-International studio. John Gavin is the errant husband, Vera Miles the wife, and David Miller is directing the picture.

Why cameramen go berserk—as "The Devil at Four O'clock" rolls on, Spencer Tracy looks younger and younger in every scene because Spence has lost 20 pounds and is taking off more! This is in preparation for "Judgment at Nuremburg," a role calling for him to look much more youthful than he did in "Inherit the Wind" and at the start of "Devil."

I ran into Spence and asked him what about all this talk that he's retiring. "Did I say that?" he asked stroking his chin. "Well, I'll say it again—unless another very good script comes along."

Herb Shriner called from Kansas City on his one-night concert hop show of folk music and Yankee humor. "I've been doing something I think you might be interested in hearing about," he said. "In every town we have hit — and we've covered 7,000 miles in four weeks — I've been putting on a one-man 'get out and vote' campaign.

"I just get the local telephone directory and call as many names as I can, introducing myself and urging whoever answers to be sure to vote! No, I'm not plugging for any particular candidate —that's not quite fair the way I see it. But the most American of all privileges is voting—and no matter who you are for—vote for him!"

More deals are set at parties over martinis and cheese "dips" than you'd suspect. At the cocktail party hosted by the Josh Logans in New York the other evening, among the guests were Jack Lemmon and also George Axelrod. Playwright Axelrod just happens to be writing the adaptation of Moss Hart's "Act One" which Josh is bringing to the movies.

So what happens? The three, Logan, Axelrod and Jack Lemmon get in a corner and talk about Jack's playing the life story of Moss on the screen. Lemmon's play "Face of a Hero" was dubbed a bit of a lemon by the New York critics which means he might be ripe for a new picture.

Shirley Jones shows up on the set of "Two Rode Together" down in Brackettville, Texas, every morning with so many scripts under her arm — all good offers from Hollywood—she can hardly carry them. Ever since "Elmer Gntry" in which the former simon-pure Shirley played a lady on the skids, and for which she's sure to rate a "supporting actress" Oscar nomination, she's been in hot demand.

One of the scripts forwarded to Shirley is "The Music Man" with Robert Preston (My money says Doris Day has first chance at this); "The Young Doctors" is another and also John O'Hara's "The Rage to Live." John Ford, directing "Two Rode Together" with Jimmy Stewart, Richard Widmark and Shirley, says she'll be even more popular after this picture.

Library Transfer Completed

Legal papers transferring use of the properties and books and materials formerly held by the Cumberland Free Public Library to the newly established Allegany County Library were completed yesterday at the meeting of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

The document grants to the Board of Library Trustees of the county library all pamphlets, reading material, library equipment and personal property of the Cumberland library.

The Mayor and City Council of Cumberland assigned and conveyed to the county library trustees all rights and privileges to use what is termed the Allegany County Academy building, which housed the city library, and the "Old Jail House Property" adjoining it on Washington Street.

On June 13, the Mayor and Council agreed to the inclusion of the local library in the county system, together with the agreement to provide $10,000 for the county library.

Signing the agreement for the city were Mayor J. Edwin Keech and Wallace G. Ullery, City Clerk; for the board of directors of the Cumberland Free Public Library, James A. Avirett, president, and Miss Lillian C. Compton, secretary; for the county commissioners, John J. Rowan, board president, and James G. Stevenson, clerk to the board; for the county library trustees, Dr. Adam Baer, president, and Mrs. Jeannette Johnson, secretary, and finally by the judges of the Fourth Circuit, Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, and Associate Judges Neil C. Fraley and D. Kenneth McLaughlin.

Eichner Seeks Top Assessor Job In County

The first application for the post of Allegany County supervisor of assessments was received yesterday by the Board of County Commissioners.

The post became vacant due to the death of Somerville Nicholson on Tuesday. Mr. Nicholson had held the position for the past 32 years.

Seeking the support of the commissioners was W. Edward Eichner, senior assessor in the assessment department who has been an assessor for the past 17 years.

He pointed out that he received a certificate in assessing from the University of Connecticut in 1945 and another certificate from the University of Maryland in his 15th year as an assessor.

He said he passed the national examination and is a Certified Assessment Evaluator in 1957 and added that he had been assigned by his former supervisor the duty of assessing all of the most valuable properties in the county.

This included Baltimore Street and the downtown business district and District 29, LaVale, the highest assessed area in the county, he said.

He asked the support of the commissioners.

Mr. Nicholson's successor will be appointed by the director of the State Department of Assessment and Taxation, Albert W. Ward.

The appointee will be taken from a list of five nominees submitted Ward by the county commissioners, according to the law that set up the Department of Assessment and Taxation.

Fire Warnings Issued In W.Va. By Carl Weimer

Marshal Notes Danger Season

By JOHN KADY

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Cold weather is fire weather and West Virginia Fire Marshal Carl Weimer Thursday warned all West Virginians that heating units should be given a thorough going-over.

Heating units in residences usually go full tilt during cold winter months and it is senseless to take dangerous chances, he declared.

"All flues, furnaces, gas burners and so on should be checked and, if need be, cleaned," Weimer said. "I have seen a house ignited by hot bricks that were next to an overheated flue."

The fire marshal said a fire in Parkersburg last week that claimed six lives apparently started as a result of a hot water tank's heating unit being too close to a wall.

"That's one of the things that should be checked," Weimer said.

Weimer also pointed out that children, especially, should be taught to be careful around open fires in the house.

"Children should be taught not to leave clothing and other inflammable material in the vicinity of heaters, hot water tanks and other heating appliances," he said.

He also warned against dangers from fuel, such as gasoline or oil, that is piped into a heating unit. "This should be checked especially close," he said.

Also of prime importance is learning how to get out of a burning house.

Using the Parkersburg fire as an example, Weimer said, "It's hard to think that six people could have died in that fire." He noted that there were plenty of windows and doors by which the occupants could have escaped if they had been properly taught how.

Weimer also renewed a warning that he would prosecute, if at all possible, any persons who seem to be responsible for fire deaths.

He said he meant such things as "parents going out and getting drunk and locking their children in the house." He said the same goes for baby sitters who leave their charges unattended.

West Virginia Mountains Seen As Ideal For Many Underground Facilities

By CARTER B. McDAVID
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI) — A Pittsburgh engineering consultant Thursday predicted big things ahead for West Virginia resulting from eventual underground construction of a new Civil Defense control unit.

The unit, the first of its kind, was proposed for a big limestone excavation at Greer, near Morgantown.

Consultant J. Callhan of Morris-Knowles Inc. said the project, for which preliminary design work has been started, could lead to West Virginia, "particularly West Virginia University and the Morgantown area, becoming the world's largest research center."

Callahan predicted that the center would attract numerous other industries to the underground site at Greer, as well as elsewhere in the Morgantown area.

Ready In 18 Months

The legislature is expected to be asked to provide $250,000 to match a similar amount of federal funds. If the money is appropriated by the lawmakers, Callahan said construction could get underway in March or April, since the necessary preliminary plan design will have been complete by that time.

The proposed center probably would employ more than 250 persons on a full time basis when completed and could be in use within 18 months after construction is started, Callahan said.

"The Greer site probably cannot be matched by another state as an underground facility," he said. "It has available nearby coal, railroads, good roads, plus the advantages of West Virginia University and the U. S. Bureau of Mines in Morgantown."

He said the proposed civil defense center would use only one-tenth of the space that can be excavated for underground industrial use at the Greer site.

Callahan said at least two international firms have expressed an interest in locating in the underground site, provided the excavation work is done.

'Bright Spot'

"This state is probably the richest in the country in terms of mineral availability, location and other requirements needed by industry," Callahan said.

"If the nuclear - coal gasification pilot plant proposal announced by Governor Underwood, as well as the computing and research center at WVU are recognized, West Virginia's economic picture would become one of the brightest in the country."

Once the limestone site is prepared for the center, Callahan said he believes other industries and organizations interested in such underground facilities would be inclined to move operations there.

"This is especially true of defense industries, as well as those that must maintain records, etc," he said. "This area is one with underground facilities. West Virginia is ideally suited as few states are."

Fire Warnings Issued In W.Va. By Carl Weimer

Marshal Notes Danger Season

By JOHN KADY

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Cold weather is fire weather and West Virginia Fire Marshal Carl Weimer Thursday warned all West Virginians that heating units should be given a thorough going-over.

Heating units in residences usually go full tilt during cold winter months and it is senseless to take dangerous chances, he declared.

"All flues, furnaces, gas burners and so on should be checked and, if need be, cleaned," Weimer said. "I have seen a house ignited by hot bricks that were next to an overheated flue."

The fire marshal said a fire in Parkersburg last week that claimed six lives apparently started as a result of a hot water tank's heating unit being too close to a wall.

"That's one of the things that should be checked," Weimer said.

Weimer also pointed out that children, especially, should be taught to be careful around open fires in the house.

"Children should be taught not to leave clothing and other inflammable material in the vicinity of heaters, hot water tanks and other heating appliances," he said.

He also warned against dangers from fuel, such as gasoline or oil, that is piped into a heating unit. "This should be checked especially close," he said.

Also of prime importance is learning how to get out of a burning house.

Using the Parkersburg fire as an example, Weimer said, "It's hard to think that six people could have died in that fire." He noted that there were plenty of windows and doors by which the occupants could have escaped if they had been properly taught how.

Weimer also renewed a warning that he would prosecute, if at all possible, any persons who seem to be responsible for fire deaths.

He said he meant such things as "parents going out and getting drunk and locking their children in the house." He said the same goes for baby sitters who leave their charges unattended.

West Virginia Mountains Seen As Ideal For Many Underground Facilities

By CARTER B. McDAVID
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI) — A Pittsburgh engineering consultant Thursday predicted big things ahead for West Virginia resulting from eventual underground construction of a new Civil Defense control unit.

The unit, the first of its kind, was proposed for a big limestone excavation at Greer, near Morgantown.

Consultant J. Callhan of Morris-Knowles Inc. said the project, for which preliminary design work has been started, could lead to West Virginia, "particularly West Virginia University and the Morgantown area, becoming the world's largest research center."

Callahan predicted that the center would attract numerous other industries to the underground site at Greer, as well as elsewhere in the Morgantown area.

Ready In 18 Months

The legislature is expected to be asked to provide $250,000 to match a similar amount of federal funds. If the money is appropriated by the lawmakers, Callahan said construction could get underway in March or April, since the necessary preliminary plan design will have been complete by that time.

The proposed center probably would employ more than 250 persons on a full time basis when completed and could be in use within 18 months after construction is started, Callahan said.

"The Greer site probably cannot be matched by another state as an underground facility," he said. "It has available nearby coal, railroads, good roads, plus the advantages of West Virginia University and the U. S. Bureau of Mines in Morgantown."

He said the proposed civil defense center would use only one-tenth of the space that can be excavated for underground industrial use at the Greer site.

Callahan said at least two international firms have expressed an interest in locating in the underground site, provided the excavation work is done.

'Bright Spot'

"This state is probably the richest in the country in terms of mineral availability, location and other requirements needed by industry," Callahan said.

"If the nuclear - coal gasification pilot plant proposal announced by Governor Underwood, as well as the computing and research center at WVU are recognized, West Virginia's economic picture would become one of the brightest in the country."

Once the limestone site is prepared for the center, Callahan said he believes other industries and organizations interested in such underground facilities would be inclined to move operations there.

"This is especially true of defense industries, as well as those that must maintain records, etc," he said. "This area is one with underground facilities. West Virginia is ideally suited as few states are."

Increasing Support For 'Mac' Mathias

Those who are eager to see responsible representation in Congress restored to the Sixth District will be cheered to note the increasing support for Charles McC. Mathias which has developed in the final weeks of the campaign.

In announcing editorial endorsement of Mr. Mathias the day before yesterday, both The Sun of Baltimore and The Evening Star of Washington found his thinking more representative of the district as a whole than that of the Democratic incumbent, Rep. John R. Foley.

We think this is a noteworthy point. For example, Mr. Foley voted for the Poage bill to impose rigid controls on agriculture. Asked why he had done so in the face of opposition from the Farm Bureau and the Grange, he replied that he got his farm advice from the Farmers Union. That organization has no representation in Maryland, while the Farm Bureau and the Grange have several thousand members in the Sixth District alone. Thus, Midwestern members of the Farmers Union, instead of the farmers of the Sixth District, were getting the benefit of Mr. Foley's representation in Congress.

We do not question Mr. Foley's right as a Member of Congress to vote any way he pleases on any bill, so long as he votes his sincere convictions. But if those convictions are part of a political philosophy that is out of step with the general trend of thought in his district, then the voters of the district must wonder whether they are adequately represented. We do not think that they are. Mr. Foley, who is anything but moderate in his views, is representing a district that, as a whole, is politically moderate and needs a Congressman of the same political coloration. We believe Charles "Mac" Mathias is that man.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Oh! So Important

Admiral Ben Moreell, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Americans for Constitutional Action, issued a mimeograph broadside to the effect:

"The approaching election is without question the most crucial in the history of our Republic — and the most momentous for the rest of the world."

This sentence I have heard or seen all my life since I was a small boy when Mark Hanna chose William McKinley to defeat William Jennings Bryan. Each time, it is the most important, the most momentous, the most significant election for one reason or another. However, the Republic manages to survive the indiscretions of its citizens.

Those who wrote the American Constitution put real power in the Congress and therefore in the people. If Congress functions as it should, we can survive such a President as Chester Arthur or Warren Harding or even such a one as Woodrow Wilson or Franklin D. Roosevelt. The very strong Presidents, such as Andrew Jackson and Abraham Lincoln, managed to dominate Congress, for one reason or another, and a weak President, like Dwight D. Eisenhower, became dependent upon an antagonistic Congress which cooperated fully for the country's sake—but always we managed to survive our worst errors or best judgments.

My point is that as long as an informed people is alert, government cannot destroy the country. Admiral Moreell's statement contains this:

"I stand with those who believe that the great conflict of our age is between Individualism and Collectivism, to determine whether the individual, as a child of God, endowed by Him with certain inalienable rights, will be permitted to strive for a life in peaceful devotion to his God and in love of his neighbor; or, alternatively, whether his life is to be subordinated to the 'will of the majority,' a majority not guided by eternal and absolute laws of right and wrong, but solely by political and social practices fashionable at the time —a majority whose rule is actually dictated by a minority skilled at political manipulation."

I do not understand what this means. Does Admiral Moreell favor a dictatorship or an absolute monarchy or government by an elite? The "majority" is in the nature of a free society, although it is true that Hitler was chosen by a majority and so was Mussolini.

What is the alternative to a majority? It could only be a minority. How does one decide which minority is to be placed in office? Would it have been preferable to make Thomas E. Dewey President because he was defeated by Harry Truman? Are we to choose the man who is defeated rather than the man who is elected? Or shall we have a President elected only by those who understand "eternal and absolute laws of right and wrong"? Perhaps we might have an Electoral College consisting of bishops, rabbis and Christian Science readers to pick a President or we might have a Senate of university presidents to do that job!

Admiral Moreell's real objection to the majority is that it is manipulated by a minority. The word, "manipulated," is ill-chosen. It is true that men follow leaders. That is in the nature of things. Sometimes a leader is a great orator or a brilliant military leader or a noble politician. But human beings do have a way of hitching their wagon to a star and we are not all stars.

The quality of leadership is rare. It is noted in small boys who manage, for better or for worse, to be followed by other small boys. Not all men can be taken at their own valuation. Some men like to lead but others will not follow them. They become disillusioned and frustrated, because while they know the best way to do things, nobody agrees on who is the one who should do them. Trotzsky was an example of the extremely competent, efficient, knowledgeable man who knew precisely what should be done and when he got the chance, he did everything perfectly. But others preferred not to have him about. Stalin, not worthy of Trotzsky's toe, exiled the better man and eventually had him killed. Trotzky was a great man but he could not lead; Stalin was not a great man but he could lead other men. So Talleyrand was probably a bigger man than Napoleon whom he survived; but men died for Napoleon. Leadership must evoke adoration, personal adoration.

Ku Klux Klan Embarrasses Nixon By Riding Hard Against Kennedy

By Drew Pearson

(Editor's Note—Drew Pearson has been traveling through various parts of the United States, reporting on some of the hottest election races.)

MIAMI.—The Klu Klux Klan is riding again. It's a straggly, disorganized ride, but in some places it makes up in vitriol what it lacks in numbers. And, embarrassing as it must be to the Vice President, who definitely does not want Klan support, all the Klan's efforts are focused toward defeating Senator Kennedy. Here is the box score to date.

In Florida, Grand Dragon W. J. Griffin, of the Florida Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, has come out for Nixon.

Also in Florida, Bill Hendrix, who rides in allegedly regal robes at the head of the Southern Knights of the KKK, a rival organization, has come out for the States Rights Party. He's boosting Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas and Adm. John Crommelin of Wetumpka, Ala., the rabid anti-Semite, anti-Catholic.

In Tennessee, John Kasper, the New Jerseyite who migrated to the South to lead various rabbles, and cooperates with the Klan, has announced for Nixon. Says Kasper: "Kennedy if elected should be impeached before the sun rises."

In Alabama, a meeting was held in the Tuscaloosa County Courthouse October 8, attended by all Klaverns of the Alabama Knights of the KKK, Inc. at which Grand Dragon Bob Shelton announced:

"Klansmen should stay away from Kennedy and keep an eye on John Patterson and Charles Merriweather. They are tools of the Jews."

Ironic fact is that Shelton had helped to elect Patterson, and after his election was made chief state sales representative of the Goodrich Tire Company, in which job he succeeded in landing a $1,600,000 tire contract from the state of Alabama for Goodrich. When Governor Patterson came out for Kennedy, however, his relations with Shelton cooled.

In South Carolina, where the Klan, operating under the Association of South Carolina Ku Klux Klans, has one of its largest enrollments, a secret message was sent to all members over the signature "A-001." This is the code for Grand Dragon Robert Hodges of Columbia. The message invited all Klansmen to attend a cross burning and motorcade at Estill, S. C., on October 29, at 8 p. m. Page 2 of the invitation made it clear that the Klan is not for Kennedy. It read:

"Wake Up Protestant!"

". . . . You cannot afford to support or vote for anyone or group that represents the Roman Catholic Church. To do so is to vote against your God, and Savior, and your church, your country and even yourself since the Catholic Church is directly opposed to Protestant churches, your America, and especially you as a Protestant. You are regarded as a heretic by the Catholic Church. Heaven help your soul if you vote away your religious liberty. Judge the Roman Catholic Church in the future by her history in the past. Before you vote be sure to read the Knights of Columbus oath reproduced from the Congressional Record. Do it now. It's later than you think."

Democrats In Dixie

Most interesting political development below the Mason-Dixon Line is the manner in which Old Guard Democrats, hitherto aloof, have been jumping aboard the Kennedy bandwagon.

What's happened in Florida indicates what is generally happening in other Southern states. Leaders are afraid of a Kennedy victory which would leave the South on the losing side and in no position to ask for patronage and military bases.

Florida at first was considered so overwhelmingly pro-Nixon that Kennedy headquarters issued orders not to waste a single dollar there.

The state was crossed off the Kennedy list. Sen. George Smathers of Florida, who had been put in charge of the Kennedy campaign in the South, spent his time every place except his home state.

Not even one Kennedy-Johnson headquarters was opened in the metropolis of Miami.

Then a small group of younger Democratic dynamos, including Congressman Dante Fascell of Miami, Arthur Courshon of Washington Federal Savings and Loan in Miami Beach, Congressman Bob Sikes of Crestview, and several backers of former Sen. Claude Pepper, decided to make a showing for Kennedy even if the state had been written off for Nixon.

At first it was very tough going. Ferris Bryant, the States Rights governor-to-be, wouldn't mention Kennedy's name. Sen. Spessard Holland would admit that Lyndon Johnson was running, but not Kennedy.

Then Johnson came to Miami and held a private meeting with top Florida Democrats. Johnson was weary from an all-day-and-most-of-the-night schedule. For a man who once suffered a massive coronary he was working much too hard. And his words were also hard.

"This boy Kennedy is going to win," Johnson warned top Florida Democrats. "And he's going to win big. Democrats all over the nation are helping him. They've buried differences and are pitching in to make this a united party.

"If he wins without the South, I'm warning you," said Johnson, his face drawn from the ardor of the campaign, his eyes snapping with emotion. "I'm warning you b------- are going to be dead. You'll get nothing out of the next Congress and the Kennedy Administration. I can tell you. I know."

After that old guard Democrats really began to work.

Note—In Georgia, Sen. Richard Russell, sometimes called "Mr. Democrat," is repeating history. During the 1952 election Russell made no speeches for Stevenson. He went to Europe. During the '56 election, Russell also made no speeches for Stevenson. He was out of the country. This time Russell went to Europe a little earlier, traveling on an Armed Services Committee inspection trip—at the taxpayers' expense. Just arrived home, once again he'll make no speeches for the Democratic ticket.

Lawrence Predicts Kennedy Will Win Election

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The time has come to write a final forecast on the outcome of the election, as this correspondent has done in 11 Presidential contests. Nine of these turned out to be right.

The formula used disregards personalities, campaign oratory, crowds and claims of the rival political camps. For in 1920, James M. Cox, Democrat, the better personality, the better campaigner and the better exponent of issues, was defeated by a landslide. Similarly, in 1924, John W. Davis, Democrat, the better equipped man and the more popular personality, was defeated. Few candidates have had a more attractive personality than Al Smith, Democrat, but in 1928 he went down to defeat in a landslide because of the prosperity issue and the "wet" issue. Wendell Willkie drew the bigger crowds in 1940, but lost because an emotional issue—the war situation—was dominant, and it meant an improvement in employment.

This writer has appraised every Presidential campaign on the basis of two sets of factors—emotional issues and economic issues.

The emotional issues cover, for instance, the question of peace or war. The economic issues cover "pocketbook" problems, such as unemployment, cost of living, and business conditions in different sections of the country.

On the basis of the two main categories of issues, this writer would have no hesitation in predicting the election of Vice President Nixon. The case for a change of party has not been persuasive, and the areas where economic conditions are good outweigh those in which they are bad. The Eisenhower administration has kept the country out of war and has exercised restraint as against provocations to war.

Something else, however, has arisen which can be classified as "emotional." It is the so-called "religious issue." This has been given various interpretations and has usually been thought to mean that the anti-Catholic propaganda would draw enough Protestant Democrats away from their ticket to be decisive in electing Mr. Nixon. But it turns out, according to the latest Gallup Poll, that there is a Catholic bloc amounting to perhaps as many as 5,000,000 who will turn from the Republican Party and give Senator Kennedy the victory.

There will be some turning from the Democratic Party on the part of Protestants in the South and in some other states, but the number apparently will not appreciably affect the result, as it is not big enough to offset the enormous defection of Catholic Republicans, especially in the populous states to which are allocated large electoral votes.

On this basis, the election of Senator Kennedy is assured, and the result in the Electoral College may not even be close. Enough electoral votes to win will be obtained in the big states of the North and West, without regard to his losses in the South. Indeed the Catholic bloc may swell the totals for the Democrats in nearly all the Northern states.

Many Catholics, of course, especially in the middle and upper income groups, will stick with the Republican ticket, but the Gallup Poll shows that, while Mr. Eisenhower got '9 per cent of the total Catholic vote in 1956, only about 21 per cent will be for Mr. Nixon, with 79 per cent going to Senator Kennedy. The switch is not, of course, entirely due to religion but doubtless to other issues, such as local economic conditions. Anything like a change of 28 percentage points on a nationwide basis is, however, phenomenal, and no other religious group shows such a shift this year, according to the Gallup Poll.

This writer believed early in the campaign—before the Gallup Poll was made—that the "religious issue" would not be consequential, as one prejudice would offset the other. The latest data indicate that its effect will be one-sided—that it is pro-Kennedy.

For the record, therefore, this writer is giving his judgment without taking into account the religious factor. Instead, weight is given to the preponderant sentiment of the country, which favors continuity of foreign policy and is against possible involvement in war that might come through a change in personnel in high places. Prime importance is attached, moreover, to the economic conditions of the country according to available data on personal incomes generally and on farm income, and to the impact of unemployment in certain states. It is significant that in many states the people as a whole are enjoying the highest personal income in our history. Here is the table, based on a combination of these two customary factors, but eliminating entirely the religious issue:

Arizona	4	New Hampshire	4
California	32	New Jersey	16
Colorado	6	New York	45
Delaware	3	North Dakota	4
Florida	10	Ohio	25
Hawaii	3	Oklahoma	8
Idaho	4	Oregon	6
Illinois	27	South Dakota	4
Indiana	13	Utah	4
Kansas	8	Vermont	3
Maine	5	Virginia	12
Maryland	9	Washington	9
Nebraska	6	Wisconsin	12
Nevada	3	Wyoming	3

For Nixon: Total 288 (needed to win 269).

If all the Southern states with a favorable economic climate were included, such as Texas and North Carolina, it would run the total for Mr. Nixon higher, or would offset in large part a possible loss of some of the above Northern states, like New York. So this represents a table based on the minimum necessary to win, rather than the actual line-up of all the states where economic conditions as a whole are good.

But, on the basis of the indicated Catholic shift, which will affect nearly all states, this writer expects to see a Kennedy majority in electoral votes.

WHO SUCCEEDS HERTER?— Republican campaign strategists are trying to smoke out presidential candidate John F. Kennedy's choice of a secretary of state should he win the election.

With all the concentration on foreign policy, the GOP masterminds figure that if they can force some hints out of him, they'll be able to go into the fellow's record and attack him while the campaign is still in progress.

So far their efforts have been to no avail. They've had to content themselves with discussing the attitudes of Chester Bowles and Adlai Stevenson, the two Democrats most prominently mentioned for the Cabinet post.

In recent days, however, a new name has cropped up in speculation. He is Sen. William J. Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat, who is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Fulbright has a long, and to Democrats, distinguished record in taking pot-shots at President Eisenhower's foreign policy. Thus far, the replies of the State Department and of Vice President Richard M. Nixon have not fazed him. And he has a record of being on the same side of most foreign policy matters as has Senator Kennedy.

Why Backache Is Common In Older Persons

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

My elderly aunt complained bitterly of backache that continued despite an expensive brace and a new heating pad. "I hate to take aspirin but it's the only thing that relieves me," she said. "Is there anything else you can suggest?"

X-ray of the spine showed shrinking of the vertebras and evidence of mineral deficiencies. My relative had osteoporosis, a common cause of backache in older people. She was given a prescription for certain hormones and within 10 days was well enough to visit her son's farm.

Lack of sex hormones affects the calcium and phosphorus content of bone. This explains why osteoporosis develops several years after the menopause or after age 60 in men. We know now that X-ray may show the typical changes of the disorder long before backache and weakness arise. Treatment at this time will reverse the process.

Diet plays a role. Many oldsters are not good eaters; others do not absorb minerals and proteins, even when adequate amounts are taken. Correcting the diet with protein rich foods is recommended, along with vitamins A and D and dicalcium phosphate. But these measures are not half as effective as hormones.

Various glandular products restore the mineral balance in these bones. Some are a balanced combination of male and female hormones. Others are hormones stripped of the sex stimulating factor. This leaves the protein and mineral building ingredients to aid bony tissues. These are prescription products that must be used according to directions.

Relief of pain occurs within a few weeks and the sufferers feel and look stronger. They are better able to endure the ordinary strains of life.

(Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on osteoporosis if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

EARLY RISER

W. W. writes: All my life I have been an early riser. I awaken at 5:30 or 6 a. m. slept out and refreshed. I thoroughly enjoy the morning freshness and do my best work at that time. My friends insist that at my age (68) I should remain in bed as late as possible, even though my health is excellent. Do you see any reason for breaking this lifelong habit?

REPLY

No. You recall the old saying, "Early to bed, early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy, and wise." There is no harm in getting up early, especially if you are refreshed and ready to go. People who do their best work in the morning are called matutinophiles. On the other hand, matutinophobes sleep later and need time to get going.

WATER AND ARTERIES

REPLY

No. If you drink more water than the body needs, the excess will be eliminated by the kidneys.

SENSITIVE TO ANTIBIOTICS

D. E. L. writes: I'm allergic to penicillin and streptomycin. Should I wear a dog tag with this information in case I'm ever knocked unconscious in an auto mishap?

REPLY

It is a good idea but not necessary. The antibiotics are given for infections and would not be used unless infection developed several days after a concussion.

CHANGEABLE CHILDREN

Mrs. T. writes: Can a 5 year old who detests meat grow up normally?

REPLY

Yes. By the time this answer appears in print, your youngster may be eating meat exclusively. The likes and dislikes of children vary from month to month. Let them alone and eventually the majority learn to eat a balanced diet.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

It's fun tracking back the origin of stories some scribes have the gall to claim they "originated." Here are two you may recognize, for instance, that Maxwell Droke spotted in a joke-book published in the 1870's:

1. Before the War Between the States, a Southern proprietor of a crossroads store called to his servant, "Amos, have you watered the whisky?" "Yas, suh," "Sanded the sugar?" "Yas, suh." "Added dirt to the pepper?" "Yas, suh." "That's fine, Amos. Now you can come in to prayers."

2. A hat was passed around a certain congregation to provide a purse for the visiting minister. It came back absolutely empty. The visiting minister shook it mournfully, then raised his eyes to high heaven and exclaimed, "I thank Thee, dear Lord, that I got my hat back from this congregation!"

Letters To The Editor

Sir:

We have read and heard a lot about prestige recently. Most persons would agree that Vice President Nixon has overstated our prestige and Senator Kennedy has understated our prestige if voting in the United Nations is an indication.

Just how important is prestige? Senator Kennedy's Catholic faith and all Protestant religions would be nonexistent today if prestige at the time of the Crucifixion had been used as the deciding criterion.

President Eisenhower's decision to intervene in the Suez crisis against two of our foremost allies, England and France, was not an easy one. Many of us at the time doubted the wisdom of the decision. Time, however, has proved that his action was correct although it decreased our prestige with many English and French citizens. I am inclined to believe that many of the abstentions of the African nations in voting on the seating of Red China were influenced considerably by President Eisenhower's decision to do what was right rather than what was popular.

In recent elections we were informed by Governor Stevenson, Senator Symington, a former Secretary of the Air Force, and others that our air power and other military defenses were inadequate. Many of us agreed with them even though Mr. Eisenhower insisted these statements were not true. It was shocking to learn through the U-2 incident last May that, at the same time these reckless charges were being made, our U-2 planes were flying over Russia and that Mr. Khrushchev was aware of these flights but could do nothing about them. I note with particular interest the absence of Senator Symington's expert evaluations in the present campaign.

President Eisenhower offered in his UN speech a proposal for a worldwide election under UN supervision to determine the acceptance or rejection of the policies of the free world. Wouldn't Khrushchev have accepted this challenge if our prestige as leader of the free world had diminished to the extent claimed recently by Senator Kennedy? The population of Communist - dominated countries is far in excess of that of the West.

Senator Kennedy has demanded that the "confidential" report by the U.S. Intelligence Agency be released. Even if he could find in history a precedent for doing so, the release of the report could possibly serve only one purpose—that of fulfilling Mr. Kennedy's great desire and ambition to be President. I cannot conceive of any way in which the release of this report would enhance our prestige although it would undoubtedly give Pravda its most effective propaganda weapon in years. As a college professor of business administration, I am quite confident that Joseph Kennedy, father of Senator Kennedy, would not have accumulated 400 million dollars if he had announced publicly that he felt his customers no longer had the confidence in his product that they once had.

Although I admire Senator Kennedy's brilliant command of historical quotations, his lack of constructive criticism regarding what he feels is our loss of prestige is readily apparent. He speaks in detail of our shortcomings but in glowing generalities about what he would do to increase our stature. To say that he would "move forward" is not enough. If he could not provide the leadership necessary in the August session of Congress to pass a single bill of major importance although his party commanded a two-thirds majority, how can we be confident that he can lead the free world unless he spells out specifically what he plans to do?

Sincerely yours,
RICHARD K. BOLYARD

Increasing Support For 'Mac' Mathias

Those who are eager to see responsible representation in Congress restored to the Sixth District will be cheered to note the increasing support for Charles McC. Mathias which has developed in the final weeks of the campaign.

In announcing editorial endorsement of Mr. Mathias the day before yesterday, both The Sun of Baltimore and The Evening Star of Washington found his thinking more representative of the district as a whole than that of the Democratic incumbent, Rep. John R. Foley.

We think this is a noteworthy point. For example, Mr. Foley voted for the Poage bill to impose rigid controls on agriculture. Asked why he had done so in the face of opposition from the Farm Bureau and the Grange, he replied that he got his farm advice from the Farmers Union. That organization has no representation in Maryland, while the Farm Bureau and the Grange have several thousand members in the Sixth District alone. Thus, Midwestern members of the Farmers Union, instead of the farmers of the Sixth District, were getting the benefit of Mr. Foley's representation in Congress.

We do not question Mr. Foley's right as a Member of Congress to vote any way he pleases on any bill, so long as he votes his sincere convictions. But if those convictions are part of a political philosophy that is out of step with the general trend of thought in his district, then the voters of the district must wonder whether they are adequately represented. We do not think that they are. Mr. Foley, who is anything but moderate in his views, is representing a district that, as a whole, is politically moderate and needs a Congressman of the same political coloration. We believe Charles "Mac" Mathias is that man.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Oh! So Important

Admiral Ben Moreell, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Americans for Constitutional Action, issued a mimeograph broadside to the effect:

"The approaching election is without question the most crucial in the history of our Republic — and the most momentous for the rest of the world."

This sentence I have heard or seen all my life since I was a small boy when Mark Hanna chose William McKinley to defeat William Jennings Bryan. Each time, it is the most important, the most momentous, the most significant election for one reason or another. However, the Republic manages to survive the indiscretions of its citizens.

Those who wrote the American Constitution put real power in the Congress and therefore in the people. If Congress functions as it should, we can survive such a President as Chester Arthur or Warren Harding or even such a one as Woodrow Wilson or Franklin D. Roosevelt. The very strong Presidents, such as Andrew Jackson and Abraham Lincoln, managed to dominate Congress, for one reason or another, and a weak President, like Dwight D. Eisenhower, became dependent upon an antagonistic Congress which cooperated fully for the country's sake—but always we managed to survive our worst errors or best judgments.

My point is that as long as an informed people is alert, government cannot destroy the country. Admiral Moreell's statement contains this:

"I stand with those who believe that the great conflict of our age is between Individualism and Collectivism, to determine whether the individual, as a child of God, endowed by Him with certain inalienable rights, will be permitted to strive for a life in peaceful devotion to his God and in love of his neighbor; or, alternatively, whether his life is to be subordinated to the 'will of the majority,' a majority not guided by eternal and absolute laws of right and wrong, but solely by political and social practices fashionable at the time —a majority whose rule is actually dictated by a minority skilled at political manipulation."

I do not understand what this means. Does Admiral Moreell favor a dictatorship or an absolute monarchy or government by an elite? The "majority" is in the nature of a free society, although it is true that Hitler was chosen by a majority and so was Mussolini.

What is the alternative to a majority? It could only be a minority. How does one decide which minority is to be placed in office? Would it have been preferable to make Thomas E. Dewey President because he was defeated by Harry Truman? Are we to choose the man who is defeated rather than the man who is elected? Or shall we have a President elected only by those who understand "eternal and absolute laws of right and wrong"? Perhaps we might have an Electoral College consisting of bishops, rabbis and Christian Science readers to pick a President or we might have a Senate of university presidents to do that job!

Admiral Morcell's real objection to the majority is that it is manipulated by a minority. The word, "manipulated," is ill-chosen. It is true that men follow leaders. That is in the nature of things. Sometimes a leader is a great orator or a brilliant military leader or a noble politician. But human beings do have a way of hitching their wagon to a star and we are not all stars.

The quality of leadership is rare. It is noted in small boys who manage, for better or for worse, to be followed by other small boys. Not all men can be taken at their own valuation. Some men like to lead but others will not follow them. They become disillusioned and frustrated, because while they know the best way to do things, nobody agrees on who is the one who should do them. Trotzsky was an example of the extremely competent, efficient, knowledgeable man who knew precisely what should be done and when he got the chance, he did everything perfectly. But others preferred not to have him about. Stalin, not worthy of Trotzsky's toe, exiled the better man and eventually had him killed. Trotzky was a great man but he could not lead; Stalin was not a great man but he could lead other men. So Talleyrand was probably a bigger man than Napoleon whom he survived; but men died for Napoleon. Leadership must evoke adoration, personal adoration.

'See – It's A Perfect Fit'

Lawrence Predicts Kennedy Will Win Election

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The time has come to write a final forecast on the outcome of the election, as this correspondent has done in 11 Presidential contests. Nine of these turned out to be right.

The formula used disregards personalities, campaign oratory, crowds and claims of the rival political camps. For in 1920, James M. Cox, Democrat, the better personality, the better campaigner and the better exponent of issues, was defeated by a landslide. Similarly, in 1924, John W. Davis, Democrat, the better equipped man and the more popular personality, was defeated. Few candidates have had a more attractive personality than Al Smith, Democrat, but in 1928 he went down to defeat in a landslide because of the prosperity issue and the "wet" issue. Wendell Willkie drew the bigger crowds in 1940, but lost because an emotional issue—the war situation—was dominant, and it meant an improvement in employment.

This writer has appraised every Presidential campaign on the basis of two sets of factors—emotional issues and economic issues.

The emotional issues cover, for instance, the question of peace or war. The economic issues cover "pocketbook" problems, such as unemployment, cost of living, and business conditions in different sections of the country.

On the basis of the two main categories of issues, this writer would have no hesitation in predicting the election of Vice President Nixon. The case for a change of party has not been persuasive, and the areas where economic conditions are good outweigh those in which they are bad. The Eisenhower administration has kept the country out of war and has exercised restraint as against provocations to war.

Something else, however, has arisen which can be classified as "emotional." It is the so-called "religious issue." This has been given various interpretations and has usually been thought to mean that the anti-Catholic propaganda would draw enough Protestant Democrats away from their ticket to be decisive in electing Mr. Nixon. But it turns out, according to the latest Gallup Poll, that there is a Catholic bloc amounting to perhaps as many as 5,000,000 who will turn from the Republican Party and give Senator Kennedy the victory.

There will be some turning from the Democratic Party on the part of Protestants in the South and in some other states, but the number apparently will not appreciably affect the result, as it is not big enough to offset the enormous defection of Catholic Republicans, especially in the populous states to which are allocated large electoral votes.

On this basis, the election of Senator Kennedy is assured, and the result in the Electoral College may not even be close. Enough electoral votes to win will be obtained in the big states of the North and West, without regard to his losses in the South. Indeed the Catholic bloc may swell the totals for the Democrats in nearly all the Northern states.

Many Catholics, of course, especially in the middle and upper income groups, will stick with the Republican ticket, but the Gallup Poll shows that, while Mr. Eisenhower got '9 per cent of the total Catholic vote in 1956, only about 21 per cent will be for Mr. Nixon, with 79 per cent going to Senator Kennedy. The switch is not, of course, entirely due to religion but doubtless to other issues, such as local economic conditions. Anything like a change of 28 percentage points on a nationwide basis is, however, phenomenal, and no other religious group shows such a shift this year, according to the Gallup Poll.

This writer believed early in the campaign—before the Gallup Poll was made—that the "religious issue" would not be consequential, as one prejudice would offset the other. The latest data indicate that its effect will be one-sided—that it is pro-Kennedy.

For the record, therefore, this writer is giving his judgment without taking into account the religious factor. Instead, weight is given to the preponderant sentiment of the country, which favors continuity of foreign policy and is against possible involvement in war that might come through a change in personnel in high places. Prime importance is attached, moreover, to the economic conditions of the country according to available data on personal incomes generally and on farm income, and to the impact of unemployment in certain states. It is significant that in many states the people as a whole are enjoying the highest personal income in our history. Here is the table, based on a combination of these two customary factors, but eliminating entirely the religious issue:

Arizona	4	New Hampshire	4
California	32	New Jersey	16
Colorado	6	New York	45
Delaware	3	North Dakota	4
Florida	10	Ohio	25
Hawaii	3	Oklahoma	8
Idaho	4	Oregon	6
Illinois	27	South Dakota	4
Indiana	13	Utah	4
Kansas	8	Vermont	3
Maine	5	Virginia	12
Maryland	9	Washington	9
Nebraska	6	Wisconsin	12

For Nixon: Total 288 (needed to win 269).

If all the Southern states with a favorable economic climate were included, such as Texas and North Carolina, it would run the total for Mr. Nixon higher, or would offset in large part a possible loss of some of the above Northern states, like New York. So this represents a table based on the minimum necessary to win, rather than the actual line-up of all the states where economic conditions as a whole are good.

But, on the basis of the indicated Catholic shift, which will affect nearly all states, this writer expects to see a Kennedy majority in electoral votes.

Ku Klux Klan Embarrasses Nixon By Riding Hard Against Kennedy

By Drew Pearson

(Editor's Note—Drew Pearson has been traveling through various parts of the United States, reporting on some of the hottest election races.)

MIAMI.—The Klu Klux Klan is riding again. It's a straggly, disorganized ride, but in some places it makes up in vitriol what it lacks in numbers. And, embarrassing as it must be to the Vice President, who definitely does not want Klan support, all the Klan's efforts are focused toward defeating Senator Kennedy. Here is the box score to date.

In Florida, Grand Dragon W. J. Griffin, of the Florida Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, has come out for Nixon.

Also in Florida, Bill Hendrix, who rides in allegedly regal robes at the head of the Southern Knights of the KKK, a rival organization, has come out for the States Rights Party. He's boosting Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas and Adm. John Crommelin of Wetumpka, Ala., the rabid anti-Semite, anti-Catholic.

In Tennessee, John Kasper, the New Jerseyite who migrated to the South to lead various rabbles, and cooperates with the Klan, has announced for Nixon. Says Kasper: "Kennedy if elected should be impeached before the sun rises."

In Alabama, a meeting was held in the Tuscaloosa County Courthouse October 8, attended by all Klaverns of the Alabama Knights of the KKK, Inc. at which Grand Dragon Bob Shelton announced:

"Klansmen should stay away from Kennedy and keep an eye on John Patterson and Charles Merriweather. They are tools of the Jews."

Ironic fact is that Shelton had helped to elect Patterson, and after his election was made chief state sales representative of the Goodrich Tire Company, in which job he succeeded in landing a $1,600,000 tire contract from the state of Alabama for Goodrich. When Governor Patterson came out for Kennedy, however, his relations with Shelton cooled.

In South Carolina, where the Klan, operating under the Association of South Carolina Ku Klux Klans, has one of its largest enrollments, a secret message was sent to all members over the signature "A-001." This is the code for Grand Dragon Robert Hodges of Columbia. The message invited all Klansmen to attend a cross burning and motorcade at Estill, S. C., on October 29, at 8 p. m. Page 2 of the invitation made it clear that the Klan is not for Kennedy. It read:

"Wake Up Protestant!"

". . . . You cannot afford to support or vote for anyone or group that represents the Roman Catholic Church. To do so is to vote against your God, and Savior, and your church, your country and even yourself since the Catholic Church is directly opposed to Protestant churches, your America, and especially you as a Protestant. You are regarded as a heretic by the Catholic Church. Heaven help your soul if you vote away your religious liberty. Judge the Roman Catholic Church in the future by her history in the past. Before you vote be sure to read the Knights of Columbus oath reproduced from the Congressional Record. Do it now. It's later than you think."

Democrats In Dixie

Most interesting political development below the Mason-Dixon Line is the manner in which Old Guard Democrats, hitherto aloof, have been jumping aboard the Kennedy bandwagon.

What's happened in Florida indicates what is generally happening in other Southern states. Leaders are afraid of a Kennedy victory which would leave the South on the losing side and in no position to ask for patronage and military bases.

Florida at first was considered so overwhelmingly pro-Nixon that Kennedy headquarters issued orders not to waste a single dollar there.

The state was crossed off the Kennedy list. Sen. George Smathers of Florida, who had been put in charge of the Kennedy campaign in the South, spent his time every place except his home state.

Not even one Kennedy-Johnson headquarters was opened in the metropolis of Miami.

Then a small group of younger Democratic dynamos, including Congressman Dante Fascell of Miami, Arthur Courshon of Washington Federal Savings and Loan in Miami Beach, Congressman Bob Sikes of Crestview, and several backers of former Sen. Claude Pepper, decided to make a showing for Kennedy even if the state had been written off for Nixon.

At first it was very tough going. Ferris Bryant, the States Rights governor-to-be, wouldn't mention Kennedy's name. Sen. Spessard Holland would admit that Lyndon Johnson was running, but not Kennedy.

Then Johnson came to Miami and held a private meeting with top Florida Democrats. Johnson was weary from an all-day-and-most-of-the-night schedule. For a man who once suffered a massive coronary he was working much too hard. And his words were also hard.

"This boy Kennedy is going to win," Johnson warned top Florida Democrats. "And he's going to win big. Democrats all over the nation are helping him. They've buried differences and are pitching in to make this a united party.

"If he wins without the South, I'm warning you," said Johnson, his face drawn from the ardor of the campaign, his eyes snapping with emotion. "I'm warning you b------- are going to be dead. You'll get nothing out of the next Congress and the Kennedy Administration. I can tell you. I know."

After that old guard Democrats really began to work.

Note—In Georgia, Sen. Richard Russell, sometimes called "Mr. Democrat," is repeating history. During the 1952 election Russell made no speeches for Stevenson. He went to Europe. During the '56 election, Russell also made no speeches for Stevenson. He was out of the country. This time Russell went to Europe a little earlier, traveling on an Armed Services Committee inspection trip—at the taxpayers' expense. Just arrived home, once again he'll make no speeches for the Democratic ticket.

Letters To The Editor

Sir:

We have read and heard a lot about prestige recently. Most persons would agree that Vice President Nixon has overstated our prestige and Senator Kennedy has understated our prestige if voting in the United Nations is an indication.

Just how important is prestige? Senator Kennedy's Catholic faith and all Protestant religions would be nonexistent today if prestige at the time of the Crucifixion had been used as the deciding criterion.

President Eisenhower's decision to intervene in the Suez crisis against two of our foremost allies, England and France, was not an easy one. Many of us at the time doubted the wisdom of the decision. Time, however, has proved that his action was correct although it decreased our prestige with many English and French citizens. I am inclined to believe that many of the abstentions of the African nations in voting on the seating of Red China were influenced considerably by President Eisenhower's decision to do what was right rather than what was popular.

In recent elections we were informed by Governor Stevenson, Senator Symington, a former Secretary of the Air Force, and others that our air power and other military defenses were inadequate. Many of us agreed with them even though Mr. Eisenhower insisted these statements were not true. It was shocking to learn through the U-2 incident last May that, at the same time these reckless charges were being made, our U-2 planes were flying over Russia and that Mr. Khrushchev was aware of these flights but could do nothing about them. I note with particular interest the absence of Senator Symington's expert evaluations in the present campaign.

President Eisenhower offered in his UN speech a proposal for a worldwide election under UN supervision to determine the acceptance or rejection of the policies of the free world. Wouldn't Khrushchev have accepted this challenge if our prestige as leader of the free world had diminished to the extent claimed recently by Senator Kennedy? The population of Communist - dominated countries is far in excess of that of the West.

Senator Kennedy has demanded that the "confidential" report by the U.S. Intelligence Agency be released. Even if he could find in history a precedent for doing so, the release of the report could possibly serve only one purpose—that of fulfilling Mr. Kennedy's great desire and ambition to be President. I cannot conceive of any way in which the release of this report would enhance our prestige although it would undoubtedly give Pravda its most effective propaganda weapon in years. As a college professor of business administration, I am quite confident that Joseph Kennedy, father of Senator Kennedy, would not have accumulated 400 million dollars if he had announced publicly that he felt his customers no longer had the confidence in his product that they once had.

Although I admire Senator Kennedy's brilliant command of historical quotations, his lack of constructive criticism regarding what he feels is our loss of prestige is readily apparent. He speaks in detail of our shortcomings but in glowing generalities about what he would do to increase our stature. To say that he would "move forward" is not enough. If he could not provide the leadership necessary in the August session of Congress to pass a single bill of major importance although his party commanded a two-thirds majority, how can we be confident that he can lead the free world unless he spells out specifically what he plans to do?

Sincerely yours,
RICHARD K. BOLYARD

Beall High's Mountaineers scored touchdowns in the first three periods then staved off a last-ditch rally by Keyser High School to defeat the Golden Tornado before approximately 900 spectators last night at Frostburg by the score of 20-13 and won the football championship of the Potomac Valley Conference with a 4-0 record.

Coach Jerry Calhoun's Mountaineers captured the league crown for the first time in two years of competition in the 10-school circuit. Keyser shared the title with the West Virginia School for the Deaf in 1959.

The Mountaineers drove from their own 40 for the first score in the opening period. With Jim Evans and Bob Harper making most of the gains, Beall marched to the nine from where Bob Harper scored. Robertson's placement was good.

Jim Evans set up the second score in the second quarter when he intercepted a pass on the Keyser 40. The Mountaineers reeled off two first downs and Bob Harper scored again on an off tackle thrust from the nine. Robertson place-kicked the point to give Beall a 14-0 lead at halftime.

A 31-yard pass play engineered by Jim McFarland and Stevenson that carried to the four set up the final Beall score in the third period. On the next play Stevenson smashed over for the td. Robertson's placement kick was wide.

Keyser rallied for two touchdowns in the final period. Turbin passed from the eight to Smith in the end zone for the initial six-pointer and Bradfield missed on his placement try.

Bradfield went over from the nine to climax Keyser's final touchdown drive from the Beall 45. Bradfield's placement was good. Lineups:

A strong second half offensive splurge by Petersburg High School yesterday afternoon gave the Vikings a 26-0 victory over Southern's Highlanders in a Potomac Valley Conference contest played on the Grant Countians' gridiron.

Petersburg had lost its first game of the season last week at the hands of Keyser (19-7) and for awhile yesterday it appeared as if the Vikings were in for a rough time of it again.

Neither team was able to score in the first half, but it was the Highlanders who staged the biggest threat in the first two periods, driving to the Petersburg 11-yard line before losing the ball on downs.

Viking quarterback Jack Boor cranked up his passing arm in the second half and connected twice with Ernie Nelson in the end zone, and halfback Steve Bruce also racked up a pair of touchdowns. Three of the four Petersburg scores came in the final period.

Bruce Scores First

Bruce went over from 12 yards out in the third quarter for the Viking TD. Then early in the fourth stanza Boor hit Nelson on a 16-yard toss good for touchdown number two.

A Southern fumble at the Petersburg 45 was grabbed by Bruce, who picked up good blocking and went all the way. Two 25-yard Boor-to-Nelson passes on the final scoring drive moved the Vikings down to the Southern five. Louie Alt gained two yards to the three, then Boor, on a quickie pass, found Nelson in the end zone.

Credited with the key defensive play for Petersburg was Jim Junkins, who crashed through to dump Jim Craig or a two-yard loss when Southern had the ball on a fourth-and-one situation at the Viking 11.

Score 4th Shutout

Yesterday's shutout was the fourth of the season for the defense-minded Vikings, who outgained the Marylanders in total yardage by an overwhelming 273-81 margin.

Colts Favored Over Green Bay By Nine Points

Cleveland Picked To Defeat Giants

By JOE SARGIS
United Press International

The Green Bay Packers get a chance to prove their victory over the defending champion Colts a month ago was no fluke when they take on Baltimore Sunday in a showdown game for the Western Division lead in the National Football League.

There also is a key game in the Eastern Division where the Cleveland Browns will meet their old nemesis, the New York Giants, whom they haven't beaten since 1957. The Philadelphia Eagles, tied for the Eastern Division lead with the Browns, meet the Pittsburgh Steelers in still another top game.

The odd makers figure the home field makes a difference and accordingly, have made the Colts, a half-game behind the Packers, 9 point favorites, the Browns 7 point picks over the Giants and the Eagles 6½ over the visiting Steelers.

In the other games, the St. Louis Cardinals are 6½ over the visiting Washington Redskins, the Los Angeles Rams 10½ over the host Dallas Cowboys, and the San Francisco Forty Niners 6½ over the invading Detroit Lions.

The American Football League stages its "game of the week" in Denver with the Broncos, tied for the Western Division lead with the Los Angeles Chargers, hosting the Houston Oilers. Houston, the Eastern Division leader, is picked by a point, while the Dallas Texans are 2-point favorites over the Bills at Buffalo.

By TED TROXELL

Fort Hill's supercharged offense held its weekly workout again last night at the Stadium. Victim of the 35-0 onslaught was a usually strong Handley High School eleven that has been having its share of troubles this year.

While the Sentinel backs were running wild, the defensive unit of Coach Charlie Lattimer's unbeaten team stopped the Judges cold. The shutout is the seventh in eight games for Fort Hill.

The visitors from Winchester (Va.), whose record is now 1-7, spent half the evening in punt formation, or so it seemed, being forced to kick no less than ten times. One of the punts was immediately turned into a Fort Hill touchdown, on a scintillating 69-yard return by halfback Delbert Helmick.

Helmick Runs 57 Yards

Helmick, who sparked the Sentinels' 34-0 triumph over South Hagerstown last Friday night, also got off the longest run from scrimmage when he took a handoff from quarterback Ronnie Manges and whizzed 57 yards for a touchdown on the third play in Fort Hill's first series of downs early in the opening period.

It appeared at this point that the Sentinels were out to make an early killing, but they had trouble getting started again in the first quarter.

The next time they gained possession, Dick Peck fumbled and it was recovered by Handley's Dick Wolfe. The Judges were unable to do anything with the ball once they got it, and Fort Hill was back in possession four plays later.

However, the Sentinels couldn't advance either and George Twigg punted. Fort Hill got the ball once more, on a fumble recovery by Francis Hammersmith, but again had to resort to the punt.

Dick Peck Scores

The second period had hardly got under way before the Sentinels shifted into high. Peck, on a quick opener, went 38 yards off the right tackle slot for TD number two.

Fort Hill tried only four passes, but connected on two of them—one for a touchdown. Halfback Dave Clem tossed 34 yards to Bill Sheetz and the Sentinels had a 21-0 lead midway in the second quarter.

It took the Red Raiders only four plays to score following the second half kickoff. Peck, on a pitchout to his left, ran 44 yards, getting a key block from Sheetz who cut down the last defender looming in the path of the speedy halfback.

The Judges didn't get their initial first down until the 7:47 mark of the third quarter, and then their attack slowed down and they had to kick again.

Judges Stopped

Handley's deepest penetration into Fort Hill territory came early in the fourth period, but the Sentinels saw to it that the Judges didn't dent the goal line. Jim Wilkins picked up 23 yards to the Sentinel nine, but he was hit hard there and fumbled into the hands of Clayton Oster.

Peck was Fort Hill's leading ground gainer, chalking up 139 yards in only eight carries, for a 17.4 average.

All-Star Game Set At Buffalo

All-America Grads Will Play June 23

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The American Football Coaches Association announced Friday the first All-America graduation game, to be played June 23 in Buffalo's War Memorial Stadium between all-star college teams from the East and West.

"This is going to be a quality game," said D. O. Tuss McLaughry, executive secretary-treasurer of the association. "It will be played for our benefit and for the benefit of the National Football Foundation."

The game, first of a projected annual series, was announced at a luncheon for civic leaders and sportswriters.

Harvey Harman, executive secretary of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame at Rutgers University, said the game would be the only one of its kind without competition from the bowl games and other all-star games.

The promotion of the game will be handled by the All-America Bowl Association, Inc., of Ithaca. John W. C. Guthrie, Ithaca businessman, is president of the organization.

The sponsors will sign a two-year contracts for the stadium, a recently-remodeled, 37,500-seat bowl that is now the home of the Buffalo Bills in the American Football League. There will be an option for five more years.

Four coaches will be chosen from the schools with the best records and two will be assigned to coach each of the teams. The teams will each have 30 players picked from the Coaches Association's all-star squad for 1960. They will practice for eight or nine days prior to the game at colleges in this area.

The game will be played at night and the sponsors hope to arrange for national television coverage.

Coach Paul Imphong's Hancock High School gridders wound up their winningest season since the fall sport was introduced at the Washington county school in 1957 when they defeated the Ridgeley High School Blackhawks yesterday at Hancock by the score of 19-13.

The victory was Hancock's fifth against two losses. Last year Coach Imphong's team won four and lost four.

Ridgeley closed its campaign with five victories and four losses.

Jerry Detrick recovered a fumble on the Hancock 40 to set up the first score in the opening period. Seven plays later Frank Lambert hit Ronnie Gulbronson with a 6-yerd pass for the Ridgeley touchdown and "Buck" Whiteman kicked the extra point.

Hancock drove from its 17 later in the first quarter to knot the score with Ken Hess going over from the one. McCusker ran the extra point.

Ray Keefer scored touchdowns for the home team in the second and third periods, the first on a one yard plunge and the other on an 11-yard sweep around end.

A 36-yard pass from Lambert to Gulbronson produced Ridgeley's second touchdown in the final period.

Ridgeley won the first four games of the season and dropped four out of the last five.

Allegany High School's Campers tied Fort Hill for first place in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League football race by beating the Westminster Owls last night at Westminster by the score of 27-12.

The win was the fifth in a row for Coach Ed Schwarz's team in the C.V.A.L. and the eighth straight this season for the undefeated Campobello eleven which has reeled off ten in a row over two seasons. It was also the first Allegany triumph over the Owls in five meetings on the gridiron. Allegany and Fort Hill pace the league race with 5-0 records.

In the first period Allegany scored first on a 54-yard pass play with Gary Mulligan the pitcher and Mervin Pope the receiver. Bob Gaffney added the extra point on a run.

Westminster drove from its own 29 for its first score later in the opening period. A 46-yard run by Dale Feeser produced the td but Wayne Shook prevented a tie score when he blocked Gerry Bankard's kick for the extra point.

Westminster blocked a Wharton punt and recovered on the Allegany 45 to pave the way for their second touchdown in the second period. Eight plays later Melvin Arbaugh tallied from the two-yard mark.

Allegany took a 14-12 lead at halftime after Ronnie Evans dashed 68 yards to paydirt and Gaffney ran the extra point.

In the final quarter, Allegany drove 89 yards for its third score with Tommy Miller racing over for the final 15 yards. He also ran the point.

With 31 seconds remaining in the last period, Mulligan passed to Davis 19 yards and Evans registered the Campers' final td from two yards out.

Eight Unbeaten Colleges Face Rugged Foes Today

Iowa And Minnesota In Top Game; Navy Meets Blue Devils

By MURRAY ROSE

Iowa's top-ranking Hawkeyes take on third-ranking Minnesota Saturday in a key clash of all-winning powers highlighting the best and most important college football program of the year to date.

Big Ten and Rose Bowl hopes will be on the block in the nation's No. 1 game at Minneapolis. That's the way it is almost down the line for most members of the top 10 in the first week of decisive November.

Game Rated Toss-Up

Although Iowa has whipped Minnesota five straight times, the fast-striking Hawkeyes (6-0) are rated no better than a toss-up against the big, defensive-tough Gophers (6-0).

All-conquering Missouri (7-0), second-ranked, faces Colorado (5-1) at Columbia, Mo., in a game that could decide the Big Eight title. The quick-clawing Tigers are two touchdown favorites to close in on the Orange Bowl bid.

Navy, ranked fourth, seventh-ranked Washington, eighth-ranked Tennessee, ninth-ranked Syracuse and tenth-ranked Rice all will have to fight for their lives against rugged opposition. Only fifth-ranked Ohio State (5-1), which is host to Indiana, and sixth ranked Mississippi (6-1-1), which entertains Chattanooga, can breath easily.

Navy Conceded Shade

The Middies (7-0) are rated only a shade over Duke (5-1) of the Atlantic Coast Conference in that area's showpiece at Durham, N.C. The Sailors are being eyed by most of the bowl sponsors.

Washington (6-1) meets Southern California (3-3) in the battle of the Pacific Coast. Each is 2-0 in the coast Big Five and this one Los Angeles could be the decider for the title and the Rose Bowl loot.

Tennessee (5-0-1) invades Atlanta for a Southeastern Conference clash with thrice-beaten but still dangerous Georgia Tech (4-3).

Orange Faces Army

Syracuse (6-1), its 16-game winning streak shattered by Pittsburgh last week, hopes to find the victory combination again against Army's strengthened Black Knights (5-2) at New York's Yankee Stadium. The deflated defending national champions are favored by a touchdown to keep in the running for a bowl bid. Pitt (3-2-2) is favored by eight over luckless Notre Dame (1-5) at South Bend.

Rice (5-1) journeys to Little Rock for a toss-up tilt with Arkansas (5-2) that could have a vital bearing on the Southwest Conference race and the Cotton Bowl nomination.

In addition to Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri and Navy, the dwindling band of unbeaten-untied major teams also includes Yale (6-0), Utah State (7-0) and New Mexico State (7-0).

Yale Is Favored

The Elis, tied with Princeton for the Ivy League lead with 4-0 records, are two-touchdown favorites to beat Pennsylvania (2-4) in the bowl at New Haven. Harvard (4-2), another Ivy hopeful with a 3-2 league record, visits Princeton.

Utah State (7-0) is host to Wyoming (6-1) for the big one of the Skyline Conference. Each is 5-0 in the loop and the title and Sun Bowl bid could await the winner.

Touch Football Teams Battle For Playoff Berths

A battle for three playoff berths in the Aduult Touch Football League is in store Sunday when six of the circuit's seven teams figure in a tripleheader at Post Field as the regular season draws to a close.

The Old Exports have sewed up first place with a 6-0 record and are idle today but State Farm (3-2), Old Germans (3-2), Redmen (3-2) and Liberty Trust (2-3) are still in the running for the three other playoff positions. The four top teams tangle in the playoff semi-finals November 13.

Andy's Tire Service meet the Old Germans at 1 p. m., State Farm battles Purple Heart Club at 2 p. m., and Liberty Trust Company faces the Redmen in the final game at 3 o'clock.

The High School Touch Football schedule also draws to a close tomorrow in a twin-bill slated for Stitcher Field.

Allegany Hi-Y has clinched first place with a 5-0 record and chief interest centers in the battle for the runner-up spot between the Frostburg Squires (2-2) and the Independents (2-3).

Frostburg Squires oppose Allegany Hi-Y at 2 p. m., and the Cumberland Squires (0-4) tangle with the Independents an hour later.

The teams that finish first and second in this circuit meet in the playoff game a week from tomorrow.

Potomac State Hosts Concord Eleven Today

Catamounts Seek 4th Win In Row

Potomac State College's Catamounts put a three-game winning streak on the line today when they clash with the Mountain Lions of Concord College in a West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference football game at 2 p.m., at Stayman Field, Keyser.

The Catamounts disposed of Davis & Elkins, Montgomery Junior College and Wesley College of Delaware in their last three outings after dropping their first four games of the season but may run into trouble in today's game.

Concord recently stopped Shepherd, 25-19, after the Rams have won four in a row, including a 7-0 decision over the Catamounts.

Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's eleven owns a 3-4 overall record and is 1-3 in the WVIAC. The win was over D. & E. while the losses came at the hands of Glenville, Salem and Shepherd. Concord comes to Keyser with a 3-2-2 record in the conference.

Potomac beat the Lions last year by the score of 14-6.

Both schools are in the Western Division of the WVIAC which is led by Farmont State's Falcons with a 6-1-0 record.

Jesse Riggleman's Shepherd eleven which has concluded its conference schedule with a 2-2 record, plays Bridgewater College in Virginia today. The Rams lead the Eastern Division of the WVIAC and their overall record as they swing into the final game of the regular season is four wins and three losses.

Gross Passes Titans To Win

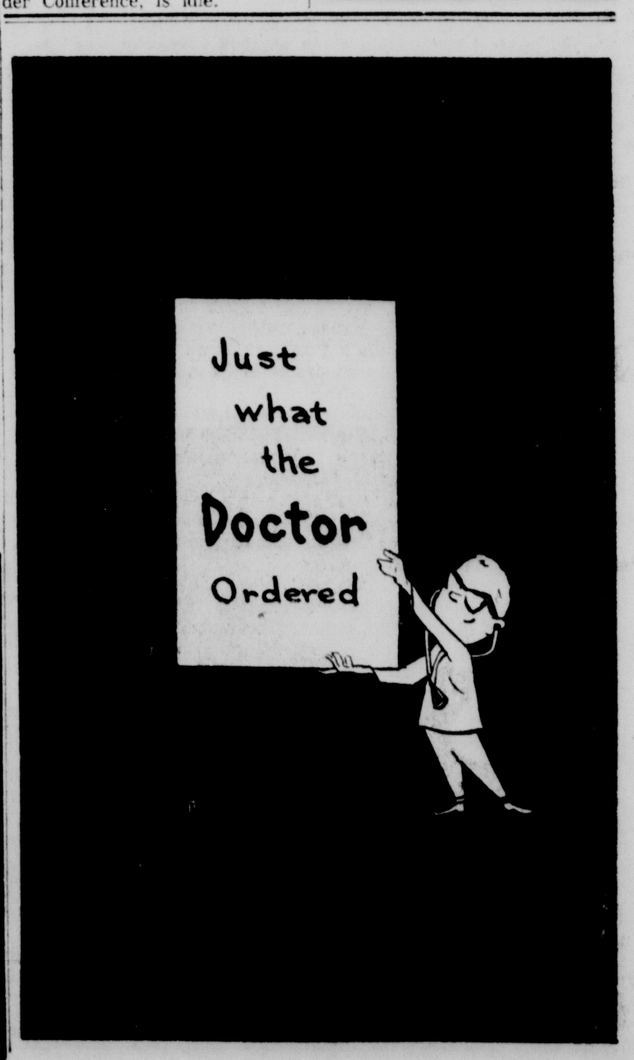

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Titans, with sophomore quarterback Jerry Gross passing brilliantly through a cold drizzle, rolled up a fat four-touchdown lead in the first half and coasted to a 32-12 victory over Marquette Friday night.

It was the sixth straight triumph for the rugged Titans, marking the longest winning streak a Detroit team has racked up since 1928 when All-American Lloyd Brazil sparked the Titans to an unbeaten season.

Beall High's Mountaineers scored touchdowns in the first three periods then staved off a last-ditch rally by Keyser High School to defeat the Golden Tornado before approximately 900 spectators last night at Frostburg by the score of 20-13 and won the football championship of the Potomac Valley Conference with a 4-0 record.

Coach Jerry Calhoun's Mountaineers captured the league crown for the first time in two years of competition in the 10-school circuit. Keyser shared the title with the West Virginia School for the Deaf in 1959.

The Mountaineers drove from their own 40 for the first score in the opening period. With Jim Evans and Bob Harper making most of the gains, Beall marched to the nine from where Bob Harper scored. Robertson's placement was good.

Jim Evans set up the second score in the second quarter when he intercepted a pass on the Keyser 40. The Mountaineers reeled off two first downs and Bob Harper scored again on an off tackle thrust from the nine. Robertson place-kicked the point to give Beall a 14-0 lead at halftime.

A 31-yard pass play engineered by Jim McFarland and Stevenson that carried to the four set up the final Beall score in the third period. On the next play Stevenson smashed over for the td. Robertson's placement kick was wide.

Keyser rallied for two touchdowns in the final period. Turbin passed from the eight to Smith in the end zone for the initial six-pointer and Bradfield missed on his placement try.

Bradfield went over from the nine to climax Keyser's final touchdown drive from the Beall 45. Bradfield's placement was good. Lineups:

Colts Favored Over Green Bay By Nine Points

Cleveland Picked To Defeat Giants

By JOE SARGIS
United Press International

The Green Bay Packers get a chance to prove their victory over the defending champion Colts a month ago was no fluke when they take on Baltimore Sunday in a showdown game for the Western Division lead in the National Football League.

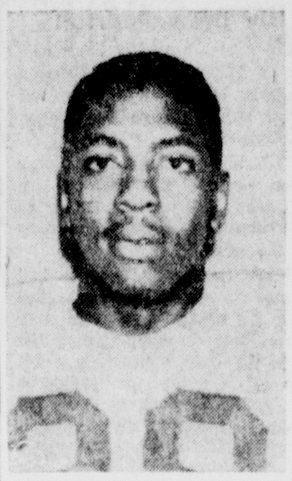

There also is a key game in the Eastern Division where the Cleveland Browns will meet their old nemesis, the New York Giants, whom they haven't beaten since 1957. The Philadelphia Eagles, tied for the Eastern Division lead with the Browns, meet the Pittsburgh Steelers in still another top game.

The odd makers figure the home field makes a difference and accordingly, have made the Colts, a half-game behind the Packers, 9 point favorites, the Browns 7 point picks over the Giants and the Eagles 6½ over the visiting Steelers.

In the other games, the St. Louis Cardinals are 6½ over the visiting Washington Redskins, the Los Angeles Rams 10½ over the host Dallas Cowboys, and the San Francisco Forty Niners 6½ over the invading Detroit Lions.

The American Football League stages its "game of the week" in Denver with the Broncos, tied for the Western Division lead with the Los Angeles Chargers, hosting the Houston Oilers. Houston, the Eastern Division leader, is picked by a point, while the Dallas Texans are 2-point favorites over the Bills at Buffalo.

A strong second half offensive splurge by Petersburg High School yesterday afternoon gave the Vikings a 26-0 victory over Southern's Highlanders in a Potomac Valley Conference contest played on the Grant Countians' gridiron.

Petersburg had lost its first game of the season last week at the hands of Keyser (19-7) and for awhile yesterday it appeared as if the Vikings were in for a rough time of it again.

Neither team was able to score in the first half, but it was the Highlanders who staged the biggest threat in the first two periods, driving to the Petersburg 11-yard line before losing the ball on downs.

Viking quarterback Jack Boor cranked up his passing arm in the second half and connected twice with Ernie Nelson in the end zone, and halfback Steve Bruce also racked up a pair of touchdowns. Three of the four Petersburg scores came in the final period.

Bruce Scores First

Bruce went over from 12 yards out in the third quarter for the Viking TD. Then early in the fourth stanza Boor hit Nelson on a 16-yard toss good for touchdown number two.

A Southern fumble at the Petersburg 45 was grabbed by Bruce, who picked up good blocking and went all the way. Two 25-yard Boor-to-Nelson passes on the final scoring drive moved the Vikings down to the Southern five. Louie Alt gained two yards to the three, then Boor, on a quickie pass, found Nelson in the end zone.

Credited with the key defensive play for Petersburg was Jim Junkins, who crashed through to dump Jim Craig or a two-yard loss when Southern had the ball on a fourth-and-one situation at the Viking 11.

Score 4th Shutout

Yesterday's shutout was the fourth of the season for the defense-minded Vikings, who outgained the Marylanders in total yardage by an overwhelming 273-81 margin.

By TED TROXELL

Fort Hill's supercharged offense held its weekly workout again last night at the Stadium. Victim of the 35-0 onslaught was a usually strong Handley High School eleven that has been having its share of troubles this year.

While the Sentinel backs were running wild, the defensive unit of Coach Charlie Lattimer's unbeaten team stopped the Judges cold. The shutout is the seventh in eight games for Fort Hill.

The visitors from Winchester (Va.), whose record is now 1-7, spent half the evening in punt formation, or so it seemed, being forced to kick no less than ten times. One of the punts was immediately turned into a Fort Hill touchdown, on a scintillating 69-yard return by halfback Delbert Helmick.

Helmick Runs 57 Yards

Helmick, who sparked the Sentinels' 34-0 triumph over South Hagerstown last Friday night, also got off the longest run from scrimmage when he took a handoff from quarterback Ronnie Manges and whizzed 57 yards for a touchdown on the third play in Fort Hill's first series of downs early in the opening period.

It appeared at this point that the Sentinels were out to make an early killing, but they had trouble getting started again in the first quarter.

The next time they gained possession, Dick Peck fumbled and it was recovered by Handley's Dick Wolfe. The Judges were unable to do anything with the ball once they got it, and Fort Hill was back in possession four plays later.

However, the Sentinels couldn't advance either and George Twigg punted. Fort Hill got the ball once more, on a fumble recovery by Francis Hammersmith, but again had to resort to the punt.

Dick Peck Scores

The second period had hardly got under way before the Sentinels shifted into high. Peck, on a quick opener, went 38 yards off the right tackle slot for TD number two.

Fort Hill tried only four passes, but connected on two of them—one for a touchdown. Halfback Dave Clem tossed 34 yards to Bill Sheetz and the Sentinels had a 21-0 lead midway in the second quarter.

It took the Red Raiders only four plays to score following the second half kickoff. Peck, on a pitchout to his left, ran 44 yards, getting a key block from Sheetz who cut down the last defender looming in the path of the speedy halfback.

The Judges didn't get their initial first down until the 7:47 mark of the third quarter, and then their attack slowed down and they had to kick again.

Judges Stopped

Handley's deepest penetration into Fort Hill territory came early in the fourth period, but the Sentinels saw to it that the Judges didn't dent the goal line. Jim Wilkins picked up 23 yards to the Sentinel nine, but he was hit hard there and fumbled into the hands of Clayton Oster.

Peck was Fort Hill's leading ground gainer, chalking up 139 yards in only eight carries, for a 17.4 average.

All-Star Game Set At Buffalo

All-America Grads Will Play June 23

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The American Football Coaches Association announced Friday the first All-America graduation game, to be played June 23 in Buffalo's War Memorial Stadium between all-star college teams from the East and West.

"This is going to be a quality game," said D. O. Tuss McLaughry, executive secretary-treasurer of the association. "It will be played for our benefit and for the benefit of the National Football Foundation."

The game, first of a projected annual series, was announced at a luncheon for civic leaders and sportswriters.

Harvey Harman, executive secretary of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame at Rutgers University, said the game would be the only one of its kind without competition from the bowl games and other all-star games.

The promotion of the game will be handled by the All-America Bowl Association, Inc., of Ithaca. John W. C. Guthrie, Ithaca businessman, is president of the organization.

The sponsors will sign a two-year contracts for the stadium, a recently-remodeled, 37,500-seat bowl that is now the home of the Buffalo Bills in the American Football League. There will be an option for five more years.

Four coaches will be chosen from the schools with the best records and two will be assigned to coach each of the teams. The teams will each have 30 players picked from the Coaches Association's all-star squad for 1960. They will practice for eight or nine days prior to the game at colleges in this area.

The game will be played at night and the sponsors hope to arrange for national television coverage.

The victory was Hancock's fifth against two losses. Last year Coach Imphong's team won four and lost four.

Jerry Detrick recovered a fumble on the Hancock 40 to set up the first score in the opening period. Seven plays later Frank Lambert hit Ronnie Gulbronson with a 6-yerd pass for the Ridgeley touchdown and "Buck" Whiteman kicked the extra point.

Hancock drove from its 17 later in the first quarter to knot the score with Ken Hess going over from the one. McCusker ran the extra point.

Ray Keefer scored touchdowns for the home team in the second and third periods, the first on a one yard plunge and the other on an 11-yard sweep around end.

A 36-yard pass from Lambert to Gulbronson produced Ridgeley's second touchdown in the final period.

Allegany High School's Campers tied Fort Hill for first place in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League football race by beating the Westminster Owls last night at Westminster by the score of 27-12.

The win was the fifth in a row for Coach Ed Schwarz's team in the C.V.A.L. and the eighth straight this season for the undefeated Campobello eleven which has reeled off ten in a row over two seasons. It was also the first Allegany triumph over the Owls in five meetings on the gridiron. Allegany and Fort Hill pace the league race with 5-0 records.

In the first period Allegany scored first on a 54-yard pass play with Gary Mulligan the pitcher and Mervin Pope the receiver. Bob Gaffney added the extra point on a run.

Westminster drove from its own 29 for its first score later in the opening period. A 46-yard run by Dale Feeser produced the td but Wayne Shook prevented a tie score when he blocked Gerry Bankard's kick for the extra point.

Westminster blocked a Wharton punt and recovered on the Allegany 45 to pave the way for their second touchdown in the second period. Eight plays later Melvin Arbaugh tallied from the two-yard mark.

Allegany took a 14-12 lead at halftime after Ronnie Evans dashed 68 yards to paydirt and Gaffney ran the extra point.

In the final quarter, Allegany drove 89 yards for its third score with Tommy Miller racing over for the final 15 yards. He also ran the point.

With 31 seconds remaining in the last period, Mulligan passed to Davis 19 yards and Evans registered the Campers' final td from two yards out.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The St. Paul, Minn., Saints of the American Association Friday were moved to Omaha, Neb., by the parent Los Angeles Dodgers organization to make room for an American League team in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area.

Dodger vice president and general manager E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi announced the switch after conferring with Omaha Mayor John Rosenblatt, who came here seeking the St. Paul franchise.

Eight Unbeaten Colleges Face Rugged Foes Today

By MURRAY ROSE

Iowa's top-ranking Hawkeyes take on third-ranking Minnesota Saturday in a key clash of all-winning powers highlighting the best and most important college football program of the year to date.

Big Ten and Rose Bowl hopes will be on the block in the nation's No. 1 game at Minneapolis. That's the way it is almost down the line for most members of the top 10 in the first week of decisive November.

Game Rated Toss-Up

Although Iowa has whipped Minnesota five straight times, the fast-striking Hawkeyes (6-0) are rated no better than a toss-up against the big, defensive-tough Gophers (6-0).

All-conquering Missouri (7-0), second-ranked, faces Colorado (5-1) at Columbia, Mo., in a game that could decide the Big Eight title. The quick-clawing Tigers are two touchdown favorites to close in on the Orange Bowl bid.

Navy, ranked fourth, seventh-ranked Washington, eighth-ranked Tennessee, ninth-ranked Syracuse and tenth-ranked Rice all will have to fight for their lives against rugged opposition. Only fifth-ranked Ohio State (5-1), which is host to Indiana, and sixth ranked Mississippi (6-1-1), which entertains Chattanooga, can breath easily.

Navy Conceded Shade

The Middies (7-0) are rated only a shade over Duke (5-1) of the Atlantic Coast Conference in that area's showpiece at Durham, N.C. The Sailors are being eyed by most of the bowl sponsors.

Washington (6-1) meets Southern California (3-3) in the battle of the Pacific Coast. Each is 2-0 in the coast Big Five and this one Los Angeles could be the decider for the title and the Rose Bowl loot.

Tennessee (5-0-1) invades Atlanta for a Southeastern Conference clash with thrice-beaten but still dangerous Georgia Tech (4-3).

Orange Faces Army

Syracuse (6-1), its 16-game winning streak shattered by Pittsburgh last week, hopes to find the victory combination again against Army's strengthened Black Knights (5-2) at New York's Yankee Stadium. The deflated defending national champions are favored by a touchdown to keep in the running for a bowl bid. Pitt (3-2-2) is favored by eight over luckless Notre Dame (1-5) at South Bend.

Rice (5-1) journeys to Little Rock for a toss-up tilt with Arkansas (5-2) that could have a vital bearing on the Southwest Conference race and the Cotton Bowl nomination.

In addition to Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri and Navy, the dwindling band of unbeaten-untied major teams also includes Yale (6-0), Utah State (7-0) and New Mexico State (7-0).

Yale Is Favored

The Elis, tied with Princeton for the Ivy League lead with 4-0 records, are two-touchdown favorites to beat Pennsylvania (2-4) in the bowl at New Haven. Harvard (4-2), another Ivy hopeful with a 3-2 league record, visits Princeton.

Utah State (7-0) is host to Wyoming (6-1) for the big one of the Skyline Conference. Each is 5-0 in the loop and the title and Sun Bowl bid could await the winner.

Touch Football Teams Battle For Playoff Berths

A battle for three playoff berths in the Aduult Touch Football League is in store Sunday when six of the circuit's seven teams figure in a tripleheader at Post Field as the regular season draws to a close.

The Old Exports have sewed up first place with a 6-0 record and are idle today but State Farm (3-2), Old Germans (3-2), Redmen (3-2) and Liberty Trust (2-3) are still in the running for the three other playoff positions. The four top teams tangle in the playoff semi-finals November 13.

Andy's Tire Service meet the Old Germans at 1 p. m., State Farm battles Purple Heart Club at 2 p. m., and Liberty Trust Company faces the Redmen in the final game at 3 o'clock.

The High School Touch Football schedule also draws to a close tomorrow in a twin-bill slated for Stitcher Field.

Allegany Hi-Y has clinched first place with a 5-0 record and chief interest centers in the battle for the runner-up spot between the Frostburg Squires (2-2) and the Independents (2-3).

Frostburg Squires oppose Allegany Hi-Y at 2 p. m., and the Cumberland Squires (0-4) tangle with the Independents an hour later.

The teams that finish first and second in this circuit meet in the playoff game a week from tomorrow.

PVC Fall Meeting Is Set For Nov. 21

The fall dinner meeting of the Potomac Valley Conference will be held at the Old Homestead Hotel Inn at Burlington, W. Va., Monday, November 21, at 6:30 p. m.

All-Conference football teams will be selected and other business will be transacted at this meeting.

Waivers Are Asked On Rush And Garcia

CHICAGO (UPI)—Waivers for unconditional release have been asked on veteran pitchers Bob Rush and Mike Garcia, the Chicago White Sox announced Friday night.

Rush, 35, was obtained by the Sox from Milwaukee on June 11. He had an 0-0 record with the Sox, who used him mostly in brief relief appearances.

Garcia, 36, was released by the Sox on May 18 and reinstated Sept. 1. He too had an 0-0 record with the Sox.

Catamounts Seek 4th Win In Row

Potomac State College's Catamounts put a three-game winning streak on the line today when they clash with the Mountain Lions of Concord College in a West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference football game at 2 p.m., at Stayman Field, Keyser.

The Catamounts disposed of Davis & Elkins, Montgomery Junior College and Wesley College of Delaware in their last three outings after dropping their first four games of the season but may run into trouble in today's game.

Concord recently stopped Shepherd, 25-19, after the Rams have won four in a row, including a 7-0 decision over the Catamounts.

Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's eleven owns a 3-4 overall record and is 1-3 in the WVIAC. The win was over D. & E. while the losses came at the hands of Glenville, Salem and Shepherd. Concord comes to Keyser with a 3-2-2 record in the conference.

Potomac beat the Lions last year by the score of 14-6.

Both schools are in the Western Division of the WVIAC which is led by Farmont State's Falcons with a 6-1-0 record.

Jesse Riggleman's Shepherd eleven which has concluded its conference schedule with a 2-2 record, plays Bridgewater College in Virginia today. The Rams lead the Eastern Division of the WVIAC and their overall record as they swing into the final game of the regular season is four wins and three losses.

Gross Passes Titans To Win

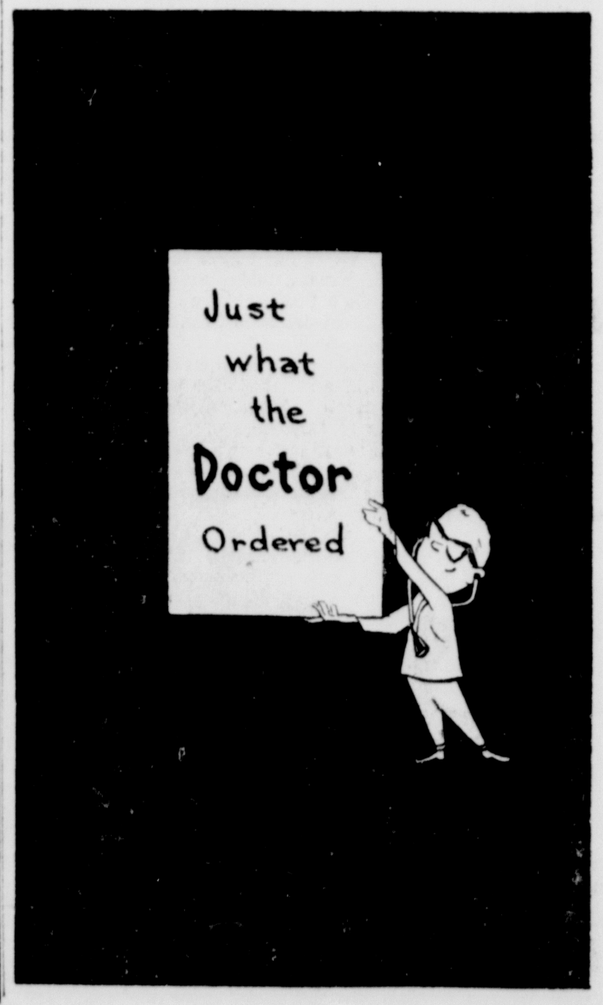

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Titans, with sophomore quarterback Jerry Gross passing brilliantly through a cold drizzle, rolled up a fat four-touchdown lead in the first half and coasted to a 32-12 victory over Marquette Friday night.

It was the sixth straight triumph for the rugged Titans, marking the longest winning streak a Detroit team has racked up since 1928 when All - American Lloyd Brazil sparked the Titans to an unbeaten season.

Laurel Double Is $2,437, Biggest Of Season In State

LAUREL, Nov. 4 (AP) — Biggest daily double payoff of the 1960 Maryland Turf season was posted here at Laurel Race Course today at $2,437.60 for $2.00 after Kamal Bey won the opening race at $351.40 straight and Cohansey took the second race for a $9.60 straight return.

There were 23 winning $2 double tickets sold on the combination of Nos. 9 and 11. No $10 tickets were sold and it was a repeat of the lucky numbers of yesterday's card when 9 and 11 returned $109.40 for $2.

By late afternoon, 12 of the 23 winning tickets had been cashed and the mutual department encountered only token opposition to the Internal Revenue Service's regulation requiring each holder of a longshot ticket (anything 300 to 1 or higher) to identify himself at the time of cashing the ticket.

Most patrons identified themselves readily, showing their drivers' license or social security cards.

While the second winner, Cohansey, was second choice, Kamal Bey was the longest-priced member of the first-race field and paid $351.40 straight, $112.60 to place and $35.40 to show. His win mutuel was not Laurel's highest, however. That honor is held by Cedric who paid $406 for $2 in 1949.

Kamal Bey may not have won except for the fact that Tuosix, the odds-on favorite, broke down during the first sixteenth of a mile and was pulled up by his jockey. The winner was ridden by Frank Lovato and was the longest-priced win of the young rider's career.

The Virginia Day Purse, eighth race, found Audley Farm's Will Cavill mildly upsetting the figures with a $16.20-for-$2 score.

Ridden by Tommy Lee, Will Cavill was running easily when he came to the finish two-and-a-half lengths in front of Adorette, while Kingsville was third. Time for the seven furlongs was 1.27 1/5.

Salem College Winner, 28-7

INSTITUTE, W. Va. (UPI) — Salem ended West Virginia State's 1960 football season Friday when the Tigers gained a 28-7 victory.

State won only one of seven games this season and the lone victory was outside the West Virginia Conference.

State took a 7-0 halftime lead when quarterback George Coleman plunged three yards for the touchdown and Luther Bryson ran for the extra point.

But Salem came back strong in the second half with two touchdowns in each of the third and fourth quarters. Three came on runs from within the 10 yard line and the fourth came when tackle Joe Calley picked up a fumble and ran 25 yards for the tally.

Terp Frosh Defeat Bullis Prep, 34-14

Fraser Is Upset

BRISBANE, Australia (UPI)—Bob Hewitt, temperamental young Australian tennis player, reached the finals of the Queensland championships Friday by upsetting Neale Fraser, 3-6, 6-4, 7-9, 6-3, 6-4.

In the other semifinal, Roy Emerson outlasted fellow Davis Cupper Rod Laver, 6-1, 2-6, 6-2, 7-9, 6-3.

Star Goalie

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. — North Carolina's sophomore soccer goalie Larry Steele is fast establishing himself as one of the top goalies in the South, if not the nation. Under special tutelage from Sal Esposito, a former star college goalie, himself, Steele allowed his first goal the other day in the Tar Heels' seventh match of the season — after stopping a sensational 85 shots at the net by opponents in previous games. North Carolina is unbeaten.

Mt. Savage at Flintstone

Soccer teams of Beall High School and Bruce High School scored victories yesterday to remain tied for first place and will battle it out for the championship of the W. M. I. League in the final game of season Monday at 3:30 p. m. in Frostburg.

The high scoring Mountaineers knocked off Valley High's defending champions to the tune of 5-0 at Lonaconing while Bruce, boasting the best defensive record in the circuit, turned back the Flintstone Aggies at Westernport by the score of 3-0.

Carter Scores Three

Carter and Dunn tallied in the first period, Carter scored in the second period and Duncan and Carter made points in the final stanza.

The Beall team scored 26 points in seven games. Seven players have figured in the scoring.

Allan Eisel, Duncan and Carter of Beall and Fred Sloan, Tommy James and Danny Young of Valley were the standout players.

Valley wound up its season with a 1-6-1 record, its worst showing since entering the league in 1953. Prior to this year, the Black Knights had won six titles outright and shared the honors with Bruce in 1958.

Post 6th Shutout

Bruce notched its sixth shutout in seven games in sweeping its season series with Flintstone. Only one point has been scored against the Bulldogs this season and that came in the Beall game.

Marshall Jones, on an assist from Eddie Delilo, scored a field goal for Bruce in the first quarter to up bis season total to nine. Lowell Taylor slammed in the second goal in the second period on an assist from Ronnie Raines. Taylor got an assist on the final quarter goal tallied by Raines.

Ronald Sharpless, Kermit Clem, David Keller and Lowell Taylor of Bruce and Stonestreet, Don Kinton and Moyer of Flintstone played outstanding games.

The setback was the fifth against two wins for the Aggies.

Latter Makes 45th Appearance On TV

BOSTON (UPI) — A confident Frenchman who has lost only twice in his 37-bout career goes against veteran Ralph (Tiger) Jones Saturday night in a nationally televised (ABC, 10 p.m. EST) 10 - round middleweight scrap at the arena.

"I will beat Jones and go onto gain the title from Paul Pender," says 26-year-old Marcel Pigou, a slugger from the Paris suburb of Vincennes.

Pigou was originally slated to fight Pender in a non-title bout but the Brookline middleweight, recognized as champion in Massachusetts and New York and by the European boxing union, withdrew last week after being felled by a virus infection. Jones was signed as a replacement the following day.

Jones, who has been on TV almost as often as Ed Sullivan, will be making his 45th television appearance. A popular fighter because of his "busy" tactics, Tiger has an 11-year record of 50-26-4.

Nittany Lions Host Maryland

Middies Seek 8th Straight Triumph

By The Associated Press

Navy can start counting on its first undefeated football season with more confidence and Maryland its first winning record since 1955 if they win Saturday.

An eighth straight Navy victory over Duke will leave only harmless Virginia and non-so-strong Army to be played.

A Maryland triumph over Penn State will hike the Terrapin record to 5-3 with the same hapless Virginians and weak North Carolina remaining.

The Blue Devils have been beaten only once and boast one of their strongest squads in recent years. Like Navy, they could be in a good position for a post-season bowl bid by winning.

Although Penn State has lost three of its six games, Maryland's task appears no easier than Navy's. Penn State's losses were to undefeated Missouri, once-beaten Syracuse and Illinois.

Penn State is a veteran aggregation that won nine out of 11 games last year, including a 7-0 victory over Alabama in the Liberty Bowl.

Joining Navy and Maryland on the road will be Johns Hopkins at Swarthmore. Hopkins will be gunning for its fourth triumph in six games.

Western Maryland, its record level at 3-3, will be at home with Lycoming. Morgan to Virginia Union and Maryland State to Delaware State in the other games for state elevens.

Mount Harriers Win

EMMITSBURG, Md. (AP) — Frank Murphy led Mt. St. Mary's cross country team to a 23-32 victory over Gallaudet of Washington Friday. Murphy finished first in 16 minutes 13.8 seconds over a .32-mile course. John Muldoon of Mt. St. Mary's was second in 16 minutes 35 seconds.

FINE RECORD—Head coach of football at Peru State Teachers college, Peru, Neb., for 23 years, Al Wheeler is calling it quits with one of the finest records in college football. Wheeler, who quarterbacked Oberlin College to a 7-6 win over Ohio State back in 1921, has won 131 games, lost 51 and tied 12 while winning five Nebraska College championships. At one stretch his Peru team won 26 straight. His team this season has lost only one game.

DeWitt Is Appointed Reds Vice Presdient

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bill DeWitt, new general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, was appointed vice president and a member of the board of directors Friday.

The board acted quickly on the recommendations of Powel Crosley Jr., president and principal owner. Crosley is in a Savannah, Ga., hospital, where it was reported that he was recovering from a light heart attack.

DeWitt was named general manager last Wednesday. Until recently he was president of the Detroit club of the American League.

MOOREFIELD PLAYS LaSALLE TONIGHT

Romney Pioneers Face Farmington In Homecoming

LaSalle High School's Explorers get an opportunity to crash the .500 circle when they play Moorefield High School's Yellowjackets tonight at 8 o'clock at the local stadium.

Coach Jimmy Manges' team moved to within one game of the .500 mark by beating Ridgeley a week ago by the score of 12-0 and is now 3-4 for the season with games with Moorefield, West Virginia School for the Deaf and Beall remaining on the schedule.

This is Moorefield's worst season in many years. The Hardy countians have won only one game, lost six and played one tie.

The Yellowjackets dropped a 27-0 decision to Ridgeley which lost to LaSalle and the latter lost by the margin of a touchdown to Keyser (19-13), a team that beat Moorefield by the score of 27-0.

First Met in 1928

Moorefield and LaSalle opened their series in 1928, the year the Explorers had their first football team, and in nine games played to date the West Virginians hold a 4-3 edge in victories. Two games ended in ties.

LaSalle, incidentally, has finished below the .500 mark annually since 1954 when Norm Geatz's team won eight and lost two. The Explorers could make it this year, however, if they take two of three games remaining on their schedule.

Homecoming At Romney

Romney's Pioneers lower the curtain on their season today by playing the Farmers of Farmington (W. Va.) High School in a homecoming game in Romney at 2 p.m.

Coach Roger Parker, completing his first season at the Romney helm, would like to take this one so that the Pioneers can windup on the winning side of the ledger. The Hampshire countians have won three, lost three and played two ties.

Farmington will be facing Romney for the ninth time since 1949 when Dick McElwee was head coach of the Pioneers. The Farmers have won five games, Romney has won twice and one contest ended in a 12-12 draw. The Marion countians have taken the last four games of this series.

Lions In Philadelphia

West Virginia School for the Deaf (1-5) goes to Philadelphia today to play the Mt. Airy School for the Deaf.

Coach Harold Wilkinson's Bedford High Bisons (3-4-1) travel to Johnstown today to do battle with Westmont High School at 2 p.m.

West Virginia To Seek First Win Of Season

Plays Boston U. At Morgantown

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—Winless West Virginia meets Boston University here Saturday in what may be the Mountaineers last chance to win a game this season.

Coach Gene Corum's first year has been considerably less than a success, but for the first time in a month the Mountaineers are given a chance to win a game.

WVU has not won a game since the 1959 encounter with Pitt and if the Mountaineers fail to beat Boston they probably will wind up with the worst record in the school's history.

After Boston comes tough Oregon University, then the home finale against George Washington. Under Art (Pappy) Lewis, in his first season in 1950, the Mountaineers won two and lost eight. So far they stand 0-1-6.

Laurel Double Is $2,437, Biggest Of Season In State

LAUREL, Nov. 4 (AP) — Biggest daily double payoff of the 1960 Maryland Turf season was posted here at Laurel Race Course today at $2,437.60 for $2.00 after Kamal Bey won the opening race at $351.40 straight and Cohansey took the second race for a $9.60 straight return.

There were 23 winning $2 double tickets sold on the combination of Nos. 9 and 11. No $10 tickets were sold and it was a repeat of the lucky numbers of yesterday's card when 9 and 11 returned $109.40 for $2.

By late afternoon, 12 of the 23 winning tickets had been cashed and the mutual department encountered only token opposition to the Internal Revenue Service's regulation requiring each holder of a longshot ticket (anything 300 to 1 or higher) to identify himself at the time of cashing the ticket.

Most patrons identified themselves readily, showing their drivers' license or social security cards.

While the second winner, Cohansey, was second choice, Kamal Bey was the longest-priced member of the first-race field and paid $351.40 straight, $112.60 to place and $35.40 to show. His win mutuel was not Laurel's highest, however. That honor is held by Cedric who paid $406 for $2 in 1949.

Kamal Bey may not have won except for the fact that Tuosix, the odds-on favorite, broke down during the first sixteenth of a mile and was pulled up by his jockey. The winner was ridden by Frank Lovato and was the longest-priced win of the young rider's career.

The Virginia Day Purse, eighth race, found Audley Farm's Will Cavill mildly upsetting the figures with a $16.20-for-$2 score.

Ridden by Tommy Lee, Will Cavill was running easily when he came to the finish two-and-a-half lengths in front of Adorette, while Kingsville was third. Time for the seven furlongs was 1.27 1/5.

Salem College Winner, 28-7

INSTITUTE, W. Va. (UPI) — Salem ended West Virginia State's 1960 football season Friday when the Tigers gained a 28-7 victory.

State won only one of seven games this season and the lone victory was outside the West Virginia Conference.

State took a 7-0 halftime lead when quarterback George Coleman plunged three yards for the touchdown and Luther Bryson ran for the extra point.

But Salem came back strong in the second half with two touchdowns in each of the third and fourth quarters. Three came on runs from within the 10 yard line and the fourth came when tackle Joe Calley picked up a fumble and ran 25 yards for the tally.

Terp Frosh Defeat Bullis Prep, 34-14

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Maryland's freshman football team battled back after a first quarter one-touchdown deficit Friday and defeated Bullis Prep, 34-14. The victory was Maryland's fourth without a loss.

Fraser Is Upset

BRISBANE, Australia (UPI)—Bob Hewitt, temperamental young Australian tennis player, reached the finals of the Queensland championships Friday by upsetting Neale Fraser, 3-6, 6-4, 7-9, 6-3, 6-4.

In the other semifinal, Roy Emerson outlasted fellow Davis Cupper Rod Laver, 6-1, 2-6, 6-2, 7-9, 6-3.

Star Goalie

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. — North Carolina's sophomore soccer goalie Larry Steele is fast establishing himself as one of the top goalies in the South, if not the nation. Under special tutelage from Sal Esposito, a former star college goalie, himself, Steele allowed his first goal the other day in the Tar Heels' seventh match of the season — after stopping a sensational 85 shots at the net by opponents in previous games. North Carolina is unbeaten.

MONDAY GAMES

Mt. Savage at Flintstone
(end of season)

Soccer teams of Beall High School and Bruce High School scored victories yesterday to remain tied for first place and will battle it out for the championship of the W. M. I. League in the final game of season Monday at 3:30 p. m. in Frostburg.

The high scoring Mountaineers knocked off Valley High's defending champions to the tune of 5-0 at Lonaconing while Bruce, boasting the best defensive record in the circuit, turned back the Flintstone Aggies at Westernport by the score of 3-0.

Carter Scores Three

Carter and Dunn tallied in the first period, Carter scored in the second period and Duncan and Carter made points in the final stanza.

The Beall team scored 26 points in seven games. Seven players have figured in the scoring.

Allan Eisel, Duncan and Carter of Beall and Fred Sloan, Tommy James and Danny Young of Valley were the standout players.

Valley wound up its season with a 1-6-1 record, its worst showing since entering the league in 1953. Prior to this year, the Black Knights had won six titles outright and shared the honors with Bruce in 1958.

Post 6th Shutout

Bruce notched its sixth shutout in seven games in sweeping its season series with Flintstone. Only one point has been scored against the Bulldogs this season and that came in the Beall game.

Marshall Jones, on an assist from Eddie Delilo, scored a field goal for Bruce in the first quarter to up his season total to nine. Lowell Taylor slammed in the second goal in the second period on an assist from Ronnie Raines. Taylor got an assist on the final quarter goal tallied by Raines.

Ronald Sharpless, Kermit Clem, David Keller and Lowell Taylor of Bruce and Stonestreet, Don Kinton and Moyer of Flintstone played outstanding games.

The setback was the fifth against two wins for the Aggies.

Latter Makes 45th Appearance On TV

BOSTON (UPI) — A confident Frenchman who has lost only twice in his 37-bout career goes against veteran Ralph (Tiger) Jones Saturday night in a nationally televised (ABC, 10 p.m. EST) 10 - round middleweight scrap at the arena.

"I will beat Jones and go onto gain the title from Paul Pender," says 26-year-old Marcel Pigou, a slugger from the Paris suburb of Vincennes.

Pigou was originally slated to fight Pender in a non-title bout but the Brookline middleweight, recognized as champion in Massachusetts and New York and by the European boxing union, withdrew last week after being felled by a virus infection. Jones was signed as a replacement the following day.

Jones, who has been on TV almost as often as Ed Sullivan, will be making his 45th television appearance. A popular fighter because of his "busy" tactics, Tiger has an 11-year record of 50-26-4.

Nittany Lions Host Maryland

Middies Seek 8th Straight Triumph

By The Associated Press

Navy can start counting on its first undefeated football season with more confidence and Maryland its first winning record since 1955 if they win Saturday.

An eighth straight Navy victory over Duke will leave only harmless Virginia and non-so-strong Army to be played.

A Maryland triumph over Penn State will hike the Terrapin record to 5-3 with the same hapless Virginians and weak North Carolina remaining.

Duke poses a big hurdle to Navy, particularly on the heels of a tough physical battle the Middies endured before downing Notre Dame last Saturday.

The Blue Devils have been beaten only once and boast one of their strongest squads in recent years. Like Navy, they could be in a good position for a post-season bowl bid by winning.

Although Penn State has lost three of its six games, Maryland's task appears no easier than Navy's. Penn State's losses were to undefeated Missouri, once-beaten Syracuse and Illinois.

Penn State is a veteran aggregation that won nine out of 11 games last year, including a 7-0 victory over Alabama in the Liberty Bowl.

Joining Navy and Maryland on the road will be Johns Hopkins at Swarthmore. Hopkins will be gunning for its fourth triumph in six games.

Western Maryland, its record level at 3-3, will be at home with Lycoming. Morgan to Virginia Union and Maryland State to Delaware State in the other games for state elevens.

Mount Harriers Win

EMMITSBURG, Md. (AP) — Frank Murphy led Mt. St. Mary's cross country team to a 23-32 victory over Gallaudet of Washington Friday. Murphy finished first in 16 minutes 13.8 seconds over a .32-mile course. John Muldoon of Mt. St. Mary's was second in 16 minutes 35 seconds.

FINE RECORD—Head coach of football at Peru State Teachers college, Peru, Neb., for 23 years, Al Wheeler is calling it quits with one of the finest records in college football. Wheeler, who quarterbacked Oberlin College to a 7-6 win over Ohio State back in 1921, has won 131 games, lost 51 and tied 12 while winning five Nebraska College championships. At one stretch his Peru team won 26 straight. His team this season has lost only one game.

DeWitt Is Appointed Reds Vice Presdient

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bill DeWitt, new general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, was appointed vice president and a member of the board of directors Friday.

The board acted quickly on the recommendations of Powel Crosley Jr., president and principal owner. Crosley is in a Savannah, Ga., hospital, where it was reported that he was recovering from a light heart attack.

DeWitt was named general manager last Wednesday. Until recently he was president of the Detroit club of the American League.

MOOREFIELD PLAYS LaSALLE TONIGHT

Romney Pioneers Face Farmington In Homecoming

LaSalle High School's Explorers get an opportunity to crash the .500 circle when they play Moorefield High School's Yellowjackets tonight at 8 o'clock at the local stadium.

Coach Jimmy Manges' team moved to within one game of the .500 mark by beating Ridgeley a week ago by the score of 12-0 and is now 3-4 for the season with games with Moorefield, West Virginia School for the Deaf and Beall remaining on the schedule.

This is Moorefield's worst season in many years. The Hardy countians have won only one game, lost six and played one tie.

The Yellowjackets dropped a 27-0 decision to Ridgeley which lost to LaSalle and the latter lost by the margin of a touchdown to Keyser (19-13), a team that beat Moorefield by the score of 27-0.

First Met in 1928

Moorefield and LaSalle opened their series in 1928, the year the Explorers had their first football team, and in nine games played to date the West Virginians hold a 4-3 edge in victories. Two games ended in ties.

LaSalle, incidentally, has finished below the .500 mark annually since 1954 when Norm Geatz's team won eight and lost two. The Explorers could make it this year, however, if they take two of three games remaining on their schedule.

Homecoming At Romney

Romney's Pioneers lower the curtain on their season today by playing the Farmers of Farmington (W. Va.) High School in a homecoming game in Romney at 2 p.m.

Coach Roger Parker, completing his first season at the Romney helm, would like to take this one so that the Pioneers can windup on the winning side of the ledger. The Hampshire countians have won three, lost three and played two ties.

Farmington will be facing Romney for the ninth time since 1949 when Dick McElwee was head coach of the Pioneers. The Farmers have won five games, Romney has won twice and one contest ended in a 12-12 draw. The Marion countians have taken the last four games of this series.

Lions In Philadelphia

West Virginia School for the Deaf (1-5) goes to Philadelphia today to play the Mt. Airy School for the Deaf.

Coach Harold Wilkinson's Bedford High Bisons (3-4-1) travel to Johnstown today to do battle with Westmont High School at 2 p.m.

West Virginia To Seek First Win Of Season

Plays Boston U. At Morgantown

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) —Winless West Virginia meets Boston University here Saturday in what may be the Mountaineers last chance to win a game this season.

Coach Gene Corum's first year has been considerably less than a success, but for the first time in a month the Mountaineers are given a chance to win a game.

WVU has not won a game since the 1959 encounter with Pitt and if the Mountaineers fail to beat Boston they probably will wind up with the worst record in the school's history.

After Boston comes tough Oregon University, then the home finale against George Washington. Under Art (Pappy) Lewis, in his first season in 1950, the Mountaineers won two and lost eight. So far they stand 0-1-6.

MARYLAND
VETERANS FOR NIXON-LODGE
Let's look at the record:

What The Candidates Think About Our Veterans Organizations

RICHARD M. NIXON
"I am proud to be associated with an organization whose members have contributed so magnificently to the defense of freedom at home and abroad." (38th National Convention of The American Legion)

JOHN F. KENNEDY
"There was a handful of World War II veterans at the American Legion convention. The leadership of the American Legion has not had a constructive thought for the benefit of this Country since 1918." (Congressional Record, 3-22-49)

What The Veterans Organizations Think About The Candidates

RICHARD M. NIXON
Received The Bernard Baruch Distinguished Service Medal, the highest award of the V.F.W., Presented "in recognition of the many invaluable services he has rendered the mankind in behalf of national security, unity and world peace."

JOHN F. KENNEDY
In 1959, Senator Kennedy introduced Senate Bill 2929, to delete the Loyalty Oath from the National Defense Education Act. The V. F. W., The American Legion, and most veterans organizations have bitterly opposed the Kennedy Bill at their conventions.

"We honestly believe that RICHARD M. NIXON and HENRY CABOT LODGE offer America the best opportunity for peace with honor . . . freedom at home and abroad . . . preservation of the American way of life."

Two Barton Wills Among Four Probated

Wills of four persons who died during the last 10 days of October, two of them from Barton, were probated yesterday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

One was the last testament of Melvin Barber, who was a 46-year-old resident of Barton at the time of his death October 28. His widow, Mrs. Ruth Morgan Barber, qualified as executrix under a $500 bond. She was the sole beneficiary. This will was dated April 23, 1959.

Also probated was the will of Mrs. Amy Metz Preston, who was an 86-year-old Barton resident when she died October 29. Her son, Meshach Preston, of Barton, and her daughter, Mrs. Elsie Preston Ross, Rawlings, qualified as executors under a $500 bond.

This will provided several special bequests and then provided that the estate should be converted to cash and divided equally among her 10 children. This will was dated March 5, 1954.

Another was the last testament of Mrs. Annie Dorcas Poland, who was a 77-year-old resident of 202 Grand Avenue when she died October 21. Her son-in-law, George P. Appel, with whom she resided, qualified as administrator c.t.a. when her sons renounced their right to serve. The estate was ordered divided equally among her three sons, Leonard Shull Poland, Guy Alaric Poland and Ernest Brice Barnes, and her daughter, Mrs. Mary Magdalene Appel. The date on this will was April 22, 1958.

The fourth will was that of Mrs. Ruth Livengood, who was a 60-year-old resident of 9 Ashbury Avenue, LaVale, when she died October 27. Market Scores Sharply, Wraps Up Perfect Week

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market put the wraps on a perfect week Friday, scoring sharply in the final session as rumors of a Russian political coup helped bring out the buyers. The rumors were promptly denied by the Soviet news agency, Tass.

How much bearing the rumors of the Khrushchev overthrow had on the market's strength could not be determined, although prices began firming noticeably shortly they leaked out.

Industrials improved chiefly on a gains of 2½ in Eastman Kotak, 2 in General Electric and around a point or more in American Telephone, Alcoa, Westinghouse, Procter & Gamble, International Harvester and Owens Illinois.

Brokers, however, feel the market will meet more and more resistance as the industrial stock average approaches that great overhanging barrier at the 600 level. Many were still advising their clients to stick to the sidelines until all election uncertainties have been set aside.

Steels stood out as a group with gains of 2¼ in Youngstown, 1½ in U.S. Steel, ⅞ in Jones & Laughlin, trading ex-dividend, ¾ in Lukens and ½ in Bethlehem.

Volume picked up sharply on the rise to 3,050,000 shares from 2,580,000 shares Thursday.

Autos were unable to muster much support and finished with losses of ¼ in American Motors and ⅛ in Chrysler. General Motors added ½ at 48¼ and Ford ⅝ at 65.

In the electronics, International Business Machines, trading ex-dividend, spurted 4¼, while Lionel and Beckman added more than a point. Zenith countered with a loss of 3⅞ to 99⅝.

Universal Match ran up 3⅝ on late strength when it was announced that the Post Office Department would test the company's currency changer.

A total of 1,223 issues appeared on the tape, 708 advancing, 307 declining and 208 holding unchanged. New lows outnumbered new highs 16 to 12.

Jersey Standard topped the market in activity with 54,307 shares and closed at 41⅝ up ⅞. Following were Graham Paige, Chock Full O'Nuts, Tidewater Oil and General Telephone.

Stocks on the American Exchange finished the week on a note of strength. Most groups, including metals, oils and electronics all turned in good gains. Trading was moderately active.

Market Scores Sharply, Wraps Up Perfect Week

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market put the wraps on a perfect week Friday, scoring sharply in the final session as rumors of a Russian political coup helped bring out the buyers. The rumors were promptly denied by the Soviet news agency, Tass.

How much bearing the rumors of the Khrushchev overthrow had on the market's strength could not be determined, although prices began firming noticeably shortly they leaked out.

Industrials improved chiefly on a gains of 2½ in Eastman Kotak, 2 in General Electric and around a point or more in American Telephone, Alcoa, Westinghouse, Procter & Gamble, International Harvester and Owens Illinois.

Brokers, however, feel the market will meet more and more resistance as the industrial stock average approaches that great overhanging barrier at the 600 level. Many were still advising their clients to stick to the sidelines until all election uncertainties have been set aside.

Steels stood out as a group with gains of 2¼ in Youngstown, 1½ in U.S. Steel, ⅞ in Jones & Laughlin, trading ex-dividend, ¾ in Lukens and ½ in Bethlehem.

Volume picked up sharply on the rise to 3,050,000 shares from 2,580,000 shares Thursday.

Autos were unable to muster much support and finished with losses of ¼ in American Motors and ⅞ in Chrysler. General Motors added ½ at 48¼ and Ford ⅝ at 65.

In the electronics, International Business Machines, trading ex-dividend, spurted 4¼, while Lionel and Beckman added more than a point. Zenith countered with a loss of 3⅞ to 99⅝.

Universal Match ran up 3⅜ on late strength when it was announced that the Post Office Department would test the company's currency changer.

A total of 1,223 issues appeared on the tape, 708 advancing, 307 declining and 208 holding unchanged. New lows outnumbered new highs 16 to 12.

Jersey Standard topped the market in activity with 54,307 shares and closed at 41⅝ up ⅞. Following were Graham Paige, Chock Full O'Nuts, Tidewater Oil and General Telephone.

Stocks on the American Exchange finished the week on a note of strength. Most groups, including metals, oils and electronics all turned in good gains. Trading was moderately active.

Cook Says GOP Candidates Will Fight For Peace

Cites Experience Of Nixon-Lodge Team

The Nixon-Lodge team is best equipped to keep the peace without surrender and extend freedom throughout the world, Del. Noel Speir Cook said last night at a Republican campaign rally in Barton.

The rally was held in the Barton Fire Hall and was the last of a series of community rallies sponsored by the Republican Committee of Allegany County.

State Senator Charles M. See advocated the election of Charles McC. Mathias, Republican candidate for Congress from the Sixth District, to restore full representation for Western Maryland in Congress.

Del. Cook said Vice President Nixon and Ambassador Lodge are proven fighters for peace and make up the finest team American could choose.

Says Nixon Ready

No man in the history of the country, he said, has had such careful preparation for carrying out the duties of the presidency as Mr. Nixon.

He said the "mating of Johnson and Kennedy as a so-called team" was "one of the most surprising outcomes of any Democratic convention in history."

He reminded about 100 attending the rally of Johnson's preconvention theme song, "Don't send a boy to do a man's job."

He said the recent special session of Congress proved that:

—Kennedy, chosen as a candidate, "couldn't even rally and lead his 65 fellow Democrats in the Senate."

—The Democrats, with a 2-1 majority on the Senate floor and in committees, "could not get together to pass a program of substance and progress — even with both nominees in the Senate."

Cites Demo Record

He said that of the 22 items President Eisenhower urged in the national interest, the Democrats passed three, partly enacted two others and killed the remaining 17.

That, he said, "is a batting average of .227 — a bush league performance that certainly doesn't qualify either Kennedy or Johnson for the majors."

He said Kennedy said he would take the issues to the people but has taken "a torn and shattered record of broken promises, party mutiny and lack of personal leadership."

Marine Captain Plans Visit To FSTC Campus

Captain R. T. Smith, USMC, Marine Corps officer selection officer, will visit the campus of Frostburg State Teachers College November 9-10 to discuss various Marine Corps officer training programs.

The programs, he said, permit the individual to graduate from college and thereafter fulfill his military obligation as a lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve.

Freshmen and sophomores complete the required 12 weeks' training during the summer months through the Platoon Leaders Class or Platoon Leaders Class (Aviation).

Qualified seniors will participate in 10 weeks of pre-commissioning training following graduation, if accepted for the officer candidate course or aviation officer candidate course.

Applicants will be considered for future assignment either as ground officers or as pilots.

Captain Smith will be available during the two-day period to provide interested students with information and to interview, test and initiate enrollment of qualified applicants.

Ridgeley Area Businesses Top 1960 CUF Goal

Businesses in Ridgeley and Wiley Ford contributed $138 to the 1960 County United Fund Campaign to support the year around services of the 28 national and local agencies affiliated with CUF. These gifts represent 103 per cent of their goal.

Members of the Ridgeley Lions Club conducted the solicitation. Ray Coughenour, president of the Lions Club, stated, "Our communities can be proud of this record of giving and it is this spirit of community pride that is making possible civic and industrial progress."

The business houses and organizations that have made possible this contribution are J. W. Aldridge, Bane's Store, Wilbur J. Carr Barber Shop, Flat Top Barber Shop, Frantz's Market, Leon C. Hammond, Bobette Beauty Shop, Johnson's Restaurant, Snyder's Grocery, Mr. and Mrs. Eston Turner, Frank Magruder Service Station, Rev. Benjamin F. Gienger Talks On Maintenance Of Small Motors

Guy W. Gienger, agricultural engineer at the University of Maryland, discussed care and maintenance of small motors at three meetings in Allegany County Wednesday and Thursday.

Mr. Gienger first spoke to about 27 farmers Wednesday night in the vocational agricultural shop at Flintstone High School. County Agent Joseph M. Steger also attended. Thursday afternoon Mr. Gienger returned a second time to the school from which he was graduated to discuss the program with the students enrolled in the vo-ag program.

Thursday night, the agricultural engineer spoke to about 20 4-H boys and adults at the Light and Decker Company, North Centre Street. Maintenance of small motors, such as those used on garden tractors and lawnmowers, was featured at the final meeting. Assistant County Agent James B. Arnold attended this final session.

Record Crowd Attends Rally At Lonaconing

In Lonaconing Friday night, 125 persons attended a Democratic rally in the American Legion home. Raymond Miller was master of ceremonies. This was considered a record attendance in a strong GOP area, Mr. Miller noted.

Speakers included Julius Schindler, Cumberland attorney; Patrick Foley, brother of Rep. John R. Foley; F. Allan Weatherholt, member of the Democratic State Central Committee, and Delegate William Walsh, also of Cumberland.

The rally was arranged by William Kelly, Lonaconing businessman and member of the Democratic State Central Committee. Guests also included Magistrate Paul Barnett, Cumberland, Del. Thomas F. Conlon Jr., William B. Orndorff, county tax collector and Mrs. Anne B. Everline, secretary in Rep. Foley's Cumberland office.

Mr. Schindler spoke on the need for a Democratic victory, touching on the major issues in the campaign, particularly those affecting education, social welfare, security and economic progress.

Weatherholt urged all Democrats to vote a straight ticket, declaring that in this election, "ticket splitting is like having a ten-man football team and borrowing a quarterback from the other side. It's time to get our own quarterback in the White House." He also spoke on the record of John Foley, candidate for re-election to Congress, and said, "Based upon the recorded facts, I do not believe we can go back to the circuit-riding days proposed by Mr. Mathias. He has already enjoyed an extensive vacation in Annapolis and we do not wish to finance one for him in Washington."

Mr. Foley, speaking for his brother, outlined the progress made in and for the Sixth District in areas of education, river development, airport construction, veterans' housing, federal employe health and welfare, public housing, and service to his constituents. In the national and international field, Mr. Foley said his brother has voted favorably on administration programs dealing with the Mutual Security Act; extension of the surplus food act for underdeveloped countries; increase in civil defense appropriations, continuation of the Civil Rights Commission; construction of a new federal penitentiary and an increase of the nation's subscription to the World Bank.

Mr. Foley said, "John Foley's record has been one of voting for progress. He has supported six Eisenhower Administration measures, and has been successful in having 122 bills pass Congress. This is a phenomenal record for a first-term Congressman," he said.

Mr. Walsh outlined the importance of getting out the vote early.

He reminded his listeners that "a half-dozen or so votes in each precinct can make a big difference. When Truman was elected, he lost Maryland by a very close vote. If he had received seven more votos in each precinct in the state, Maryland would have been in the Democratic column. This election is figured by many experts to be a close contest," he declared, "and the little bit of extra effort each of us makes between now and Tuesday can very easily mean the difference between victory annd defeat."

Alcohol Problem Is Study Course Topic

Salvation Army Corps Cadets To Rally Today

The all-day rally of some 250 Salvation Army Corps Cadets from 23 communities in Maryland, West Virginia and Virginia will wind up with five workshops this afternoon at the Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street.

The workshops will discuss training and development of corps cadets, the corps cadets perspective and privilege, the corps cadets position and power, the corps cadets progress and performance and the corps cadets purpose and platform. The rally will close at 4:30 p. m.

Corps cadets, young people between the ages of 13 and 19 engaged in a six-year Bible course, will register for the rally at 9:30 a. m. today at the Citadel.

"Vote For Jesus Christ' 'is the rally theme.

Col. George H. Marshall, chief secretary of the Salvation Army's Southern Territory, will address the rally during the morning session starting at 10 o'clock.

At noon, the corps cadets will be divided into five groups for 20-minute "bombardments" (street corner services) at five downtown locations. The young people will then converge on Baltimore Street and march to Central YMCA, where buses will transport them to St. Luke's Lutheran Church on Frederick Street for lunch.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech will extend a welcome to the delegates at the church.

Capt. A. Fred Overton, commanding officer of the Salvation Army here, reports that a number of out-of-town SA leaders will be here today with Col. Marshall. Among them are Brigadier Paul Thronburg, commander of the Maryland and Northern West Virginia Division; Mayor William Goodier, divisional secretary and music director, and Captain and Mrs. Oscar Eckstein, divisional young people's secretaries.

Oldtown Pupils Conduct Their Own Election Poll

An opinion survey was made here this week by a group of seniors from Oldtown High School, under the direction of Ronald Sheally, social science instructor. The seniors, from the problems of democracy class at Oldtown, decided to make their survey in Cumberland by interviewing 75 persons picked at random in all parts of the city.

The survey included 15 questions involved in the current political campaign and show that 58 per cent of those contacted favor Nixon to win the election. Six per cent of those contacted were undecided.

The poll indicated that 68 per cent favor federal aid to education and 78 per cent favor federal aid for the aged. Seventy-eight per cent believe that on the question of strength, America is second to none.

In spite of the undiscussed religious issue, the public survey indicates that 61 per cent of those polled thought religion would affect the outcome.

Mr. Sheally said most people were receptive to being interviewed and that only a few declined to discuss the questions.

Schools Plan Programs For Education Week

Next week is American Education Week and most schools of Allegany County are planning special observances.

The faculty of Fort Hill High School has planned an "open house" Wednesday from 7 until 9 p.m. Each patron will receive a directory of teachers, and members of the Usher's Club will assist.

Parents are invited to take advantage of this opportunity to acquaint themselves with student schedules and to meet with classroom teachers.

The faculty committee for this program includes Donald A. Workman, chairman; David A. LaFon, Mrs. Rosalie C. Shobe, William M. Leeson and Miss Mary C. Martin.

Meanwhile, Cresaptown School is planning a Visitors' Day for Thursday morning. All parents are invited to visit the school so they may observe their children and teachers in actual classroom situations.

At 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Mrs. Charlotte Folk's sixth grade will present an assembly program in the auditorium. Parents also are invited.

This week, Cresaptown School pupils have been writing letters to their parents urging them to visit school.

Street Yule Display Funds Are Sought

The Retail Merchants Association of the Chamber of Commerce this week mailed out requests to non-members for funds to help pay for Christmas street decorations in the downtown area.

The share of the cost for the 27 members of the association is included in dues which range from $50 to $750, based on the volume of business.

Robert C. Petersen, Chamber manager, said that in past years, many non-members have given generously to help with the Christmas decorations while others have given a small amount and others nothing at all.

The sponsorship of Christmas decorations, he said, is an expensive proposition and should be shared by everyone who benefits.

He added that the practice of not supporting such a program will continue as long as customers make no distinction between those who share the costs and those who don't.

Last year, the association paid over $2,000 for the Christmas decoration program. This includes the cost of erection, insurance, electricity and repairs to decorations.

Recognizing that major changes in decorations are needed every few years, the association has set up a separate account of $1,000 a year toward the purchase of new equipment, Mr. Petersen said.

Old Armory Slated For Sale At Auction

The old National Guard Armory at South Centre and Salem streets will be offered for sale at public auction this morning.

Ridgeley Football Player Is Injured

A 17-year-old Ridgeley High School football player was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday suffering from head injuries sustained in a game at Hancock.

Jerry Deterick, who played left tackle in yesterday's game, sustained a possible concussion, according to attaches who said he was kept overnight for observation and will be X-rayed this morning.

Baby Sitter's Class To Open On Wednesday

The City Recreation Department is sponsoring a baby sitter's class beginning Wednesday, November 9, at 4 p. m. in City Hall, according to C. Eugene Mason, director.

Invitations to participate in the six-week course have been sent to some 155 adult and teen-age baby sitters.

Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant to the recreation director, will conduct the classes, which will include a demonstration by a nurse on the bathing and feeding of the baby. Instructions will be given on games and entertainment, and first aid hints will be taught by a Red Cross instructor.

The department said those who cannot attend each of the Wednesday afternoon classes are required to attend the first session on November 9.

Those who are already on the department's 1960 baby sitter's list, have participated in a training class and wish to be on the new list, were advised to notify the department by phone or mail.

Mrs. Hogan said only those who indicate interest will be placed on the new list.

The department said the company bid $10,626 for the job. The only other bid received was $10,810 by John L. Vandegrift Co. of Cumberland. Work is to begin as soon as possible and be completed in about 90 days.

The old laboratory building will be used for classrooms purposes. A new laboratory school has been built.

Two Men Held For Grand Jury

Walter Perry, Clarysville, and Lewis Airhart, Frostburg, both 25, were ordered held by Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt in default of $500 bonds during a preleminary hearing in Trial Magistrates Court.

They were charged with grand larceny in connection with the theft of the copper cable from the Georges Creek Coal Company on October 26.

Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator, who represented the state's attorney's office, said the mine was put out of operation when the ½-inch-thick copper cable was clipped with wire cutters.

Sgt. William F. Baker and Tfc. Donald Wade investigated for State Police.

The men were picked up several days ago after Trooper Wade recovered the cable in the trunk of a car abandoned along the road in Garrett County.

Area Lutherans Plan Session At St. Luke's

84 Congregations To Send Delegates

About 150 clergy and lay delegates from 84 Lutheran congregations in Western Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Virginia are expected to attend the annual meeting of the Western Conference of the Lutheran Synod of Maryland at St. Luke's Lutheran Church here all day Monday.

A highlight will be the remarks of Dr. Vernon I. Strempke, of the Board of Higher Education of the United Lutheran Church in America, New York City. Dr. Strempke will discuss the program of the day, "Achieving a Breakthrough For The Church's Occupancy," at both morning and afternoon sessions.

Conference officers are Rev. Carroll L. Boyer, pastor of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Frederick, president; Rev. Thomas F. Sinn, a mission developer at Damascus in Montgomery County, secretary, and Earl L. Yingling, a layman from Immanuel Church, Manchester, Carroll County, treasurer.

Officers To Be Elected

The program will begin at 9:30 a. m. Monday with devotions led by Rev. William R. Snyder, pastor of the host church.

Rev. J. Frank Fife, D.D., Baltimore, president of the Lutheran Synod of Maryland, will participate in the business session starting at 9:45 a. m. Both a president and a treasurer of the conference will be elected during this session.

Luncheon will be served at 12:15 p. m. by the Altar Society of St. Luke's Church of which Mrs. Frank Foster is the president.

Pastor Snyder will conduct a second devotional program at 1 p. m. during which Rev. Kenneth E. Morelock, pastor of St. Paul's Church, Frostburg, will preach the sermon. Adjournment is scheduled for 3:30 p. m.

The Western Conference embraces Lutheran churches in 36 Maryland communities and individual congregations from Lovettsville, Va., Martinsburg, W. Va. and Waynesboro, Pa.

Delegates To Attend

Each of the three United Lutheran churches in Cumberland will have delegates at the conference. St. John's Church will be represented by Rev. Russell E. Fink, pastor; Rev. Robert B. Logan, assistant, and Albert N. Hook, lay delegate. St. Luke's representatives will be Pastor Snyder and Charles H. Smith, lay delegate. St. Paul's will have Rev. John F. Sammel, pastor, and Earl E. Manges, lay delegate.

Among the visiting clergymen will be two former residents of Cumberland. One is Rev. W. Ronald Fearer, now pastor of Christ Church, Hagerstown. The other is Rev. Donald C. Brake, pastor of Keysville Church at Union Bridge, Carroll County. He was graduated from Fort Hill High School while his father, Rev. Donald F. Brake, was pastor of St. John's Church. Pastor Brake will serve as chairman of the elections committee.

Miss Carole E. Reith will serve as organist for the all-day meeting. Pastor Sammel will be the parliamentarian.

Commissioners Disagree

Allegany County's three commissioners agreed on the local option sales tax plan at a meeting of the State Association of County Commissioners in Annapolis Thursday but disagreed on a second proposal to increase the state income tax from three to three-and-one half per cent.

The General Assembly will be asked to enact both proposals into law during the 90-day session starting in January.

Commissioners John J. Rowan, John T. Mason and William A. Wilson do not believe that a sales tax is needed for Allegany County. However, they are of the opinion that any county which wants or needs sales tax revenue should be able to levy such a tax. Montgomery and Baltimore counties are particularly interested in establishing such a tax.

However, Commissioner Mason was alone in favoring the plan to increase the state income tax one-half per cent. The other two both opposed this idea which still was approved by a majority at the Thursday meeting.

Mr. Mason said he was informed that Allegany County could except about $125,000 from the increase in the state income tax. That would enable the county commissioners here to lower the county real estate tax rate to take advantage of the $125,000 obtained from the income tax. Unemployed and elderly property owners would benefit from this plan, he said.

Cook Says GOP Candidates Will Fight For Peace

Cites Experience Of Nixon-Lodge Team

The Nixon-Lodge team is best equipped to keep the peace without surrender and extend freedom throughout the world, Del. Noel Speir Cook said last night at a Republican campaign rally in Barton.

The rally was held in the Barton Fire Hall and was the last of a series of community rallies sponsored by the Republican Committee of Allegany County.

State Senator Charles M. See advocated the election of Charles McC. Mathias, Republican candidate for Congress from the Sixth District, to restore full representation for Western Maryland in Congress.

Del. Cook said Vice President Nixon and Ambassador Lodge are proven fighters for peace and make up the finest team American could choose.

Says Nixon Ready

No man in the history of the country, he said, has had such careful preparation for carrying out the duties of the presidency as Mr. Nixon.

He said the "mating of Johnson and Kennedy as a so-called team" was "one of the most surprising outcomes of any Democratic convention in history."

He reminded about 100 attending the rally of Johnson's pre-convention theme song, "Don't send a boy to do a man's job."

He said the recent special session of Congress proved that:

—Kennedy, chosen as a candidate, "couldn't even rally and lead his 65 fellow Democrats in the Senate."

—The Democrats, with a 2-1 majority on the Senate floor and in committees, "could not get together to pass a program of substance and progress — even with both nominees in the Senate."

Cites Demo Record

He said that of the 22 items President Eisenhower urged in the national interest, the Democrats passed three, partly enacted two others and killed the remaining 17.

That, he said, "is a batting average of .227 — a bush league performance that certainly doesn't qualify either Kennedy or Johnson for the majors."

He said Kennedy said he would take the issues to the people but has taken "a torn and shattered record of broken promises, party mutiny and lack of personal leadership."

Record Crowd Attends Rally At Lonaconing

In Lonaconing Friday night, 125 persons attended a Democratic rally in the American Legion home. Raymond Miller was master of ceremonies. This was considered a record attendance in a strong GOP area, Mr. Miller noted.

Speakers included Julius Schindler, Cumberland attorney; Patrick Foley, brother of Rep. John R. Foley; F. Allan Weatherholt, member of the Democratic State Central Committee, and Delegate William Walsh, also of Cumberland.

The rally was arranged by William Kelly, Lonaconing businessman and member of the Democratic State Central Committee. Guests also included Magistrate Paul Barnett, Cumberland, Del. Thomas F. Conlon Jr., William B. Orndorff, county tax collector and Mrs. Anne B. Everline, secretary in Rep. Foley's Cumberland office.

Mr. Schindler spoke on the need for a Democratic victory, touching on the major issues in the campaign, particularly those affecting education, social welfare, security and economic progress.

Weatherholt urged all Democrats to vote a straight ticket, declaring that in this election, "ticket splitting is like having a ten-man football team and borrowing a quarterback from the other side. It's time to get our own quarterback in the White House." He also spoke on the record of John Foley, candidate for re-election to Congress, and said, "Based upon the recorded facts, I do not believe we can go back to the circuit-riding days proposed by Mr. Mathias. He has already enjoyed an extensive vacation in Annapolis and we do not wish to finance one for him in Washington."

Mr. Foley, speaking for his brother, outlined the progress made in and for the Sixth District in areas of education, river development, airport construction, veterans' housing, federal employe health and welfare, public housing, and service to his constituents. In the national and international field, Mr. Foley said his brother has voted favorably on administration programs dealing with the Mutual Security Act; extension of the surplus food act for underdeveloped countries; increase in civil defense appropriations, continuation of the Civil Rights Commission; construction of a new federal penitentiary and an increase of the nation's subscription to the World Bank.

Mr. Foley said, "John Foley's record has been one of voting for progress. He has supported six Eisenhower Administration measures, and has been successful in having 122 bills pass Congress. This is a phenomenal record for a first-term Congressman," he said.

Mr. Walsh outlined the importance of getting out the vote early.

He reminded his listeners that "a half-dozen or so votes in each precinct can make a big difference. When Truman was elected, he lost Maryland by a very close vote. If he had received seven more votos in each precinct in the state, Maryland would have been in the Democratic column. This election is figured by many experts to be a close contest," he declared, "and the little bit of extra effort each of us makes between now and Tuesday can very easily mean the difference between victory annd defeat."

Oldtown Pupils Conduct Their Own Election Poll

An opinion survey was made here this week by a group of seniors from Oldtown High School, under the direction of Ronald Sheally, social science instructor. The seniors, from the problems of democracy class at Oldtown, decided to make their survey in Cumberland by interviewing 75 persons picked at random in all parts of the city.

The survey included 15 questions involved in the current political campaign and show that 58 per cent of those contacted favor Nixon to win the election. Six per cent of those contacted were undecided.

The poll indicated that 88 per cent favor federal aid to education and 78 per cent favor federal aid for the aged. Seventy-eight per cent believe that on the question of strength, America is second to none.

In spite of the undiscussed religious issue, the public survey indicates that 61 per cent of those polled thought religion would affect the outcome.

Mr. Sheally said most people were receptive to being interviewed and that only a few declined to discuss the questions.

Schools Plan Programs For Education Week

Next week is American Education Week and most schools of Allegany County are planning special observances.

The faculty of Fort Hill High School has planned an "open house" Wednesday from 7 until 9 p.m. Each patron will receive a directory of teachers, and members of the Usher's Club will assist.

Parents are invited to take advantage of this opportunity to acquaint themselves with student schedules and to meet with classroom teachers.

The faculty committee for this program includes Donald A. Workman, chairman; David A. LaFon, Mrs. Rosalie C. Shobe, William M. Leeson and Miss Mary C. Martin.

Meanwhile, Cresaptown School is planning a Visitors' Day for Thursday morning. All parents are invited to visit the school so they may observe their children and teachers in actual classroom situations.

At 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Mrs. Charlotte Folk's sixth grade will present an assembly program in the auditorium. Parents also are invited.

This week, Cresaptown School pupils have been writing letters to their parents urging them to visit school.

Street Yule Display Funds Are Sought

The Retail Merchants Association of the Chamber of Commerce this week mailed out requests to non-members for funds to help pay for Christmas street decorations in the downtown area.

The share of the cost for the 27 members of the association is included in dues which range from $50 to $750, based on the volume of business.

Robert C. Petersen, Chamber manager, said that in past years, many non-members have given generously to help with the Christmas decorations while others have given a small amount and others nothing at all.

The sponsorship of Christmas decorations, he said, is an expensive proposition and should be shared by everyone who benefits.

He added that the practice of not supporting such a program will continue as long as customers make no distinction between those who share the costs and those who don't.

Last year, the association paid over $2,000 for the Christmas decoration program. This includes the cost of erection, insurance, electricity and repairs to decorations.

Recognizing that major changes in decorations are needed every few years, the association has set up a separate account of $1,000 a year toward the purchase of new equipment, Mr. Petersen said.

The department said those who cannot attend each of the Wednesday afternoon classes are required to attend the first session on November 9.

Commissioners Disagree

Allegany County's three commissioners agreed on the local option sales tax plan at a meeting of the State Association of County Commissioners in Annapolis Thursday but disagreed on a second proposal to increase the state income tax from three to three-and-one half per cent.

The General Assembly will be asked to enact both proposals into law during the 90-day session starting in January.

Commissioners John J. Rowan, John T. Mason and William A. Wilson do not believe that a sales tax is needed for Allegany County. However, they are of the opinion that any county which wants or needs sales tax revenue should be able to levy such a tax. Montgomery and Baltimore counties are particularly interested in establishing such a tax.

However, Commissioner Mason was alone in favoring the plan to increase the state income tax one-half per cent. The other two both opposed this idea which still was approved by a majority at the Thursday meeting.

Mr. Mason said he was informed that Allegany County could except about $125,000 from the increase in the state income tax. That would enable the county commissioners here to lower the county real estate tax rate to take advantage of the $125,000 obtained from the income tax. Unemployed and elderly property owners would benefit from this plan, he said.

James Whitmore Gave Up Law For Acting Career

By PAUL GERARD

It seems almost fatalistically correct that a robust, bushy-browed, ruggedly-complected and somewhat stocky master of the acting craft named James Allen Whitmore Jr., should be catapulted onto the living room tube this autumn as the title character in "The Law and Mr. Jones."

JAMES WHITMORE

Abraham Lincoln Jones is, of course, a lawyer—dedicated to the proposition that law is intended to regulate human beings and thus must, itself, be possessed of a certain humanizing elasticity both in interpretation and application.

He is a sharp New York counselor who, unlike most TV lawyers, occasionally even loses a trial. And his cases, though not based upon the files of the SPCA, SPA or FBI are sufficiently imaginative in concept to intrigue most viewers.

His father was regionally famed as City Planner for Buffalo, New York, and young James remembers dinner table conversation was usually of the law and government.

James took his bachelor's degree in pre-law at Yale, then enrolled in Harvard's law school. But war intervened and he took a government-sponsored trip to the Orient as a figthing Marine.

By the time the Japanese surrendered, he had decided to forget law and become an actor.

He landed his first professional role in "The Milky Way"—the road company. The producers, the USO. Itinerary: the same Saipan, Tinian, Okinawa, he had just left.

Whitmore studied acting at the American Theater Wing, played stock in New England, married the publicity director for a straw-hat theater, had a succession of small New York roles and then struck pay dirt in "Command Decision" on Broadway.

Hollywood called him for "Battleground" and with less than 26 lines of dialogue Whitmore stole the film from its stars and became one himself. A year later, seven films under his belt, the film trade paper, Motion Picture Herald, named him one of the industry's ten biggest stars.

Whitmore read and turned down many offers for TV series of his own until a neighbor, Sy Gomberg, created "The Law and Mr. Jones" expressly for him.

"I believed in Jones," said Whitmore.

"Jones is an opinionated guy. Opinions breed controversy, and controversy makes for drama and good entertainment. This is the function of good theater. Too frequently it is missing on television because of outside pressures.

"But it's not missing with our friend, Jones.

"He investigates the nature of the law as it works in many ways. One show deals with a sharpie who acquires the name and business of a reputable builder and then uses this reputation to peddle inferior homes.

"It's a thought-provoking teleplay, particularly at a crucial time when we find it difficult to coerce truly able men into government."

So Whitmore, who decided against studying law at Harvard, is finally practicing it in Hollywood. And it is interesting to note he brings to the job a natural feel for the profession.
